Today

Russia as Kill-Joy.
Smoking and Flying.
Sheba's Camel.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

WITH the peace dove at the top of his perch, the big nations that don't want prosperity disturbed by war congratulating each other, along comes Russia, all out of tune.

THE Chinese, say Russians, are guilty of "provocative acts." Russian citizens in China have been beaten and tortured. It is a daily occurrence. Severe punishments are inflicted on Russian laborers. "Peace, peace, and there is no peace."

TWO friends, one smoking cigars, the other cigarets, sat side by side in an airplane yesterday, looking down on pleasant St. Louis, getting $100 an hour, occasionally "stunting" close to the ground.

JACKSON and O'Brine, the two fliers, getting $2,400 a day, say they will stay up until their Texas competitors in the Houston endurance plane, "The Billion Dollar City," come down.

They may underestimate the Texans.

COMMERCIAL air lines are interested in the refueling proposition. Maj. Young, aeronautics director of the Department of Commerce, believes that transcontinental planes, refueling at intervals, will cross the continent without stopping, carrying 1,800 pounds more cargo and 1,800 pounds less gasoline.

INVESTORS with money seem to think that the stock in American Telephone and Telegraph Company, affectionately known as "A. T. & T.," is good property. The value of the 12,900,000 shares outstanding has increased this week by $335,319,764.

A third of a billion in five days is not bad.

THE Queen of Sheba with all her wealth rolled and lurched on camel back, when she visited King Solomon.

What would she think of a new taxicab that Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., head of General Motors, presents for the approval of Mayor Walker, in New York City?

This taxi will carry six passengers besides the driver, looks "like a million dollars" on the outside, and, inside, is a radio to amuse the passenger on his journey, and the chauffeur in his idle moments.

GREAT is advertising power. The name Waldorf-Astoria, so well advertised throughout the country, makes way for a new Waldorf on Park avenue, covering a whole block, costing $18,000,000. The architects, Schultze & Weaver, and L. J. Horowotz, the builder, announce features that will interest out-of-town builders, including a siding for private cars under the hotel, roadways enabling guests to step from their automobiles into elevators, a ballroom four stories high and 2,200 rooms.

MANUFACTURERS of silk and other stockings hope that advertising will enable them to drive out the "bare leg craze" now afflicting lovely woman.

Moralizing appeals to modest refinement won't do. Bare legs must be banished, as the almost universal habit of chewing tobacco was banished by public opinion.

Make women realize that an imitation of a butcher shop is not artistic, and they will go back to stockings.

THE racketeers of Chicago preach live and let live. Bombs recently discharged in the loop and elsewhere are said by police to express racketeer moral indignation. The police have interfered with their "rackets" offensively, and have interfered with dog races that separate fools from money.

RACKETEERS now threaten to "discredit the state's attorney by inaugurating an orgy of crime, bank robberies, bombing outrages, against legitimate business," if their rackets are not left in peace.

NEW YORK'S police, interested in suppressing speakeasies, have raided more than a dozen out of 32,000 such institutions in the city, but those speakeasies won't "stay raided."

"The Green Room Grill," in New York's theater district, has "the longest bar in the city," running from Forty-eighth street through to Forty-seventh street. It was raided, bartenders arrested, liquor taken, eight days ago, and raided again, doing business, yesterday morning.

If you have to raid one speakeasy half a dozen times, how can you adequately raid 32,000 speakeasies in one city?

THIS year 6,000 airplanes will be licensed in the United States. That's a start. But there is a long way to go before flying becomes real.

You realize it when you remember that against 6,000 airplanes, there are about 25,000,000 licensed automobiles.

MYSTERIOUS CRUSADER LEADING 'CLEANUP'

New Organization Forming To Check on Balloting In Mayoralty Campaign

A new vote-purifying organization which charges itself with guaranteeing an honest count in the coming mayoralty contest is edging in among Pittsburgh's latest reform movements.

The Honest Ballot Association is the name chosen for the body which aims at the prevention of election fraud. Headquarters have been opened in a suite of offices in the Law and Finance Building.

WHO'S KITTELBERGER?

M. Don Kittelberger is in charge of the office and a big corps of investigators, private detectives and undercover men is said to be in the offing.

Who's who in the organization is not divulged, but it is promised that the names of the officers and members of a large advisory board soon will be announced.

WAR CHEST FORMED

Kittelberger said the organization had the backing of prominent citizens who made good their sponsorship by liberal contributions. He declared the Honest Ballot Association is absolutely non-partisan and in no way tied up with any candidate or faction.

Contributors to the war chest of the movement are declared to be persons identified with previous reform campaigns in Pittsburgh. The first step undertaken was to interest militant clergymen in the plan, and a circular was addressed to 1,000 ministers asking their support.

But a number of ministers who have been active from time to time in movements to purify politics were asked if they were connected in any way with the Honest Ballot Association and without exception

CHILD CAUSES SLAYING

When 2-year-old Clyde Morris toddled into the hallway of a Coal Valley hotel to play, there was nothing to portend the tragedy that exists today.

He had not been there many minutes before one man was dead and another was on his way to the county jail facing a murder charge.

Clyde was visiting with his 19-year-old sister and 20-year-old brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Uhler, who lived across the hall from Thomas Winkelboss, 26, in the Granger Hotel.

Clyde's playing apparently annoyed Winkelboss. He scolded the child. Mrs. Uhler appeared.

There were words. Winkelboss slapped her, detectives report.

Uhler, hearing the quarrel, joined the group. He saw Winkelboss slap his wife a second time, he tells. He returned to his room, obtained a revolver—to prevent, he said, further slapping. A shot was fired. Winkelboss fell dead.

The child looked on innocently; Mrs. Uhler blanched.

Uhler surrendered without protest. Today he is in the county jail meditating on the consequences that can follow trivial quarrels.

Uhler and Winkelboss worked in the steel mills at Clairton. Detectives reported learning that there had been bad feeling between the two men because young Uhler insistently refused to drink with Winkelboss.

$200,000 Blaze Perils Horses And Clubs

NEW YORK, July 27.—(INS.)—A $200,000 fire on the edge of Prospect Park, Brooklyn, early today, damaged three small night clubs—the Caton Inn, the Barking Dog and the Cat's Meow—and Murray's Riding Academy. Four alarms were turned in and 200 firemen fought the flames.

Two hundred and fifty riding horses, owned by Brooklyn society people and valued at $125,000, were led from the burning stables to safety by passersby. The fire was started by a cigaret dropped by a patron of one of the night clubs. No one was injured.

Rivals Take 'Purple' Gangster 'For a Ride'

DETROIT, July 27.—(INS.)—"Taken for a ride" and shot to death by hostile gangsters, the bullet-riddled body of Irving Shapiro was contemptuously tossed from an automobile here early today. Police said Shapiro was a member of the notorious purple gang, four members of which were convicted recently of conspiracy to violate prohibition laws.

Hoover Isolated In Camp by Storm

CRIGLERSVILLE, Va., July 27.—(INS.)—With telephone lines down because of a severe thunderstorm yesterday, President Hoover and his guests were in real seclusion today at the presidential camp in the Shenandoah National Park, near here.

BOOSTERS BACK PIRATES TODAY

The Pirate Boosters will be on hand at Forbes Field this afternoon when the home boys take on the Boston Braves in a doubleheader. The first game will start at 1:45.

The men who "Boost the Pirates for Boosting Pittsburgh" have arranged a special program which will be carried out before the first game gets under way.

In view of the large hospital list now owned by the Bushwhackers, the kind words and wishes may be just the right thing to carry the Pittsburgh boys through the present crisis.

Paul Waner and George Grantham both were painfully injured yesterday in a collision on a fly ball. Both had to leave the field and it is doubtful whether either will be able to go to his post this afternoon.

Brame and either French or Fussell will twirl the twin bill for the home team. The Braves will use Seibold and Smith on the mound.

SNOOK FIGHTING TO BAR WOMEN FROM JURY

Hix Slayer Fears Other Sex, Gambling Fate With Men; Trial to Resume Monday

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN.
International News Service.

COLUMBUS, O., July 27.—Dr. James H. Snook wants a "men's jury."

In his fight to escape the electric chair, the slayer of Miss Theora Hix, university co-ed, is manifesting a marked tendency to gamble his fate with a jury comprised of men.

Snook's lawyers are slowly but surely ruling the women off the jury, apparently with the ex-college professor's approval. Too many of the women seem to have made up their minds as to the guilt or innocence of the defendant.

11 TENTATIVE JURORS

Monday, the seemingly monumental task of getting this jury will be resumed. There was no session of court today and Snook spent his time in jail instead of playing to a full house of young girls in the courtroom.

Eleven jurors, three of them women—a nurse and two housewives—have been tentatively accepted. The defense, however, still has nine peremptory challenges to exercise and they seem inclined to exercise them. Repeatedly, when the jury box has been filled, the prosecution has announced, "We are satisfied with the jury as constituted." But the defense is not.

NEW PANEL CALLED

A new panel of 50 talesmen has been ordered to report Monday. The original group of 75 talesmen is almost exhausted.

The trial evidently is not causing Snook to lose any sleep in his cell. The sheriff asked him this morning how he had slept last night and the prisoner replied:

"Just fine. I've been resting well all along."

Snook was considerably cheered up by a visit from his wife, Mrs. Helen Snook, and his 73-year-old

JAPAN IN PANIC OVER QUAKE

TOKIO, July 27.—(INS.)—Residents of Tokio and Yokohama were thrown into a panic today by the most severe earthquake experienced since the disastrous tremblors of 1923.

Telegraph and transportation facilities were disorganized for half an hour by the quake, while clocks were stopped and pictures thrown from the walls of homes.

There were no injuries and several hours after the quake no reports of serious damage had been received.

QUITO, Ecuador, July 27.—(AP.)—Sixty persons were reported killed in an earthquake which destroyed most of the buildings of the town of Moyurgo, half way between this city and Machachi. General panic was caused in the vicinity by the shocks.

TEXANS QUIT, LEAVE FIELD CLEAR

Endurance Test Now Li Between Robin and Me Manning News Shift

BULLETIN.

HOUSTON, Tex., July 27.—(AP.)—A "blown cylinder" forced the endurance monoplane, Billion Dollar City, to land at the Houston airport at 8:45 a. m. today, Pittsburgh time. The ship had been aloft 233 hours and 44 minutes.

International News Service.

ST. LOUIS, July 27.—"Reaching for the moon" in the most ambitious attempt ever made by man to take unto himself the flying attributes of the tireless winged seagull, the St. Louis Robin swooped easily into the third week of its steady companionship with the clouds at 5:17 this morning, Pittsburgh time.

At this time the two cloud dwellers, Dale (Red) Jackson and Forrest O'Brine, had been living at their sky address for 336 hours. They had added more than 89 hours to the old endurance record set by the Angeleno at Culver City, Cal.

The endurance qualities, however, are not limited to the fliers alone, as their eternal airship dips and turns lazily over the local airport. Sleepy-eyed reporters and weary cameramen, waiting hour after hour in the hot dusty press tent to start the flash which will tell the world that this important "sparrow" has fallen, or to record in sound and picture the landing, lay bets with one another on how

GANG UPSETS MILK WAGON

Six men early today attacked a wagon of the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation on Congress street, near Fifth avenue, and after unhitching the horses, chased the driver and his helper away under a barrage of milk bottles. Then they upset the wagon, spilled milk valued at $100 and escaped.

Half an hour later the horses were found standing in front of 1029 Webster avenue, four blocks away from where the wagon had been upset.

Alexander Denillo, 22, of 104 Boquet street, driver, told police the men dragged him from his seat and began pelting him with the bottles. He said he did not recognize any of them.

Several hours later six men were arrested as suspects by Woods Run police and today Magistrate Leo Rothenberg held them for court on riot charges.

The prisoners were docketed as William Connors, 24, of 721 Watson street; John Desmond, 22, of 1035 Forbes street; Joseph De Rocco, 25, of 1322 Gibbons street; Dean Hough, 33, of Library road; Joseph Daggert, 24, of 1326 Fifth avenue, and Charles De Renzo, 25, of 620 Loretta street.

Police said that De Rocco, Daggert and De Renzo were among the men named in the injunction granted the Liberty Dairy Products Corporation restraining them from interfering with their deliveries during the two months' milk strike, which ended several weeks ago.

NEW YORK, July 27.—Betty Nuthall, British tennis star, is to get $500 from dad if she does not smoke till she is 21. She thinks it is a lot easier for her to earn that than it would be for a man.

Lucky Bucks—Trade Your Old Money for New

By LUCKY BUCK.

Well, folks, a number of you crashed through with the boodle yesterday. There's Miss Edith Jones, McMonagle avenue, and Daniel Ross, 448 Brownsville road, Knoxville, and Henry Snyder, 417 Freeland street, and Dave McPeak, big sporting man from the South—640 Washington road, Mt. Lebanon, to be exact.

Henry Snyder Dave McPeak

Two of these exemplary four scored upsets in the Lucky Buck tournament when they cashed in on money hot from the old wallet, within 24 hours of the time I passed 'em out.

That's Ross and McPeak, if you get what I mean. McPeak's the bird from whom I bought a deck of cards day before yesterday. It was a good deck, too, and will have steady use, if I can find a teacher. And Ross, who is studying embalming and undertaking, picked his up in the Famous restaurant shortly after I left. He's putting it into what he calls a "marriage sinking fund," for he's to be married in about a year, he says. Congratulations, Dan!

Miss Jones, on the other hand, had not been watching for her big moment at all. A group of visitors Thursday night initiated her into the game. What was her surprise when one of four bucks she had was oke! Well, that's the way with fortune's children.

And Snyder is a taxi driver, received his rambling rock from a cashier at Loew's Penn Theater. Those are the girls that challenged me, folks, and said a Fortunate Simoleon would never get past them. Yah! Y'bunch of postmen!

His bill's an old one which was in the H. J. Heinz company payroll over a week ago. Snyder received change from the cashier when he couldn't cash a fin for a customer; he returned part of the money to his customer and put the rest in his pocket; didn't have to make change again that night and found the jack in his jeans.

Some new ones today, folks. You out in Jeannette, and you in Sharpsburg, and all you department store and mill workers, FORE!

CABINET QUITS AS POINCARE REFUSES TO KEEP JOB

BRIAND SEEN AS HEAD OF MINISTRY

Likely Successor to Premier Forced Out by Illness After Debt Pact Parley

PARIS, July 27.—(AP.)—The French cabinet resigned in a body shortly before noon today after Raymond Poincare, Premier, refused to reconsider his decision to resign. An impending operation, made necessary by exhaustion and fatigue from his long fight for the debt agreement with America, was behind the Premier's action.

The cabinet's resignation was handed to President Doumergue, who presided at the meeting, by Louis Barthou, acting premier, who drafted a letter reading as follows:

"The efforts we have made with M. Poincare to persuade him in the interests of his country to retain direction of public affairs has not met with the result we had hoped.

"We must bow to his decision with the regret of not being able to continue a collaboration that was accompanied by our admiration and respectful devotion. Therefore we beg of you, M. President, kindly to accept our resignation and the expression of our profound respect."

ALL MINISTERS SIGN

The letter was signed by all the ministers and sub-secretaries.

Prior to appearing at the cabinet meeting, Aristide Briand, foreign minister, and Louis Barthou, who is vice premier, had gone to the home of Poincare and sought to have him change his mind about leaving the ministry. Their quest was hopeless however.

Poincare himself had sent letters announcing his resignation last night both to the cabinet and to President Doumergue. That to the President read:

"The fears that I expressed to you have been realized. It is impossible for me to be restored to health completely without a surgical operation, the preparations for which and the convalescence will condemn me to enforced rest for two or three months.

"I cannot, therefore, especially under the present circumstances, fulfill as I should the functions that you have been good enough to entrust to me the last three years, and I find myself to my deep regret in the necessity of presenting to you my resignation.

"I remain profoundly grateful to you for the good will you never ceased to show me and I beg you to receive, M. President, the renewed assurance of my respect."

AWAIT SUCCESSSORS

President Doumergue, after the usual exchange of compliments, accepted the ministry's resignation, asking the members to continue their work until a new ministry can be formed.

He then summoned Fernand Bouisson, president of the Chamber of Deputies, and Paul Doumer, president of the Senate, to ask their advice about a successor to Poincare.

No one doubted he would choose Aristide Briand, former foreign minister, to assume head of the government.

SCHOYER HEIRS GET $149,000

The will of Mrs. Lucy O'Hara Schoyer, once prominent in Pittsburgh society, who died at Oownesville, O., on June 8, was filed for probate today, disposing of an estate valued at $149,000, of which $55,000 is personal property and $94,000 in realty.

Mrs. Schoyer states in the will that she inherited from William Morrison the rentals from the building on Wood street occupied by J. R. Weldin and Company, and was authorized to devise the same at her death. The building, she states, was sold in 1923 by order of the Orphans' Court, and the proceeds of the sale placed at her disposal. She bequeaths one-third of the money to her sister, Jane O'Hara Kay, of Pittsburgh; one-third to her sister, Nannie O'Hara Beecher, of Hillsboro, O., and the remaining one-third, share and share alike, to her nephews, Louis A. Cazenova, of Flushing, N. Y., and James O. Cazenova, of New York City.

The remainder of the estate is to go to the same legatees in the same proportions.

William S. Allen, of New York City, is named as executor.

SOVIETS CHARGE VIOLENCE

LONDON, July 27.—(AP.)—Moscow dispatches today continued to relate "atrocities" of Chinese in Manchuria against Soviet citizens there, and to tell of demonstrations throughout the U. S. S. R. seeking redress for insults to the Russian proletarian state.

Advices from China put an entirely different aspect on the situation in Manchuria, and emphasized the feeling of Chinese officials that the altercation growing out of seizure of the Chinese Eastern Railway would be settled peaceably.

There were only meager reports from either country, but those from China were taken as indicating a preliminary conference took place Wednesday between Chang Tso-Hsiang, governor of Kirin division of Manchuria, and the Soviet consul general at Harbin, B. N. Meinikov.

M. Meinikov was said to have started thereafter for Moscow to recount the events of the past seven weeks to his government. The Chinese were reported in one dispatch to be determined on peace and to be pleading that the seizure of the Chinese Eastern was an unauthorized action of the road's president, Lu Yung Huan.

This explanation clashed with earlier Chinese statements regarding the seizure.

Two Valuable Rings Stolen from Window

Mrs. Loretta Robson, of 2209 Vodeli street, reported to the detective bureau last night that two diamond rings which she left on the window sill in the kitchen of her home last Tuesday were stolen. They were valued at $200.

WIFE ACCUSES ACID SUSPECT

"She cheated," laconically testified Charles Nicholas, 30, former city fireman, in Morals Court today accused of throwing acid on a woman in East Liberty late yesterday.

The woman, Grace Imler, 28, of 5458 Penn avenue, failed to appear.

But Nicholas' former wife, Mrs. Mary Brosky, of 609 Tripoli street, did appear—with a deputy sheriff.

No sooner had Magistrate A. D. Brandon held Nicholas for court charged with felonious assault in the acid throwing episode, than he was arrested on a warrant from Desertion Court charging him with contempt for failing to pay Mrs. Brosky $260 back charges for support of her 16-year-old daughter, Irene.

Nicholas, a carnival concessionaire, who gave his address as 90 Congress street, testified he had lived with Miss Imler for four years. He had been divorced in Westmoreland County in 1926, it was disclosed.

Patrolman W. E. Kirkpatrick testified that after observing Nicholas and the Imler woman in Station street near Frankstown avenue for several minutes, he stepped between them just as Nicholas hurled the contents of a bottle at the woman with the remark, "You can't leave me after four years."

Patrolman Kirkpatrick's uniform was ruined by the acid, but he probably saved Miss Imler her sight, it was said. She was only slightly burned on the face and arms.

Mrs. Brosky testified that Miss Imler had broken up their home after she and Nicholas had been married for 17 years.

Bail was fixed at $5,000 after a conference with the district attorney's office.

mother, Mrs. Mary Snook, of Lebanon, O. They talked for about 20 minutes. Snook was allowed to come out of his cell to chat with them. He did not show any emotion and he kissed both his mother and his wife good-by. There were tears in his old mother's eyes when she emerged.

MOTHER'S FAITH UNSHAKEN

"I can't believe all this about my son yet," said Mrs. Snook. "He always has been so kind to every one and so good to me.

"I cry about this trouble from time to time, but I never let Jimmie know I've been crying. He's got so much to bear as it is. My heart is bleeding for him."

Both Snook's wife and mother will be in court next week when testimony is started, it was said. Although Snook's wife has said she "lost" her husband when the co-ed came into his life three years ago, she is standing by him.

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Marple, are anything but sympathetic toward Snook, however. They were quoted as saying he is "where he belongs" The Marples do not expect to attend the trial.

FATHER NEAR BREAKDOWN

The parents of the slain girl, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hix, of Bradenton, Fla., who have been in court each day since the trial began, are not bearing up any too well. In fact, Hix is reported to be on the verge of a nervous breakdown.

At times the elderly, silver-haired man seems about to topple from his chair. He is of a frail build and has worked himself up emotionally over the tragic death of his daughter.

Steps may be taken to prevent his appearance in court. This may be brought about through the means of the state issuing a subpena for Mr. and Mrs. Hix as witnesses for the prosecution.

Prosecuting Attorney John J. Chester, Jr., said today that if the defense continues to assail the character of the slain girl, the state will have "plenty" to say about the character of Snook. He scoffed at the suggestion of the defense that Miss Hix was the aggressor in the quarrel that culminated in the murder. He will seek to prove that the slaying was premeditated.

The defense, in working to bolster up its insanity contention, is examining the records of the George Remus insanity hearing which resulted in the freeing of the Cincinnati bootlegger and wife-slayer.

2 FLIERS BEGIN THIRD WEEK

STAY ALOFT

Meanwhile the two pilots, Jackson and O'Brine, continue their apparently serene existence among the stars and clouds, and show not the slightest inclination to come "back to earth."

"Red" Jackson messaged his mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jackson, who flew from Faribault, Minn., to see their son, "everything is fine, but you will have to wait a long time to see us."

Statisticians who have figured it out that Jackson and O'Brine are richer by $116 for every hour clicked off by their tireless air taxi can well understand, in part, at least, the reluctance of the two pilots to descend.

ENGINEER OPTIMIST

Arthur Nutt, of Buffalo, the chief engineer of the company sponsoring the present flight, is so confident that the plane will be in the air another week that he has made preparations to return to the East over the week-end and come back to St. Louis next week for the landing.

Because of a complaint from the St. Louis Robin pilots that they nearly crashed with a plane carrying cameramen, the field manager has ordered that any plane carrying a cameraman shall be grounded for the remainder of the flight.

TEXANS DODGE STORMS

HOUSTON, Tex., July 27.—(AP.)—With unfavorable flying conditions still prevalent in the vicinity of Houston today, pilots Glenn L. Loomis and Joe Glass, of the endurance monoplane Billion Dollar City planned to seek clear skies in company with an observation plane.

Permission to leave the Houston airport in the event of bad weather provided two official observers keep a check on the endurance fliers from another plane was granted by the National Aeronautical Association.

No relief from thunderstorms which the endurance plane weathered yesterday was promised.

The ship had been aloft 229 hours at 5:49:54 a. m., Pittsburgh time.

HEAT, THEIR KICK

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., July 27.—(AP.)—With their first 100 hours behind them, Owen Haugland and Capt. P. L. Crichton, of Minneapolis, today were piloting the monoplane, the Minnesota, toward the end of their fifth day of endurance refueling flying.

The Minnesota, which went up from Wold Chamberlain Field at 6:40 p. m., Monday, passed the 100-hour mark at 10:40 last night. The pilots had only one complaint—it was too hot. They dropped a note inquiring about the weather on the ground, declaring that the heat was "miserable up here."

Ohio Men Lease Mercer Oil Land

Weather Conditions.

Moderately heavy rains occurred in West Virginia, and light rains in Virginia and southward over the mountains to the Gulf. There were also light rains in Ohio and Indiana and at scattered places in Western Pennsylvania. In the West light showers occurred in Eastern North Dakota and at scattered places of the Canadian Northwest, but not sufficient to break the protracted drought over the wheat belt. With the exception of a few small cloudy areas the skies are clear throughout the country this morning.

The Northwest disturbance is centered over Eastern Manitoba and Western Ontario, with a trough formation southwestward to Arizona. Relatively high barometer overlies the Southeast.

River Conditions.

The rivers are about stationary. Stage at Pittsburgh is 10.5 feet; Dam No. 2, 8.3; Dam No. 6, 7.1; Dam No. 12, 4.0. The dams are up.

HALL DEPICTS CITY FOIBLES

The Sun-Telegraph has another treat in store for its readers.

Quin Hall, famous cartoonist, has joined the staff.

Beginning Monday, his cartoons will be published daily.

In his own inimitable way Mr. Hall is going to picture the life of Pittsburgh, its glories and its foibles, its deeds and its delinquencies.

Mr. Hall has had an interesting career. He comes to Pittsburgh from New York, where he has been engaged for some time in drawing cartoons for King Features Syndicate.

SMALL TOWN BOY

He was born in Lacon, Ill., a small town of the kind where everyone knows everyone else, and opportunities are afforded for that intimate study of human nature that characterizes Mr. Hall's work.

He began newspaper work in Lacon, setting type on the local paper. From there he went to the Oklahoma City Times as a reporter. The editor discovered he could draw, had a keen sense of humor, and a trenchant way of cutting to the heart of the news. He put Mr. Hall to work picturing "Events of the Week" for the Sunday issue.

From there he went to Chicago for a course of instruction in the Academy of Fine Arts. For some time afterward he was with the Chicago Daily News and the Chicago Tribune.

LARDNER COLLABORATED

Mr. Hall illustrated Ring Lardner's column and collaborated with J. P. McEvoy, author of "Show Girl," in a comic strip.

But it is in cartoons that his real forte lies—cartoons with a laugh, and also a punch.

Mr. Hall has made countless millions smile appreciatively. And now Pittsburghers, and all readers of the Sun-Telegraph, are to enjoy his humor. Watch for his cartoon on Page 2 of each week day in the Sun-Telegraph.

Cyclone-Torn Church Seeks Financial Aid

CONNELLSVILLE, Pa., July 27.—An appeal to the Sunday Schools of Fayette County for financial assistance in the reconstruction of the Evangelical Church at Davistown, wrecked when that village was leveled by a tornado on May 2, has been made.

The appeal points out that no other church exists in the mountain town and that its members cannot finance the rebuilding program, as they lost all their possessions in the tornado. A number of Sunday schools are planning a "cyclone day" campaign.

HOOVER NAVY CUT STIRS SENATE

Hale Insists Act Calls for Laying of Keels Without Delay; Dispute Revived

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP.)—The prospect that cruiser building again will raise a point of bitter controversy in Congress is rapidly becoming more and more definitely indicated in the discussion which has arisen over President Hoover's right to suspend construction to match the similar action of Prime Minister MacDonald.

The discussion already has disclosed the White House under Mr. Hoover holding much the same attitude toward the efforts of many members of Congress who advocated mandatory construction of the vessels within fixed time limits that it maintained under Calvin Coolidge during the last two years of his administration while the 15-cruiser law was under consideration.

Coolidge's desire that the President's hands not be tied to a rigid construction program in the law was the pivot of most of that two-year dispute, and the comment which has followed President Hoover's action suspending construction indicates that the conflicting viewpoints which marked that contest are about as strongly opposed as ever, at least as far as the leaders are concerned.

DISPUTE POWERS

The President's opinion that the act gives him authority to delay construction of all 15 cruisers until the end of the three-year period, June 30, 1931, is held by Chairman Hale, of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, to be "entirely in error." Senator King (Dem.), Utah, who opposed the cruiser program, is ready, on the other hand, to move for specific congressional approval of the President's action if the advocates of the law's time clause decide to challenge it.

Although that indicates one line of cleavage which might be expected, predictions of what may actually develop after Congress reassembles are not being made, since the conversations being conducted among the United States, Great Britain and other naval powers are recognized as holding the possibility of producing new facts which can change the situation very rapidly.

ZAHNISER PUZZLED

The Rev. Dr. Charles R. Zahniser, executive secretary of the Pittsburgh Council of Churches of Christ, whose office, like that of the association, is in the Law and Finance Building, said:

"I am not acquainted with Mr. Kittelberger and I know nothing of his association. Some of the members of our group were in my office yesterday, and none of them mentioned the association. I feel sure at least a reference would have been made to it if they had known anything of what it is doing."

Dr. J. Alvin Orr, who was chairman of the executive committee of the Citizens' League, also said he knew nothing about the new organization.

A well-known detective agency, with out-of-town operatives experienced in handling election fraud cases, will be on watch during the primaries, according to Kittelberger. Local sleuths, familiar with conditions in Pittsburgh, he hinted, are now carrying on investigations and the association will be ready to direct prosecution if fraud is attempted. The organiztion will be financed to meet any emergency, it was declared.

There is no kinship between the Honest Ballot Association and the Elections Association of Allegheny County. Kittelberger said his organization was formed on an independent footing.

EX-GOV. PENNYPACKER'S DAUGHTER JAILED WITH RADICALS

POLICE RAID COMMUNIST MEETING

Thought Philadelphia Cradle Of Liberty, She Declares Following Night in Cell

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—(AP.)—Miss Anna Pennypacker, daughter of the late Samuel W. Pennypacker, former Governor of Pennsylvania, passed the night in a police cell. She was one of 55 persons arrested last night when police raided a radical meeting in Grand fraternity hall.

Miss Pennypacker was offered her release on a copy of the charge, but declined to accept unless all the others were given their freedom. Ten persons were freed last night and the others, including Miss Pennypacker, were released this morning on copies of the charge.

THREE CHARGES

The prisoners were charged with holding a meeting without a permit and some of them with disorderly conduct and distributing seditious literature.

The meeting was called by the Workers International Relief to devise means of helping a group of textile workers in Gastonia, N. C., who are charged with the killing of a policeman during labor disturbances in that city. A quantity of literature and a card announcing a meeting to be held next Thursday night under the auspices of the Communist Party of America and the Communists' Youths' League, were seized by the raiders.

MERELY SPECTATOR

Miss Pennypacker said she had attended the meeting merely as a spectator.

"I went to the meeting," she declared, "because I was interested in the Gastonia affair. I would not have believed it possible that this could have happened in Philadelphia, the cradle of liberty. My ancestors came to America over 200 years ago in the cause of freedom and I thought surely we had it in this good old Quaker City."

Other women taken into custody included Miss Kate Kelsey and Miss Helen Mallery, both socially prominent.

RESCUES GIRL, LOSES LIFE

The coroner's office today was investigating the death late last night of Charles Deemer, 33, of Leechburg, fatally injured when he fell almost 100 feet from a car on the roller coaster of the National Amusement Park, on the Freeport road, near Aspinwall. He died an hour later in the West Penn Hospital.

Deemer lost his balance and fell when he leaped from his seat and pulled Edmie Windgrove, 23, of Apollo, back into the car after she had been struck on the head and rendered unconscious. She was in Pittsburgh Hospital today suffering from a fractured skull and a fractured arm. Her condition was regarded as serious.

Before she lapsed into unconsciousness at the hospital the girl told doctors that she became frightened and stood up in the car. When she was struck she toppled over the side of the car and was falling out, she said, when Deemer leaped toward her and pulled her inside. In doing so he lost his balance and fell.

Man Goes to Pay $5; Wrecks Auto

MARTINS FERRY, O., July 27.—Honesty was costly to W. D. Scott, former mine and ventilating fan manufacturer, now operating a plant in Zanesville, when he drove to a small town near Parkersburg Sunday to pay a garage man $5 he owed for repair of damage to his machine in an accident last week. He and D. S. Myers, a salesman, drove there. On the return trip a tire burst, wrecking the machine and causing Myers to sustain a deep gash on the head, while Scott was bruised. The accident occurred a mile out of Caldwell on the Cambridge road.

BLERIOT PLANS REPEAT FLIGHT

LE BOURGET, France, July 27.—(AP.)—Louis Bleriot, the first man to fly the English Channel, took off for Calais today, whence he will again hop off for England later, duplicating his feat that astounded the world 20 years ago.

Unlike in 1909, when he was handling a primitive steering gear in a slow and clumsy airplane, the areonautical pioneer today was in the passenger seat of one of the most modern air liners behind a noted pilot.

Bleriot was en route to Calais to attend the celebration of the twentieth anniversary of his cross-channel flight.

Gideon Worker Indignant, Denies Pledge to Woman

TRENTON, N. J., July 27.—(AP.)—Notified here of the suit for $4,800 brought against him by Miss Sarah Geisenfeld, Samuel R. Boggs, of Philadelphia, who is in Trenton attending the four-day international convention of Gideons, declared:

"The woman is a blackmailer and is trying to extort money from a good Christian. I shall consult my lawyer in New York and take immediate steps to have her arrested."

Answering the complaint that he had agreed to pay her $500 a month for a period of 10 years, but had given her but $900, Mr. Boggs said:

"That is an atrocious lie. I never paid her a cent. The woman must be going crazy. The last time I saw her, about two years ago, she asked me to let her have $150 and I refused to give her the money. That may be her reason for wanting to extort money from me."

There is no truth to Miss Geisenfeld's charges, Boggs said.

"Our friendship," he stated, "over a period of 10 years, was a respectable one, that is, until I heard of this complaint for the first time today.

'II never told her that I was estranged from my wife, to whom I have been married for 35 years without any quarrels.

"I am not separated from my wife."

SEEVERS HELD WITHOUT BAIL

NEW CASTLE, Pa., July 27.—Acting as his own counsel, but visibly unnerved, John D. Seevers, Cleveland man, was arraigned yesterday before Alderman L. C. Mance on charges of having shot and killed his wife, Mrs. Stella Seevers, and Mrs. Catherine Rodgers, and wounded Walter, 10-year-old son of Mrs. Rodgers. Seevers was held for court without bail on charges of murder.

Coincident with the hearing given Seevers, Coroner J. P. Caldwell held an inquest into the deaths of the two women, the jury returning a verdict placing responsibility for the women's deaths upon the defendant.

QUESTIONS WITNESSES

When arraigned, Seevers told Alderman Mance he was at a loss as to how to proceed, but entered a formal plea of not guilty. With the consent of the district attorney, he was permitted to cross-examine the witnesses. He made especial efforts to shake the story of young Walter Rodgers, who told of the quarrel between Seevers and his wife, in which the woman used violent language toward her husband. According to Walter, Seevers, while still driving, pointed the gun over his shoulder and fired several times.

MAN CALM

Seevers also questioned Corp. Ketran, of the state police, particularly in relation to Ketran's testimony that the prisoner had said he had done the shooting "and was glad of it." Ketran testified that when arrested, Seevers, who had apparently been drinking, was calm, although his expression denoted anger. Patrolman James Brook corroborated Ketran's testimony.

Following the hearing, Seevers held a conference with his brother-in-law, Frank Power, of Cleveland, when funeral arrangements for Mrs. Seever were agreed upon. He agreed to the appointment of Power and his own father as administrators in settling the affairs of himself and wife, and disposing of the car in which the murder was committed.

KISSES BOY

Seevers talked with Walter Rodgers for a short time, pleading with him, "Never drink; let this be a lesson to you." He kissed the boy on the cheek as the lad was led away for further treatment at the Shenango Valley Hospital.

Before being returned to jail, Seevers retained Attorney Thomas W. Dickey as counsel. His trial is scheduled for the September term.

Brussels Barons Bootleg Baths, Banned

BRUSSELS, Belgium, July 27.—(AP.)—Until further notice it is against the law for any citizen of Brussels to take a bath.

City officials strictly prohibited use of water for bathing by householders in Brussels and its suburbs when a persistent drought finally brought the city's water supply dangerously low.

Foreigners and wealthy Belgians were still able to sneak a bath on the sly, for the big hotels were temporarily exempted from the "no baths" regulation, but this concession provoked vehement criticism and was not expected to last.

7 HURT FIGHTING $45,000 FIRE IN CHURCH

Firemen Injured as Flames Sweep Bloomfield Edifice; Hose Lines Block Traffic

Seven firemen were injured while fighting a two-alarm fire in the Immaculate Conception Roman Catholic Church, Edmond street and Corday way, late yesterday. Damage was estimated at $45,000.

Street car service was halted for more than an hour on Liberty avenue, and automobile traffic was stopped on Friendship avenue, due to the laying of hose. Precaution was taken at the West Penn Hospital, a block away, by closing all windows on account of the dense smoke pouring from the church.

DOME DAMAGED

The injured firemen, all of whom were treated at the scene by Dr. D. E. Sable, chief police and fire surgeon, were Battalion Chief Herman Weihrauch of the Third Fire District; Capt. William Davis, Engine Co. No. 25; Firemen George Bulger, J. T. McCafferty and John Palmer, of Engine Co. No. 14, and James Wald and John Moran of Engine Co. No. 25.

The Rev. Michael Vitale, who estimated the damage, said the loss was confined to the altar and dome of the transept in the new section of the building, which was completed two years ago at a cost of $100,000. He said that the blaze started in the right sacristy and spread to the left sacristy.

CANDLES POSSIBLE CAUSE

Candles or defective wiring are believed to have started the blaze. The candles were being burned in celebration of the feast of St. Christopher which began last Sunday when about 400 automobiles were blessed in front of the church.

BREMEN RACES FOR RECORD

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP)—Accompanied by the cheers of thousands, the liner Bremen, new queen of the sea-racers, slipped from her pier in Brooklyn early this morning and sped eastward in quest of a new record.

North German Lloyd line officials said they were confident their vessel would break the record from New York to Cherbourg which was set at five days, one hour and 49 minutes by the Cunarder Mauretania in 1924.

The record from Cherbourg to New York, also held by the Mauretania, was broken by about nine hours by the Bremen when she arrived here Monday on her maiden voyage.

The Bremen sailed with 2,200 passengers, a full list. Prominent among them was Capt. Paul Koenig, who gained fame as skipper of the German submarine Deutschland during the World War. He made the voyage here in the Bremen as advisor to her captain, Paul Ziegenbein.

Two Hurt in Scrap Over $1 Loan; 1 Held

ARMY SURVEYS DISCUSSED BY PRESIDENT

Military Leaders Confer With Hoover at Camp in Hills; To Profit by War Lesson

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP.)—Aside from the survey President Hoover proposes of Army maintenance costs with a view of curtailment, Gen. Charles P. Summerall, chief of the Army general staff, has initiated another survey looking toward more rapid progress in turning lessons learned in France into practical use for possible future wars.

This became known today at a time when the Chief Executive at his fishing preserve in the cool of the Blue Ridge Mountains in Virginia had gathered around him the secretary of war and other high officials of that department, including Summerall, for a conference on Army questions.

The President's announcement was made early this week, but sometime before that Summerall held a conference in Washington with the highest officers connected with the infantry school at Fort Benning, Ga. No publicity was given at the War Department to this meeting, but it is known that tactical plans under consideration by officers there were discussed.

Fort Benning is the Army field laboratory for testing all theorics of tactics and new weapons or equipment which have any bearing on the use of infantry in war. That means almost every type of weapon or army transport vehicle.

That staff study, made by direction of Gen. Pershing as post-war chief of staff, pictured every other element of the military establishment from aviation to tanks as merely auxiliary to the foot soldier, to help him reach his objective and minimize infantry losses.

NOTED JUDGE DEFENDS PRESS

Says Contempt Ruling Means Cleveland Jurist Will Never Be Elected Again

By SAM BLAIR.

CLEVELAND, O., July 27.—"A free press is indispensable to a free country. One cannot exist without the other. It would be incredible if Judge Walther's contempt sentence were upheld."

This is the comment of one of the most distinguished jurists in the country upon the recent jail sentence by Common Pleas Judge Frederick Walther of two local editors, whose paper published an editorial condemning the judge for enjoining the sheriff from interfering with race track gambling.

The jurist, now retired from the bench, requested that his name be withheld from publication, because he did not wish to appear to be influencing a decision of the Appellate Court, before which an appeal of Walther's sentence is now pending.

"Perhaps this case demonstrates the advantage of electing judges, rather than appointing them," he pointed out. "Regardless of the outcome of the appeal, Walther is through after his present term expires. He can never be re-elected to the bench.

"If a judge or his official conduct could not be criticized in the press, it would be possible for him to connive with crooks and get away with it."

SUICIDE DELAYS ATTACK CASE

Mrs. Wendell Sutch, of 1025 Hill avenue, and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Phillips, were not arraigned before Justice of the Peace George B. Shields, of Wilkinsburg, last night for an alleged attack upon a neighbor, a postponement having been granted yesterday when Mrs. Sutch's husband was found hanging in his garage. Police say that the arrest of the wife and daughter prompted Sutch to end his life.

Yesterday Sutch, a retired railroad brakeman, told another daughter, Mrs. Helen Conner, that he could not stand the disgrace of the arrests. The woman and her daughter were arrested on complaint of Mrs. Francis Gray, of 1028 Hill avenue, who was beaten with a fence picket during a back yard quarrel.

Mrs. Sutch, accompanied by two nephews, discovered the man hanging in the garage. Police Chief Wallace Bishop was notified and he called the coroner's office. After an investigation the body was turned over to a Wilkinsburg undertaker.

The hearing before Squire Shields was originally scheduled for last night, but a delay was granted because of the suicide. The women are charged with surety of the peace, obstructing a process and aggravated assault and battery.

About 10 years ago a similar landing was made by a Goodyear ship.

BOAT'S RETURN REFUSED

Federal Judge R. M. Gibson denied the petition of Paul Shafer seeking return of the motorboat Barcarole, captured by coast guards, August 7, 1928, in Lake Erie, 10 miles northwest of Ripley, N. Y., which they turned over to the collector of customs at Erie.

According to an answer to the petition filed by H. W. Morris, a deputy collector of customs, a cargo of liquor on board the boat was thrown overboard before the capture, with exception of a 13 ounce bottle of whiskey. Eddie Schultz and Paul Ryan, arrested on a charge of conspiring to import merchandise into the United States, were discharged when arraigned before the United States commissioner at Erie.

Shafer sought its return on the ground that no violation of the law had been shown. The court said in an opinion, that despite its belief that the seizure was improper, it has no jurisdiction to return at this time, as the boat has not been in the custody of the court, but is held by the collector of customs.

BOY CAMPERS HELD, TERROR REIGN ENDS

Fears of Woods Prowlers Vanish With Arrest of 2 Youths Near Homeville

The yen of a 15-year-old boy for adventure in the wild woods near Homestead, which threw the wives of the remote homes in terror, ended in the Homeville lockup.

There James Toth, 15, of Bellwood, is held along with his companion and neighbor, Charles Weis, 13. Toth has been camping under the skies and the trees for three weeks, the town's police chief, Jesse Crawford, said. Weis told the chief that two weeks ago, at the point of a gun, the older boy forced him to become a camper and he has been with him since.

Without shelter, except for a few blankets, the boys roamed the woods between Homeville and Bellwood. Wives who saw prowlers after dark telephoned numerous complaints to the police of the neighborhood. They envisioned outlaws about to ransack their homes.

The principle offense of the boys, Chief Crawford says, is that they picked up eggs and eatables from hen houses and back porches.

The boys were given a preliminary hearing last night in Homeville by Justice of the Peace John R. Ingley, of Mifflin Township, and were turned over to juvenile court.

PLAN TO CLOSE SCHOOL STIRS BATTLE

Chartiers Residents Win Aid of Official in Fight For Classes at Windgap

That the Windgap School, recently ordered closed by the Board of Education, should be retained, was admitted by Associate Superintendent Ben Graham, at an indignation massmeeting in the schoolhouse by residents of Old Chartiers Township, now a part of of Twenty-eighth Ward, last night.

Dr. Graham suggested to the 150 people present that he will recommend to the school board at its regular meeting Monday afternoon, that the school should be kept open for the first and second grades, and if the complainants can enroll pupils for the third and fourth grades they will be taken care of by the same teacher of the lower grades.

A petition adopted last night which will be presented by a committee at the board's meeting Monday, provides for first, second, third and fourth grades in the school, using two rooms and providing two teachers.

The closing of the school will work undue hardship on the smaller children of the district, it was said. Chartiers city school, located in the Twentieth Ward, and designated by the board to take care of the Windgap pupils, is inadequate to accommodate all of the children from the district, one parent said. A child would be forced to walk a mile and a half to school in the morning, the same distance back home to lunch and return in the afternoon, and again to its home. That will make a five-mile walk on a poor road every day, and was perilous to a child's health, another parent said.

The school at the last session accomodated 33 pupils in the first and second grades, 12 in the third and fourth, and 12 in the fifth and sixth grades.

If the board approves the recommendation, the fifth and sixth grade children will be taken care of at the Chartiers school.

Professor H. E. Patton, superintendent of the Twenty-eighth Ward schools, was another speaker. R. C. Rearick was chairman of the meeting.

SCOOTER DAYS FLOURISH

It won't be long now! "Whoopee" scooter days are still flourishing among Pittsburgh's younger generation.

Races at Little Washington American Legion Community picnic, at the West Side Board of Trade picnic are being greeted with great enthusiasm throughout the district.

"Whoopee" scooters continue to be given away to any boy or girl who obtains one 26-week subscription to the Sun-Telegraph, and takers for that offer are not lacking.

"Whoopee" scooters are fast becoming the favorite method of perambulation in Pittsburgh—possibly because there is no state tax on their ownership.

SERMONETTE

"The Sacrifices of Righteousness"

By DR. SAMUEL H. GOLDENSON, Rabbi, Rodef Shalom Temple

"Offer the Sacrifices of Righteousness and Trust in the Lord," Ps. 4, vs. 6.

THERE are certain utterances that mark a moral and spiritual revolution in the thinking of our forbears. The ideas that these express either expand or supersede the notions current prior to the arrival of those prophetic men who are gifted with deeper insight and larger vision.

One of the biblical utterances that unquestionably marks a radical change of view relative to the demands of religion, is found in the verse quoted above from the fourth psalm. The phrase "The Sacrifices of Righteousness" gives expression to a new and contrasting outlook and interest. It is the ideal of a type of religious practice whose primary concern is with the daily problems of life, and which seeks to apply to these problems those ethical standards that are in harmony with a free intelligence and with a lively and self-searching conscience.

Dr. S. H. Goldenson

The purpose of the higher standards is to turn men away from those external and formal practices of the religious life, that is, from what is merely ceremonial and, hence, more or less cheap, and to substitute for such practices an ideal of right conduct applied to the workaday world, where the art of sacrifice requires a moralized will and a disciplined personality. It is easy to make offerings unto the Lord upon Sabbaths and holidays, especially since convention conspires to limit such offerings to but a small fraction of one's possessions, but what is not so easy is to attend to the dictates of righteousness when one is transacting business with one's neighbor in the market place or counting house and there to make the sacrifices that are demanded by fairness and justice, truth and honor.

In the sixth chapter of the Book of Micah, the conception of the worship of God through a more inward, ethical attitude to one's fellow men, is most strikingly and deliberately expressed. In that notable chapter the prophet pictures the Lord as holding a controversy with His people upon the question as to the real requirements of religion. Micah points out that God is not satisfied with the sacrifice of things already possessed, but that what the Lord does require are the sacrifices that flow from the curbing of the appetites by such moral considerations as justice and mercy and humility when one is dealing with one's neighbor.

> "It hath been told thee,
> O man, what is good > and what the Lord
> doth require of thee:
> Only to do justly and > to love mercy and to > walk humbly with > thy God."

In reminding our fellow citizens of the duty to attend divine services, may we not at the same time remind ourselves, as the spokesmen for religion, that a supreme obligation rests upon us and that is to interpret our respective faiths in the light of the nobler insights of those of our teachers who could not be satisfied with external observances but who yearned for a more just world, wherein a higher quality of personal life would be possible and controlling. In sounding the call to the House of God, we should not be unmindful of the higher challenge that is made by our religions, so that if men do come to worship they will find us ready to give them strength to make the sacrifices required by righteous living and be more attuned to spiritual realities.

Torpedo-Proof House

AMONG freak inventions men have actually gone to the trouble to patent is a torpedo-proof house. This is built on a pivot, and every breeze turns it with its head to the wind.

Weary Soldiers Engage In Hand-to-Hand Encounter

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Paul Baumer and his soldier comrades all enlisted at 18. During their training, they were abused and persecuted by a former mail-carrier, now Corp. Himmelstross. Hating him, they beat him up the last night. Later, at the front, he appears. One of the privates calls him a "dirty hound." He threatens court-martial. Light sentences are imposed when the lieutenant learns the whole story of the corporal's abuse in camp. Paul and his comrades are back in the front lines. On the way they passed piles of new coffins. Their spirits are low. After days of fighting, the trenches are wrecked. Food is scarce and the barrage is so heavy that none can be brought up.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XIII.

THE night is unbearable. We cannot sleep, but stare ahead of us and doze. Tjaden regrets that we wasted the gnawed pieces of bread on the rats. We would gladly have them again to eat now. We are short of water, too, but not seriously yet.

Towards morning, while it is still dark, there is some excitement. Through the entrance rushes in a swarm of fleeing rats that try to storm the walls. Torches light up the confusion. Everyone yells and curses and slaughters. The madness and despair of many hours unloads itself in this outburst. Faces are distorted, arms strike out, the beasts scream; we just stop in time to avoid attacking one another.

The onslaught has exhausted us. We lie down to wait again. It is a marvel that our post has had no casualties so far. It is one of the few deep dugouts.

A corporal creeps in; he has a loaf of bread with him. luck to get through during the night and bring some provisions. They say the bombardment continues undiminished as far as the artillery lines. It is a mystery where the enemy gets all his shells.

We wait and wait. By midday what I expected happens. One of the recruits has a fit. I have been watching him for a long time, grinding his teeth and opening and shutting his fists. These hunted, protruding eyes, we know them too well. During the last few hours he has had merely the appearance of calm. He had collapsed like a rotten tree.

Now he stands up, stealthily creeps across the floor, hesitates a moment and then glides towards the door. I intercept him and say: "Where are you going?"

"I'll be back in a minute," says he, and tries to push past me.

"Wait a bit, the shelling will stop soon."

He listens and for a moment his eye becomes clear. Then again he has the glowering eyes of a mad dog. He is silent, he shoves me aside.

"One minute, lad," I say. Kat notices. Just as the recruit shakes me off Kat jumps in and we hold him.

Then he begins to rave: "Leave me alone, let me go out, I will go out!"

He won't listen to anything and hits out, his mouth is wet and pours out words, half choked, meaningless words. It is a case of claustraphobia, he feels as though he is suffocating here and wants to get out at any price. If we let him go he would run about everywhere regardless of cover. He is not the first.

Though he raves and his eyes roll, it can't be helped, and we have to give him a hiding to bring him to his senses. We do it quickly and mercilessly, and at last he sits down quietly. The others have turned pale; let's hope it deters them. This bombardment is too much for the poor devils, they have been sent straight from a recruiting-depot into a barrage that is enough to turn an old soldier's hair grey.

After this affair the sticky, close atmosphere works more than ever on our nerves. We sit as if in our graves waiting only to be closed in.

Suddenly it howls and flashes terrifically, the dug-out cracks in all its joints under a direct hit, fortunately only a light one that the concrete blocks are able to withstand. It rings metallically, the walls reel, helmets, earth, mud, and dust fly everywhere. Sulphur fumes pour in.

If we were in one of those light dug-outs that they have been building lately instead of this deep one, not one of us would now be alive.

But the effect is bad enough even so. The recruit starts to rave again and two others follow suit. One jumps up and rushes out, we have trouble with the other two. I start after the one who escapes and wonder whether to shoot him in the leg—then it shrieks again, I fling myself down and when I stand up the wall of the trench is plastered with smoking splinters, lumps of flesh, and bits of uniform. I scramble back.

The first recruit seems actually to have gone insane. He butts his head against the wall like a goat. We must try tonight to take him to the rear. Meanwhile we bind him, but in such a way that in case of attack he can be released at once.

Kat suggests a game of skat; it is easier when a man has something to do. But it is no use, we listen for every explosion that comes close, miscount the tricks, and fail to follow suit. We have to give it up. We sit as though in a hissing boiler that is being belaboured from without on all sides.

Night again. We are deadened by the strain—a deadly tension that scrapes along one's spine like a gapped knife. Our legs refuse to move, our hands tremble, our bodies are a thin skin stretched painfully over repressed madness, over an almost irresistible, bursting roar. We have neither flesh nor muscles any longer, we dare not look at one another for fear of some incalculable thing. So we shut our teeth—it will end—it will end—perhaps we will come through.

Suddenly the nearer explosions cease. The shelling continues but it has lifted and falls behind us, our trench is free. We seize the hand-grenades, pitch them out in front of the dug-out and jump after them. The bombardment has stopped and a heavy barrage now falls behind us. The attack has come.

No one would believe that in this howling waste there could still be men; but steel helmets now appear on all sides out of the trench, and fifty yards from us a machine-gun is already in position and barking.

The wire-entanglements are torn to pieces. Yet they offer some obstacle. We see the storm-troops coming. Our artillery opens fire. Machine-guns rattle, rifles crack. The charge works its way across. Haie and Kropp begin with the hand-grenades. They throw as fast as they can, others pass them, the handles with the strings already pulled. Haie throws seventy-five yards, Kropp sixty, it has been measured, the distance is important. The enemy as they run cannot do much before they are within forty yards.

We recognize the distorted faces, the smooth helmets; they are French. They have already suffered heavily when they reach the remnants of the barbed-wire entanglements. A whole line has gone down before our machine-guns; then we have a lot of stoppages and they come nearer.

I see one of them, his face upturned, fall into a wire cradle. His body collapses, his hands remain suspended as though he were praying. Then his body drops clean away and only his hands with the stumps of his arms, shot off, now hang in the wire.

The moment we are about to retreat three faces rise up from the ground in front of us. Under one of the helmets a dark pointed beard and two eyes that are fastened on me. I raise my hand, but I cannot throw into those strange eyes; for one mad moment the whole slaughter whirls like a circus around me, and these two eyes that are alone motionless; then the head rises up, a hand, a movement, and my hand-grenade flies through the air and into him.

The forward trenches have been abandoned. Are they still trenches? They are blown to pieces, annihilated—there are only broken bits of trenches, holes linked by tracks, nests of craters, that is all. But the enemy's casualties increase. They did not count on so much resistance.

Nancy Tells Beamer of Roger, But Not About Their Marriage

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

Nancy Hollenbeck, young and beautiful, hears her mother's warning against a "poverty" marriage. She gives up Mat Tully, her newest beau, and cynically accepts the ardent attentions of Jack Beamer, married to wealth. On a mountain trip she meets Roger Decatur, a handsome ranger. He falls desperately in love with her, and despite her own wish to marry only for wealth, she succumbs to Roger's passionate pleading. After a hasty marriage, they spend a few ecstatic weeks in his mountain cabin. At times Nancy pictures the gay life of luxury she might be living married to Beamer. But though still madly in love with Roger, she goes away while he is off on a trip. At home she re-enters the old life, but does not disclose her secret marriage. In desperation she begs Roger to join her and—though long overdue—is still waiting for him in a hotel lobby when Jack Beamer enters.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXXI.

"YOU'RE darn right I'll buy you some tea. Champagne. Whisky. Cognac. Anything!" Jack Beamer smiled down into Nancy's woebegone face. "Come on, baby!"

He led the way toward the dining room, big, blustering, good-natured Jack. Feeling like a lost kitten whom someone had rescued. Nancy followed.

"Mr. Beamer!" The head waiter bowed. "And how are you today? Ah . . . let me see!" He considered the choicest table. "Henri, show Mr. Beamer . . ."

Henri was more than unctuous. He adjusted Nancy's chair; he wanted to take her coat; he rubbed his hands.

Another waiter brought her ice and butter with the air of one who treads on holy ground.

"Orange pekoe and toasted muffins as usual, sir? And marmalade. And the little sandwiches? Petits fours? Yes, sir . . . yes, sir."

Two handsome women at a nearby table nodded friendly greeting. An elderly gentleman in frock coat and pearl gray trousers and a tiny thread of scarlet ribbon in his buttonhole paused to speak to Jack, to be presented to Nancy.

The head waiter hovered, hissing directions out of the side of his mouth to Henri and the other waiter. Some young girls at another table looked and whispered, wondering who the celebrities were.

Nancy sipped the scalding tea. She nibbled on a sandwich. Ate another, and another ravenously. The color came back in her cheeks.

"Feel better?"

"Oh—lots—"

He offered a cigaret. "Now tell me all about it."

"About what?" She smiled at him shyly.

"You know—why you were here, and what's the trouble, and all about it. You looked as though you'd lost your best friend—"

"I thought I had—"

"Not while John Herbert Beamer is alive and kicking, baby! Listen, honey . . . trust me? Tell me what it was. . . . I know—you lost some money!"

"No, no, no—it's nothing, Jack—nothing."

"Baby, if you needed anything you'd come to me, wouldn't you? You'd let me help you? Say that you would. Whatever you want—whatever you need—"

"You're too good to me, Jack—you'll spoil me!"

"I want to spoil you. I want you to sit on a cushion, and what is it?—eat strawberries and cream!"

The tears that she had been holding back for an hour overflowed then. Her chin quivered . . . if he didn't stop sympathizing with her she'd break down and cry all over him . . . "If you say another kind word I'll yell . . . I'm so mis-miserable . . . you don't know . . . I can't tell you . . ."

And all of a sudden she was telling him. "I sat here all day waiting for a man, and he didn't come . . . wasn't that silly of me? Oh, don't laugh, Jack; it isn't funny, really. It's tragic. I haven't told you all that happened this summer. I should have. I don't know why I didn't . . . There was a ranger—"

"Strong and handsome. They're always strong and handsome. Six feet two in his stocking feet and—"

"Jack, don't laugh at me. I—"

"I'm not laughing, baby. You fell in love with him, is that it? Forgot your old Jack eating his heart out for you home—"

"But you were married!"

"I know, sweetheart. You couldn't forget that, could you? I shouldn't have expected you to. I should have got my freedom before I spoke. But, damn it—I loved you so—I had to tell you—"

He looked so big and wholesome and honest, leaning over the table to her, loving her with his eyes . . . forgiving her . . .

She hung her head. "I'm sorry," she whispered.

His comforting warm hand closed on hers. "So you thought you were in love with this fellow, and when it came to a showdown he didn't make the grade. Is that it?"

"Doesn't look like it," she said through tears.

He began to speak, gently, earnestly. "Nancy, we all make mistakes. I made mine. You almost made yours—"

"Oh, I did—I did—"

"Pull yourself together, baby. Powder your nose, there's the girl. Pull your hat a little more over your eyes, that's it. . . . Listen, it doesn't matter. You fell for this fellow, and you thought you were going to lead the grand outdoor life and renounce everything . . especially your poor old rich boy . . . and he filled you to the neck about the great open spaces and what not, and the first time he made a date with you in the big city he missed . . . is that right?

She gulped. "Partly . . . but I ought to tell you . . ."

"Say! I don't want to hear anything. Don't tell me any more about it—"

"But, Jack, I must. You don't understand. It was so beautiful in the meadows above the valley. Like the beginning of the world. Everything so fresh and new. Flowers . . . you never saw such flowers. And I used to go riding with him over those terrible trails . . . thousands of feet high, over the slippery shale, with canons and rivers down below and one misstep from your horse—"

"God, he had his nerve to take you. Suppose you'd fallen—"

"But Jack, nobody falls! The horses, you know. They're so sure-footed. But it's a thrill. . . . I forget what I started to say. . . ."

"The strong, silent ranger, no doubt." He grinned sympathetically.

Unaccountably she smiled, too. "I suppose so . . . oh, yes . . . I was going to say . . ."

"Well, don't say it, sweetheart. The less we think about the unpleasant things of life, the better." A shadow crossed his face; he shivered slightly, as if he were cold. . . . He had thought of Anita, his wife.

He said, "Nancy, I'm married, as you reminded me. But I'll soon be free. And then nothing will keep us apart. I know you think it isn't very romantic, marrying somebody like me, instead of a strong, silent woodsman—"

"Jack—please—"

"All right, I won't rub it in. But dear, you see who really loves you, don't you? And baby, if you had married him it wouldn't have worked. You weren't made for that sort of thing. You were made for luxury . . .pearls, furs, the bright lights . . .yes, you were; don't shake your head at me! And baby, that isn't all. You wouldn't make a wife for a fellow like that; he wouldn't even want you long; you wouldn't be the right kind of woman. Sounds brutal to say it, but when he saw you couldn't do the washing, and didn't want to be left to dry-mold in his shanty, he'd see his mistake, too."

She hung her head. "I guess you're right, Jack."

"You're darn right I'm right!"

He lit another cigaret for her. She took a few puffs and laid it down. "It must be late—Jack—I must go—I'll be late home—" She must get away. Have time to think. To think it all over. And decide . . .decide something . . .

"Whatever you say, dear." He signalled for the check. Waiters scampered. "Mr. Beamer, Henri!" . . . Mr. Beamer wishes to leave!"

"Jack—I can't ever thank you—" He was sending her home in a taxi.

"Don't be silly. Go home and get a good rest. I'll call you in the morning—'Bye!"

But just as the taxi man was closing the door Jack Beamer changed his mind.

Sayings of Mrs. Solomon

By HELEN ROWLAND

Fads of Women

VERILY, my Daughter, the fads of a woman are numberless, and they vary with her moods and the seasons. Lo, she is the "Advertiser's Delight," for she believeth everything she readeth in the papers.

Behold, yesterday, did she subsist upon a lettuce leaf and a slice of pineapple, that she might become svelt and shadowy and anaemic. But, today she calleth for vitamins and bareth her back to the rays of the sun, that she may become HUSKY.

* * *

Yesterday, did she count her calories; and spinach was her staff of life. But, today, she placeth her faith in calves' liver, and pinneth her hope upon the thyroid pill and the yeast-cake.

HELEN ROWLAND

Yesterday, did she secretly dally with the peroxide bottle and seek the aid of the face-bleach, saying: "If gentlemen prefer blondes, then shall I be a blonde, though I dye in the attempt!"

* * *

But, today, she squandereth her shekels upon "sun-tan powder," and permitteth her nose and her legs and her shoulders to blister, that they may appear as the blackamoor's. For, the dusky beauty hath displaced the pink and yellow siren, according to the prophets and the beauty doctors.

Yesterday, did she shear her locks and shingle them man-fashion, and all her ways were the ways of a hoyden and a wild woman. Yea, with trousers and cigarets and much near-profanity, she sought to be a little brother to the hoodlum, and called it being "collegiate."

* * *

But, today, behold her, all frills and coquetry, long-haired, ruffled and full of swank and propriety. Yea, she is a perfect LADY!

Why then, do men gnash their teeth and tear their hair, at the escapades of woman? For, whatsoever she may do, today, she will not do the SAME thing tomorrow. And, whatsoever her follies tomorrow, they will be forgotten for a NEW pose, within the year.

* * *

Verily, she is as a continuous variety show, whereof the program constantly changeth, and no two acts are alike.

* * *

But man is as an automatic device, which reacteth always in the same way, to the same stimulus. That which he hath done last season, he shall do next season, and for all the seasons to come.

* * *

And, in all the days of his life, there are only two times, when he taketh thought for his appearance and seeketh to become a dandy. In his youth, when he suffereth from First Love, and hath a flair for pomade and violent cravats. And, in the ripe years, when he goeth in for rejuvenation hair-tonics, vibrators, spotted neckwear and flappers.

* * *

In between, he is complacent and self-content, and asketh only that his shoes and his collar be comfortable, and his meals plentiful and palatable.

* * *

But, from the cradle to the coffin, a woman stageth a vaudeville show, and starreth herself in a new role every season!

Love's Awakening

A Continuation of Love's Embers

By ADELE GARRISON

Mary Learns That Eleanor Is Really Princess Olina

AS Mary told me of the proposal of marriage she had overheard Eleanor Lincoln make to Noel Veritzen, I wondered how long it would be before the girl's keen wits would discover something I already knew.

I did not wish her to make that discovery just yet, not until I had the complete story of the proposal in my hands and I put a hurried question.

"What did Noel say?"

There was a struggle in her eyes between anger and a sort of contemptuous tenderness. But her voice was hard.

"What could he say? You know Noel. He's Don Quixote come to life with a windmill always on either hand. He couldn't be discourteous or hurt anybody's feelings so save his life. He wouldn't even squash an insect, and that's what she is—just a big June bug."

I got my laughter muscles under control just in time to hear her go on.

"If she had the brains of a mosquito, she would have seen that Noel wasn't at all pepped over her magnificent offer. But the poor goof made as good a showing as he could, and he finally jerked out something that sounded as if he'd copped it from an old etiquette book.

"Why! my dear Eleanor!' he said. 'I had no idea—you have honored me—made me very happy. I shall do my best to make you happy.' Honest to Agnes, Auntie Madge, that was the sort of spiel he handed her. If I hadn't been feeling just then as if I'd been bounced out of a fourteenth story window and was just passing the second story, I'd have snickered my fool head off.

"I guess he kissed her then. It sounded like it, and of course she didn't waste any time in clinching the bargain after she'd struck it. But little Mary wasn't staying to hear any more. She turned around theo ther way and went about a quarter of a mile out of her way to get back to her car."

I had a sudden vision of a heartsick girl stumbling through the wooded paths of The Larches, and my throat was suddenly dry with sympathy for the child who was so bravely concealing her pain under a mask of flippancy.

"If Noel had been anybody else in the world but himself he never would have fallen for that bunk," she went on. "For I don't believe he really cares for her—not so soon—after—"

She was suddenly a bewildered child, and I did not remind her that time had nothing to do with the changing of a man's heart. But I did say promptly what I sincerely believed.

"I am sure he does not love her, Mary. I am also sure that this engagement will not be a permanent one. I don't believe—" I stopped short, for Mary was leaning forward excitedly and grabbing at my hands.

"I've got it, Auntie Madge! It's all fitting in together like a puzzle picture. All the mystery about Eleanor, and I remember a picture I saw, and that story about the sick Transvanian princess being carried on board ship. I thought she was cuckoo when she talked that way to Noel, but it's because she had that Divine rights thing in her head. Auntie Madge, isn't Eleanor Lincoln, the missing Princess Olini of Transvania?"

"Yes, Mary, she is," I acknowledged quietly, wondering apprehensively in which direction her next conjecture would go.

She sank back against her pillows, her eyes wide with anstonishment.

"Well! wouldn't that put green candles on a purple cake?" she murmured. Then a little flame of anger lighted in her eyes.

"And with all she has, she had to come over here and grab off Noel," she said, and added vindictively, "but I know a way to pay her off and punish him, too, for being such a sap. Look here, Auntie Madge, how much truth is there in that yarn of George and Eleanor's being playmates over in Europe? D'ye suppose George is her husband or brother or some other relative?"

"I am sure not," I said, shutting off a laugh abruptly. "I have every reason to believe that the story of their being playmates is true."

"Then he's probably some baron or something around the court," Mary said, her eyes brightening as her girlish imagination took hold of the idea. "I can tell you one thing, Auntie Madge, I don't believe Eleanor or Olina—I'll never get used to calling her that—really loves Noel—he's just a novelty to her. If you've noticed she's jealous as the gentleman from the griddle whenever Geofge looks crosswise at me. And believe me, she's going to have something to worry about from now on. I can go to sleep now, Auntie Madge. But don't let me sleep in the morning. I've got a nice little cord of wood to saw, and I want to get busy."

TRITON AND MERMAID

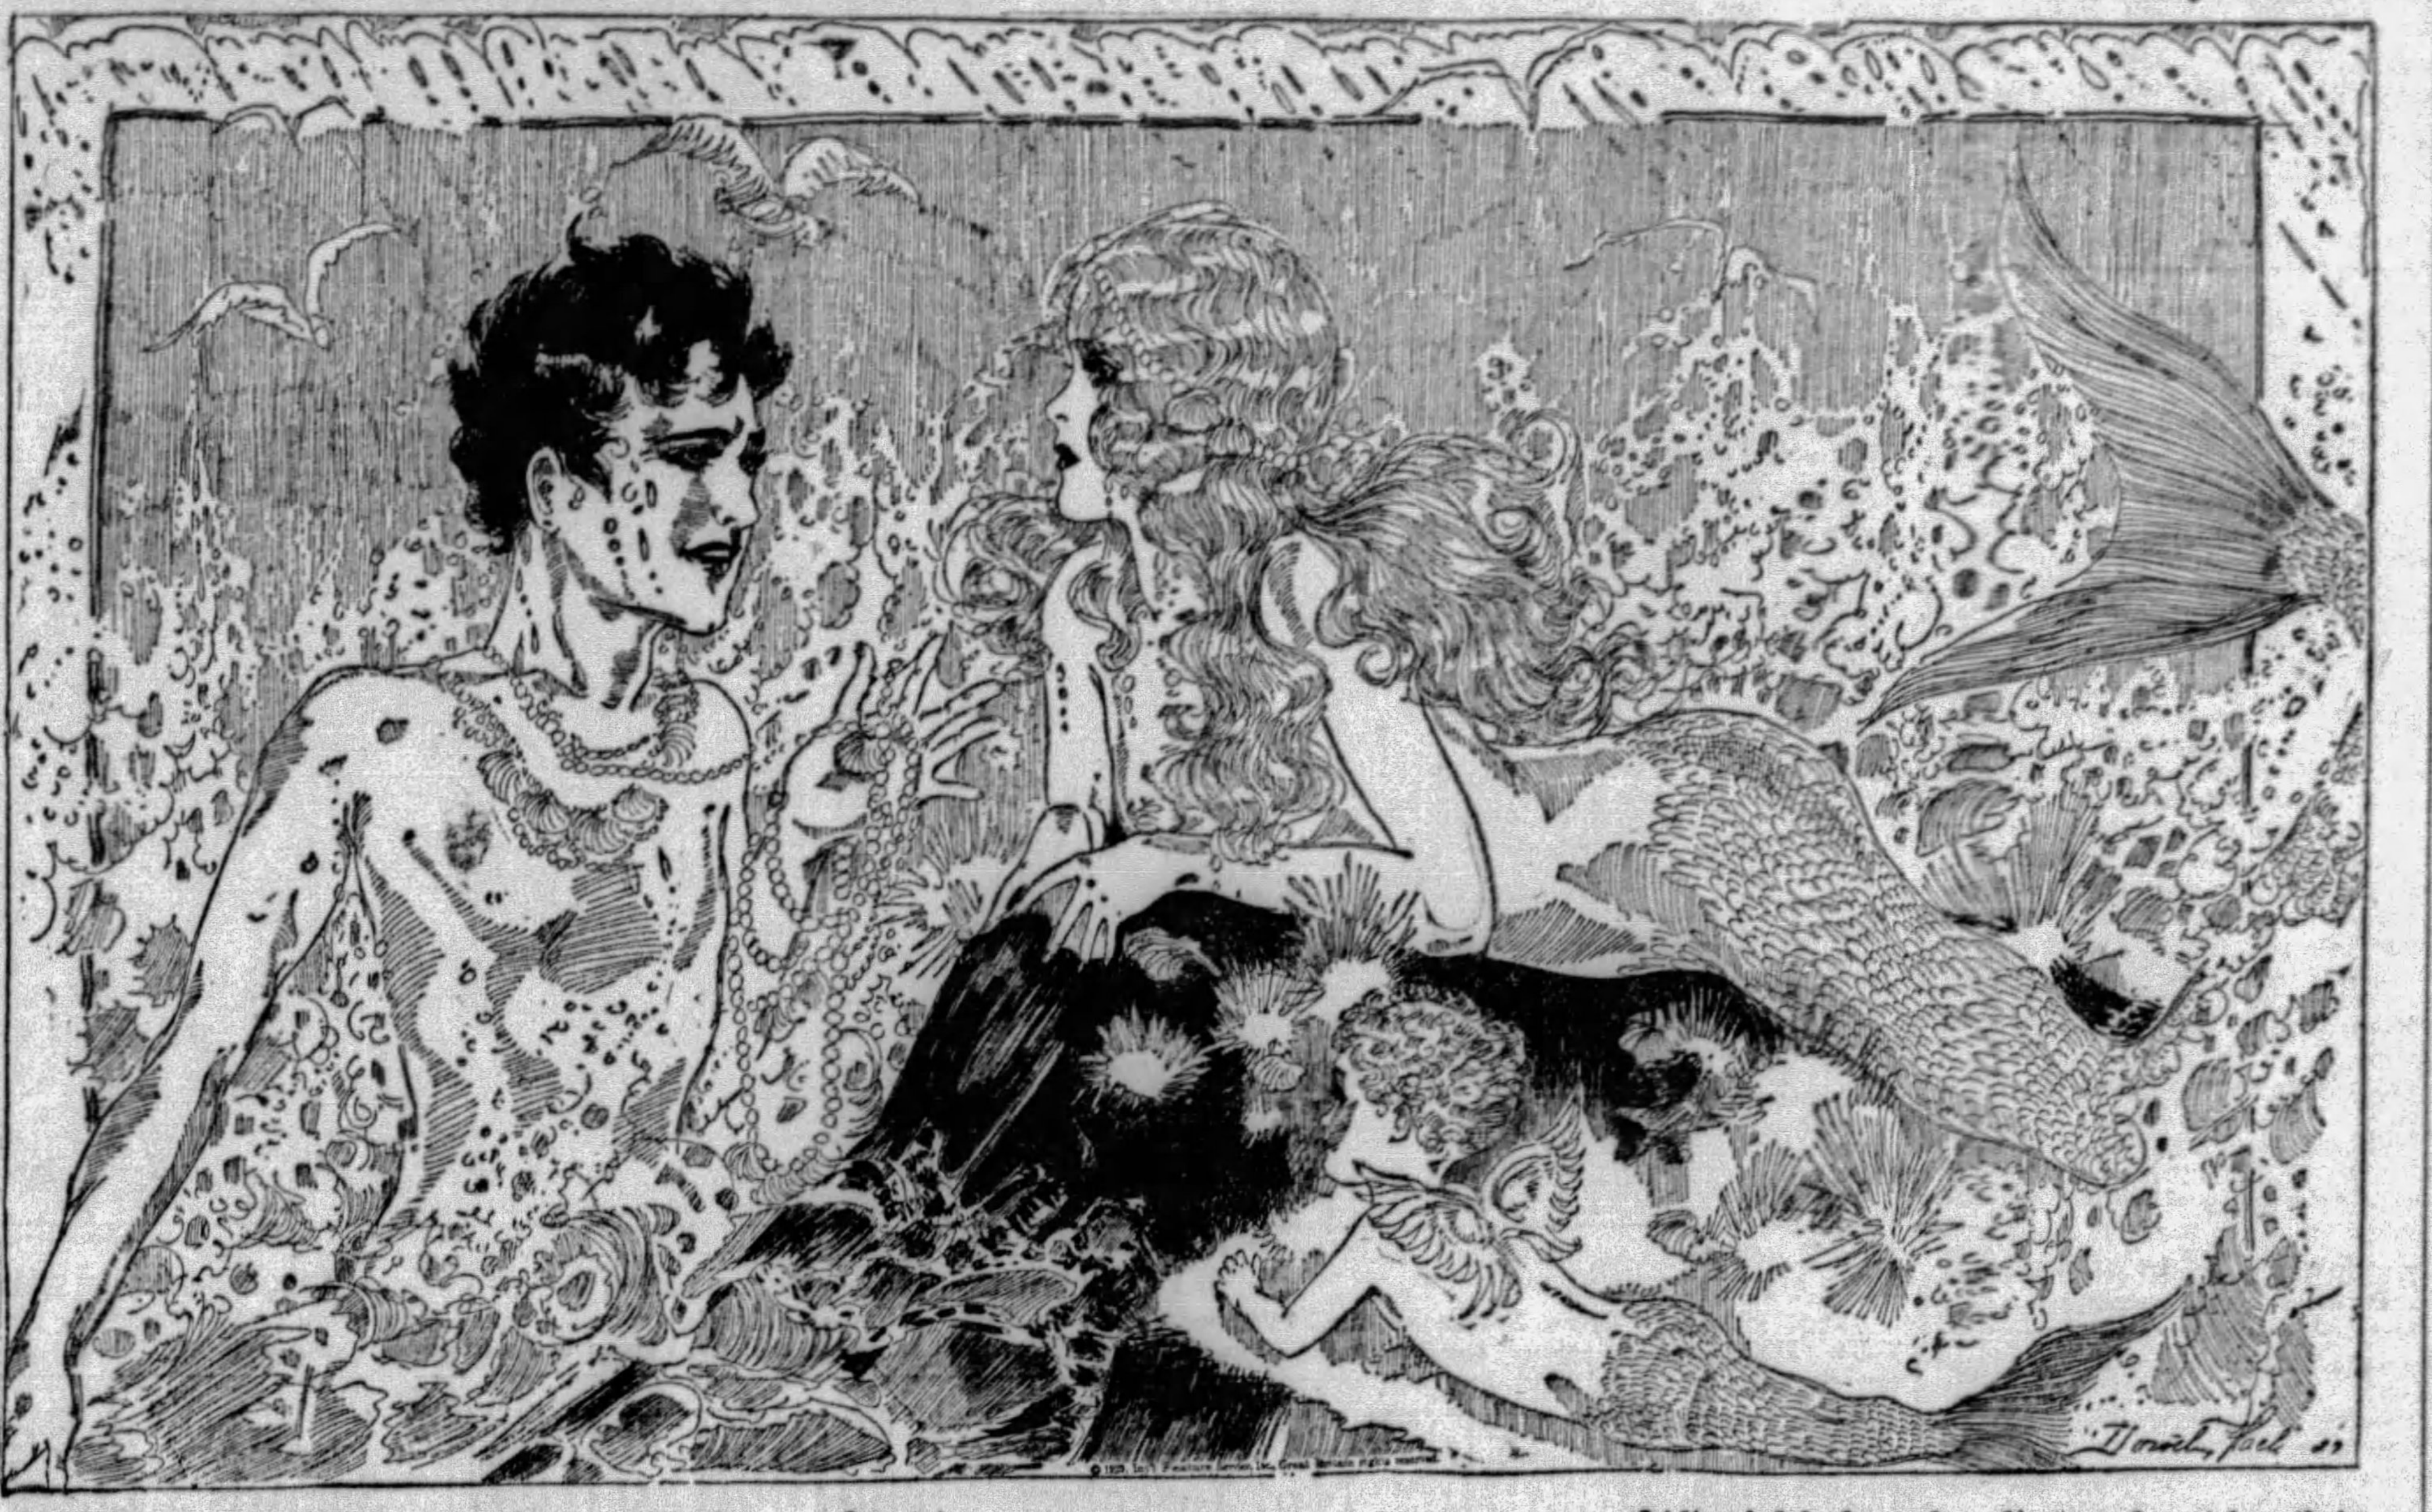
Drawn by Dorothy Flack



THERE'S no question about it—Dan Cupid is the most versatile chap in the world—bar none! Of course, there are some who may dispute this statement, but they'll find that it's really no use at all! Wherever he finds someone on whom he can work his magic and potent love spells, there he is! Chuckling and planning and scheming to bring two hearts together.

But he's such a lovable sort of a scamp that you simply can't deny him! In fact, you simply don't dare to!

Even the depths of the ocean aren't beyond his domain. The tritons and the mermaids need him just as much as do we humans! So, in order to be one of them, he adopts their form and you see him drifting through the waves seeking hearts! And what's more he finds them!

The poor Triton who thought his sole duty in life was to blow the conch shell that would calm the waves, suddenly finds himself face to face with love in the person of an adorable mermaid! And Dan hiding behind a rock, directs and watches their every move!

Ah, me! Hearts are hearts and love is love whether it be human or fabled! So the Triton blows his most lovely song on the conch shell and the little mermaid listens entranced—and the first thing you know Father Neptune will be called on to give his blessing and preside at whatever ceremony it is they will go through—and the wedding of the Triton and the Mermaid will go down in the deep sea history as the greatest happening of all times!

How to Keep Well

By DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

Protect Foodstuffs From Contamination

IT is too bad for any one of us to feel that disease is inevitable. Death is inevitable and by one cause or another each of us will be swept into eternity. But there are some diseases, and common diseases at that, that we really have no business to have.

DR. COPELAND

For instance, there is "Summer diarrhoea." "Dysentery," "flux"—it makes no difference what you call it, this ailment is all too common. Why have it at all?

Ninety-nine times out of a hundred, Summer diarrhoea is the direct result of eating improper or contaminated food. While all the life forces may be lowered in excessively hot weather, there could be no such disturbance of digestion without taking the wrong things into the stomach.

No matter how well food is produced and how carefully it is handled, there is sure to be some contact with germs or bacteria. Fortunately most of these organisms are friendly ones. Indeed, they may be forms of life that are quite essential to our welfare.

On the other hand, too many of them are anything but friendly. They are real enemies, capable of making us very sick.

But even if they are dangerous when taken into our bodies in large numbers, we are strong enough to resist them if their numbers are not too great. It is when the food is submitted to wrong conditions after it is purchased, that the danger becomes a real menace to health.

Unless the perishable foods are kept all the time at a temperature of 50 degrees or less any germs that may be present will speedily multiply. In 24 hours a few germs will become a billion.

Any perishable food, you see, may be changed from something valuable to health to something positively dangerous. It is not the food, of course, but the germ life and poisons developed within it that make it capable of causing serious illness.

Among the other possible effects of heat upon the food is the development of germs that cause diarrhoea. Summer dysentary is what happens to one who has eaten food contaminated in this manner.

Milk and meat, vegetables and fruits, everything that is uncanned or unprotected by its own natural coverings, may speedily spoil. Even though the senses of taste and smell may not reveal it, there may be such spoilage, such germ growth, as to make the food unfit for human use.

If you refuse to eat in doubtful places and take pains properly to refrigerate the foods in your own home you are reasonably safe. The certanty of good health is promoted by buying nothing except sound, fresh raw foods.

A.—Eat plenty of good nourishing food, including milk, eggs, fresh fruits and vegetables. Make sure that the bowels eliminate properly. Exercise daily in the open air and practice deep breathing. Take cod liver oil after meals as a general tonic and builder.

H. O. P. Q.—What should be done for a mucus deposit in the kidney elimination, staining the clothing? The condition is accompanied by backache. Would this be caused by a sinus and antrum disturbance which has lasted over a good many years?

2.—Is it advisable for a young woman of 30 to dye her hair—it is beginning to turn gray?

A.—Have a careful urinalysis and then definite treatment can be outlined. The diet probably has an important bearing on this condition. The infection from the nasal disturbance would tend to aggravate the general condition.

2.—No, if the hair is kept immaculately clean and well groomed the fact that it is turning gray should not be a detriment. A good hair tonic might be helpful.

Miss J. T. Q.—What causes varicose veins in the legs? Will massaging prove harmful? I am past 50 years of age.

A.—Undue exertion or strain, often due to long standing, for instance. Keep off the feet as much as possible and try wearing an elastic stocking or bandage on the leg during the daytime. If the trouble is very painful or of long standing, more drastic measures may be necessary.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

An Admirable Ambition

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

1. Would you please tell me how "all right" is spelled? Is it one or two words? I was told it was spelled "alright," but I do not think that is correct.

2—Why can I not write straight? I wonder if anyone else has trouble. At what angle should I hold my paper? I seem to twist it in all angles. No matter how straight my lines are at the beginning, they are sure to be running down at the end, as you see. This is better than usual. STUPID.

1—YOU are correct. The spelling is "all right"—two words.

2—I don't know much about reading handwriting, but perhaps if there is anything in it, you have such a predominating characteristic that makes you write downward that you will have to conquer that first in order to write straight. But I think not. The lines of the letter that you wrote to me were straight, and I believe if you do a little "trial handwriting" in holding the paper, you will determine the best angle. And try to train your eye to see the line of handwriting finished.

And I object to your signature. Since you have a mind that is willing to learn, and since you will take the trouble to write a letter in order to learn, you cannot be stupid. So don't let yourself ever think of the word in connection with yourself.

Some Pleasing Comment

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN:

Recently I asked my best friend (a young man) to dinner with me at home. Upon finishing the meal, he made no comment, while I expected him to say to mother: "Mrs. Brown, I have enjoyed the dinner very much," or, at least, to make some comment. Did he do the proper thing, or should he have made some pleasing comment? S. J.

INDEED, you expected him to do just the thing that he should have done. An invitation of this kind indicates such delightful courtesy and hospitality it should be acknowledged by a guest with an expression of appreciation. Your own phrase, "some pleasing comment," just hits the nail on the head as to what he should have said.

I hope that he will observe soon that polite and appreciative guests thank for hospitality. Then his hostesses will not wait in vain for a friendly "Thank you so much, Mrs. Brown, for a very happy evening," or, "It was most kind of you to ask me to come to your house this evening, and I have enjoyed every minute. Thank you so much."

These phrases, which thank for the thought of the invitation and the hospitality, are better than thanking for the dinner itself. You see, it is taken for granted that the dinner is good, so one thanks for the thought of the hostess, rather than for the dinner.

Horoscopes

Sunday, July 28.

SUNDAY'S horoscope shows the conventional affairs of the Sabbath thriving and promising. All that pertains to church, clergy, charity and to the social and friendly intercourse of the laity should make sturdy progress. The mind and the energies will be found attuned to these things, which will bring benefits.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of sturdy growth and advancement, attained through industry, diligence and sound judgment as well as through the stimulus of an alert and speculative mind. This will be supported by personal popularity and social contacts, attended by domestic peace and pleasures.

A child born on this day may be clever, artistic and popular, and may win place and possessions by its industry and talents as well as by its personal good graces and bright disposition and mind.

Monday, July 29.

CONFLICTING conditions prevail on this day, according to the contradictory operations of important planets. While the outstanding figure sustains intrigue, conspiracy, subtlety and secret agreements and negotiations, yet there are some sinister aspects and some making for defeat, duplicity and fraud or slander. The employment and good name are in jeopardy, although there are some promising changes and some well-fortified financial outlooks. But be cautious and discreet.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year of conflicting promises. While there are signs of large deals with important institutions, and a measure of financial success, with new opportunities, yet on the whole there is sign of fraud, craft and misrepresentation. Employment as well as the good name are in peril.

A child born on this day may have many excellent talents, with skill and ingenuity in many lines of endeavor, yet it may prosper most through intrigue, schemes and conspiracies.

Pittsburghers Entered In Golf Tournaments At Summer Resorts

WHEN there is an ocean or a lake nearby, the interest of most summer resorters is fairly well concentrated on water sports. But who could expect golf to be placed very far in the background? It has, in fact, been one of the main items of interest on the calendar during the last week at Watch Hill. A four-ball foursome handicap for women has been in progress all week, and today an invitation game with teams from the Narragansett summer colony is on the cards, with another scheduled for Monday.

This afternoon about 40 players, both men and women, from Narragansett, are guests of a team from the local colony at luncheon in the Misquamicut Golf Club, with foursome play following. On Monday 12 women from Narragansett will meet 12 Misquamicut players, and a number of entertainments have been planned for the visitors. Mrs. Harry Darlington and Mrs. William S. Moorhead, by the way, are among the players in the four-ball foursome.

In the White Mountains, too, golf holds its own in the interests of the summer colonists. During the coming week six teams of the White Mountains Inter-Hotel Golf League will play their first in the season's weekly series of matches.

HUSBAND SUES WIFE'S FATHER

Suit for $100,000 damages for alleged alienation of the affections of his wife has been filed in Common Pleas Court by Paul J. Bolger, 4017 Liberty avenue, against his father-in-law, F. E. Markwell, of Connellsville.

Bolger says in his suit that he married Helen M. Markwell, daughter of the defendant, at Connellsville April 23, 1918, and that for 10 years they lived together happily. In 1928 he says Markwell began making statements to his daughter about her husband which caused her to become discontented and quarrelsome and indifferent.

Prior to this time Bolger had been employed by Markwell. When he severed this business connection, he says Markwell made the statement that he would cause his daughter to leave Bolger. While spending last winter in Florida Markwell induced his daughter to visit him, Bolger says, and there continued his persuasion until on May 25 his daughter left Bolger. A trial jury is demanded by Bolger.

BUICK, WILLYS MODELS HERE

The 1930 models of the Buick and Willys-Knight automobiles were introduced to the public today. Thousands of Pittsburghers inspected the new cars. The Buick is being shown by the Pittsburgh branch of the Buick Motor Company and members of the district dealers' ssociation and the Willys-Knight by the Rea-Seagert Company and associated dealers.

The new Buick is offered in 14 models. Among the innumerable improvements one of the most notable is an increase in the engine bore giving a gain of eight per cent in power. The new Willys-Knight Great Six, in four body styles, is wholly different in appearance from any car previously turned out by the company. The beauty of design won many compliments.

The Sun-Telegraph Fifteen Cent Pattern

A PRETTY EVENING GOWN.

As pictured the waist portions and drapery are of taffeta studded with rhine stones, and the flounces are of tulle over a foundation skirt of taffeta. Lace over satin or taffeta would also be pleasing for this design or printed chiffon with the drapery of satin or taffeta ribbon. The long waist portions join the skirt and flounces (which are mounted on the skirt) at a split curve in front, and in straight outline in the back. The neck opening is round and low in front; in the back it is U shaped.

The pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. To make the dress for a 38-inch size will require 4¾ yards of 39-inch material. For waist and drapery of contrasting material 2 yards will be required 27 inches wide. The width of the foundation skirt, at the lower edge is 1½ yards. The width of the lower flounce is 2¼ yards with fulness extended.

COUPON.

This pattern will be sent on receipt of 15 cents (silver or 2c and 1c stamps). Make number, name, address, etc., plain. Send to Pattern Department, The Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, Pittsburgh, Pa.

Huntington, railroad and financial magnate.

Her will provided that practically all of her estate, which consisted largely of a trust fund of $1,000,000 created for her by her father, was to go to friends made during her long residence abroad. The will was attacked by three grand nephews and a grand-niece living in Pasadena, Cal., and by another grand nephew, Edwin W. Prentice, who is represented by counsel here. All of the legatees under the will will be called to testify.

50 MORE BEDS AT ASPINWALL

Charles A. Gebert, department commander of the American Legion in Pennsylvania stated that he has just received a letter from Gen. Hines, director of the Veterans' Bureau, Washington, to the effect that funds have been made available from the current $15,000,000 construction authorization for the provision of 50 general and medical beds at the Aspinwall Hospital, located at Aspinwall, Pa.

Commander Gebert stated:

"The additional beds at Aspinwall could not be assured by Director Hines until after the cost of some of the larger projects was determined, such as the construction of the new hospitals for Pennsylvania and New Jersey. Awards have been made for those two major undertakings, and it has been found possible to care for the additional beds at Aspinwall from the current authorization; and the incident construction will go forward at the earliest practicable date in proper relation to other projects contemplated throughout the service that are included in the program."

REYNOLDS HEIR TRIED AGAIN

LONDON, July 27.—(AP.)—Richard Joshua Reynolds, scion of one of the wealthiest families of North Carolina, appeared more nervous as his second trial on a manslaughter charge growing out of an automobile accident got under way in Old Bailey. He scrutinized closely each of the 11 men and one woman as they were being sworn in on the jury.

Reynolds was absolved of all blame for the mistrial declared when it was learned that the foreman of the jury at his first trial had talked with a witness. The trial was adjourned yesterday afternoon until Monday and Reynolds was again released in $5,000 bail.

HOSPITAL FUND HEADS NAMED

Mayor Charles H. Kline, Congressman Clyde Kelly, President of Council James F. Malone and Dr. G. Giarato, local Italian consul, head the campaign committee announced today by the directors of the Belvedere General Hospital for that institution's $50,000 expansion fund, the first public appeal for financial aid it ever has made. The campaign opens today and will continue for several weeks.

The Belvedere General Hospital, a three-story brick institution at 541 Paulson avenue, has subsisted since it was founded in 1921 by Dr. G. W. Alvin, without other financial support than that given by its sponsors. The present appeal, according to Dr. Alvin, who is its superintendent, is necessitated by an insufficient state appropriation allotted to it this year, and by "desperate lack of space to care for hundreds of cases."

One of the high spots of the campaign will be the annual hospital ball at the William Penn Hotel on October 23, the proceeds of which will be turned into the campaign fund. Headquarters for the $50,000 campaign have been opened at 209 Investment Building, Fourth avenue. Dr. John S. Mackrell, of the hospital staff, has been named treasurer for the drive.

STOCK MARKET PRICES MOVE IRREGULARLY

Pacific Lighting, Reading, Katy Recede—Utilities Power, Coca Cola Gain

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—Wide irregularity in price movement again developed at the opening of today's stock market. Pacific Lighting dropped 2½ points and Columbia Graphophone, "Katy" preferred and Reading yielded a point or so. Utilities Power and Light opened with a block of 5,000 shares at 55, up fractionally, and a new high record. Coca Cola advanced a point.

The Federal Reserve Board's monthly review, calling attention to the increased use of credit in securities speculation, brought further selling into the stock market overnight. The possibility of adverse developments in the Far East over the week-end also led many cautious traders to take profits or reduce their commitments in the early trading.

Selling pressure appeared to increase as the session progressed. American Telephone dropped 3 points in further response to the report that no stock dividends, subscription rights or new financing was contemplated in the near future. Marmon Motors, Air Reduction, Westinghouse Electric and Radio each fell 2 points or more, while early declines of a point or so were registered by Bethlehem and Republic Steels, Johns Manville, Allied Chemical, General Electric and Remington Rand.

Rails showed a firmer undertone, Atchison and Delaware and Hudson quickly rising 2 points. Bullish tendencies also were apparent in Baldwin Locomotive, Safeway Stores, Eastman Kodak, Allis Chalmers, National Cash Register and Commercial Investment Trust.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, with sterling cables unchanged at $4.85⅝.

Rail War Unlikely.

Some observers profess to see a wide rail war in the move by Wabash to acquire a fifth trunk line system in the East. But the wise don't see it that way. They know that trade wars are out of date. People no longer car to invest their money in any but stabilized industries. A railroad war, so the Street holds, would mean drastic cuts in freight and passenger rates, and the I. C. C. might have something to say about that. Strikes are out of fashion, and the theory that competition is the life of trade is no longer very popular with the 10,000,000 people who have invested money in securities.

Investment Trusts.

There is no getting around the fact that investment trusts, insurance companies, holding companies and other enterprises in that class have been heavy buyers of some of the standard stocks. And buying of this kind, strange to relate, has been in the high priced issues, stocks that have scored gains of 50 to 100 points over the past year or so. More interesting is the fact that investment trusts that brought stocks 50 to 100 points lower have not been selling.

U. S. Steel's Bonds.

After United States Steel announced it would retire the balance of its funded debt, some said the news was disappointing. Another disappointing piece of news is then forthcoming, as it will not be a great while before Steel will announce the retirement of its subsidiary bonds. Some day Steel may retire its preferred stock, leaving the common the only capital obligation, and this may prove another disappointment.

Alleghany Corporation.

Alleghany Corporation, the investment trust formed by the Van Sweringens last January, shows appreciation in securities it holds of considerably more than $35,000,000. The estimate of an increase of $35,000,000 in the market prices of the securities over their cost is a minimum. It does not assume that any appreciation has taken place in the Wheeling and Lake Erie Railway stocks, which were purchased from the New York Central and the Baltimore and Ohio last spring.

Scale Buying.

Scale buying during all the recent recessions has been an important factor in keeping stability in the market. Many of those who missed stocks on the last advance have been picking up the leading issues on the setbacks, so that profit taking has encountered quite a good demand.

R. R. Stock Financing.

A growing ability and desire on the part of railroads to accomplish their financing by common stock issues is indicated by a statistical study of stock and bond offerings by Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., showing that railroads have issued more than $352,000,000 in new common stock in the last six years.

C. I. T. in Aviation.

Commercial Investment Trust Corporation has signed insurance contracts with two old-line companies which will be the basis of its future financing in the aviation field. It is planned to furnish maximum protection not only to the finance corporation, but to individuals and air line operators.

Columbia Gas Co. To Acquire National

NEW YORK, July 27.—It is reported that the Columbia Gas and Electric Corporation is planning to acquire the National Fuel Gas Company, successor to the dissolved natural gas trust which was affiliated with the old Standard Oil trust.

The National Fuel Gas Company, whose assets exceed $50,000,000, owns and controls directly or indirectly the Pennsylvania Gas Company, the Pennsylvania Oil Company, the Provincial Natural Gas and Fuel Company of Ontario, Ltd., the United Natural Gas Company, the Sylvania Corporation, Saint Mary's Natural Gas Company, the Ridgway Natural Gas Company, the Mars Company, the Iroquois Gas Corporation and the Iroquois Building Corporation.

Baldwin Gets Big Locomotive Order

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—Baldwin Locomotive Works received an order from Chilean Railway for 16 passenger locomotives amounting to $600,000, making a total of $5,000,000 in orders since July 1.

Baldwin Locomotive Works has 6,000 men on its payrolls at the present time and the number is being steadily increased. The management considers this a better indicator of operations than percentage figures which are liable to various interpretations. As indicated by increasing employment, operations are being gradually speeded up.

Chicago Trade Seat Price Up $2,000

Number of Failures Total 400 in Week

NEW YORK, July 27.—Commercial failures in the United States rose to 400 last week, an increase of 24 from the previous week, says R. G. Dun & Co. The total compares with 356 a year ago.

Holdover Grain Threatens New Crop

BISMARCK, N. D., July 27.—While railroads in the Northwest have sufficient grain cars to handle the new crop, there is serious threat of congestion in the movement unless primary market terminals are soon emptied of some of their 1928 holdover grain. This was the sentiment expressed at the annual crop movement meeting of the Northwest shippers' advisory board here.

Curtis Mosher, general chairman of the advisory board, said farmers would probably sell their wheat immediately after threshing and expressed the hope that European buyers would make heavy purchases before the new crop moves, relieving Minneapolis and head of the lakes elevators, now about 50 per cent filled with last year's grain.

Richman Brothers To Expand Factory

A substantial expansion of the Cleveland factory of the Richman Brothers Co., manufacturers of men's clothes, in anticipation of the establishing of an extensive chain of neighborhood stores and to accommodate the four new stores already opening this year, is announced by N. R. Richman, chairman of the company.

The expansion will add 100,000 square feet of floor space to the plant and will be occupied by shops, cutting rooms and sponging rooms. The increase in production facilities will require the augmenting of the present force of nearly 3,000 at the factory by approximately 800 new workers.

Cleveland Scrap Prices Advanced

Heavy melting steel scrap prices have advanced at Cleveland to $15.50 and $15.75 from $15 and $15.50.

STOCKS EXTEND ADVANCES HERE

Blaw Knox, Union Steel and Steel Spring All Sell at New High Record Prices

Further new high records were chalked up in the industrial section of the local market today.

Blaw Knox, Union Steel Casting and Standard Steel Spring, the three leaders in the week's upturn, all sold at new high prices in the abbreviated week-end session this morning. Semi-official reports that the Blaw Knox-Union Steel Casting consolidation will be announced shortly stimulated further buying in the issues. As yet there has been no definite word as to the exchange basis for the stocks, but the Street has heard rumors of an offer of 87½ shares of Blaw Knox for 100 Union Steel.

Standard Steel Spring lifted its high at the start today, topping yesterday's best price on the local board, but failing to exceed the figure recorded on the New York Curb, where the stock has also been enjoying a strong market. Earnings of the company have expanded sensationally this year and it is understood results for the first six months to June 30 were equal to about $8 a share on the stock. This would compare with $10.80 a share for the entire 12 months of 1928.

In the fuel section Arkansas Gas had a further rally to around 17. On the break this week the stock sold down to 13¾. Lone Star was steady as was Western Public Service, but both were dull.

Whitney a Morgan Comer; Mitchell Analyzes Money

By B. C. FORBES

THE question was recently asked in this column, "Is prosperity lop-sided?"

That question was prompted by the large number of letters received from readers complaining that they themselves were not enjoying anything even approaching prosperity and that in their communities the prosperity seemed to be confined to relatively few people.

The replies received to the question practically all say "Yes."

Some readers declare that a greatly exaggerated idea of our so-called prosperity has been created by the spectacular rise in many stocks.

But these readers declare rather bitterly that, after all, the great mass of ordinary folks do not speculate and therefore have not made money in the stock market. The very fact that so much money has been made by speculation—at least made on paper—has exercised no consoling influence upon those who have been finding the going quite hard.

The complaints come mainly from, first, wage earners, especially from those thrown out of work because of mergers, and, second, from small business men, including retailers in various lines.

Personally, I have become convinced that there is unhappily only too much ground for these complaints.

ADVERSITY tests. Coleman Du Pont, until two or three years ago one of the strongest specimens of manhood in America, became stricken and for a long time has not been able to be around. Although he was extraordinarily active, achieving success in more lines than almost any other man in the country, and although his enforced inactivity must be galling, he never whimpers nor rails against fate. He, in his infirmity is proving himself just as courageous as he did when he first swung a pick in a coal mine and when he tackled venture after venture which called for herculean work.

It was Gen. Du Pont, more recently United States Senator, who, as a gift, built a unique highway through Delaware. Because of his genial nature, the General was as frequently "touched" as any man in America. His heart always has been as soft as his muscles were hard—he was famous for his feats of strength.

J. P. MORGAN'S partner who has been the mainspring of the firm's huge-scale activities in the public utility field, is, I am told, George Whitney.

Although he is only a little past 40, young Whitney's name has been very frequently mentioned in the financial world during the last few years as one of the most promising of comers.

It is perhaps significant, in view of the Morgan firm's tremendous branching out into various new fields, that it includes a larger number of very young partners than any other financial house in the whole country. The House of Morgan is at least six times as active and as powerful as it ever was even in the heyday of the original J. P. Morgan, often called the "Colossus of Wall Street."

MUCH attention was created in the banking and financial world recently by a widely-quoted article by David Friday, who sought to prove that the United States has been passing through a period, not of credit inflation, but of credit deflation. This economist's arguments were so contrary to all accepted ideas that I asked Charles E. Mitchell, head of the National City Bank, the largest in America, for his analysis. Mr. Mitchell said:

"Mr. Friday's statement, so contrary to the obvious facts, is based on the erroneous assumption that bank deposits which are running under a year ago are of themselves adequate measures of variations in the credit volume. As a matter of fact they are not.

"For example, when a customer borrows from a bank and withdraws the proceeds in currency, we have a reduction of bank deposits without a concurrent decrease of loans. In other cases sale of open market securities by the reserve banks has the effect of reducing member bank deposits, but usually merely substitutes another form of bank liability in the shape of bills payable at the Federal bank without affecting the volume of member bank credit outstanding. Similarly subscriptions by shareholders to bank capital cause a reduction of deposits, but do not alter the banks' ability to finance business. In all these cases loans are a better measure of the amount of banking credit outstanding than deposits, and loans (including investments) of the reporting member banks on the last reporting date were $403,000,000 higher than a year ago.

"Where Mr. Friday, however, makes a more serious error is in ignoring the growth of credit outside the banking system, namely brokers' loans for account of others, which have increased by $1,198,000,000 in the last year. Inasmuch as these loans are made by individuals and corporations they do not lead to the creation of deposits as in the case of bank loans, but they are equally a part of the general credit structure, and in the event that any considerable proportion of them should be called they would have to be taken over by the banks to avoid a severe crash."

IT WILL be a miracle if, sooner or later, the presence of so much "bootleg" call money in Wall Street does not precipitate serious trouble.

GAS OBTAINING FUNDS AT 4 PER CENT

Offering of New Stock Brings $78,000,000 of New Money Into Treasury

NEW YORK, July 27.—Consolidated Gas Company directors have voted to offer 10 per cent additional common stock to present stockholders at $75 a share. Stock will be offered to shareholders of record September 16, in the ratio of one new share to every 10 now held subject to approval of the Public Service Commission. It is planned to issue the new stock by October 16. Company now has outstanding approximately 10,400,000 common shares.

The additional 10 per cent Consolidated Gas common stock, being offered to shareholders for subscription, will bring into the treasury approximately $78,000,000.

This financing may be regarded as the usual biennial raising of funds by this large public utility organization to provide needed expansion of physical properties.

SECOND LARGEST

It is the second largest amount of new financing ever done by Consolidated Gas a circumstance which is undoubtedly due in part to the larger capital needs now that the Brooklyn Edison Company is part of the Consolidated Gas system.

With the common selling around 146, rights to subscribe have a market value of about $6.50 each, giving the subscription right a total value of $67,600,000 on the 10,400,000 common shares which participate in the privilege.

4 PER CENT BASIS

Consolidation Gas common is on a regular dividend basis of $3 annually which doubtless will be maintained on the increased capital. At $75 a share for the new money, the company is getting its capital on a 4 per cent cost basis. No additional authorized stock will be required as there are 12,000,000 shares authorized of which 10,400,000 are issued and new issue will be outstanding common to about 11,440,000 shares.

Raising of new money every two years is customary with Consolidated Gas to meet its constant need for more plants and facilities. The last big financing was early in 1927 when 720,000 shares of common, one for five, were offered at $75 and 1,200,000 shares of 5 per cent preferred, one for three, at $91. This brought in $163,200,000 gross amount of new capital out of which $16,875,000 was used to retire the old preferred, $58,600,000 to liquidate bank loans and part of the balance to meet the $69,641,000 expended on plant expansion in 1927.

EXPENDITURES $70,000,000

Last year the Consolidated Gas System expended $59,510,000, net, for enlarging plant and facilities in the gas and electric business. It finished the year with $13,500,000 of bank loans. This year its expenditures for plant expansion should be around $70,000,000 so that the system is undoubtedly a heavier borrower from banks on open account now than at the end of 1928. It is customary for such borrowings to be liquidated by the new funds raised through sale of stock.

DENSE TERRITORY

Though it operates in a rather small territory, from an area standpoint, Consolidated Gas gets the benefit of centralized population in serving New York City and Westchester County with gas and electricity. This is evidenced by its gross of more than $212,000,000 and net profits of nearly $60,000,000 in 1928.

With its funded debt of $241,095,000 reckoned at par and taking current market value for its 2,077,350 shares preferred and 10,394,700 shares of common, Consolidated Gas system is selling in the market for $1,959,302,500.

Hercules Powder Earns $1.49 Share

NEW YORK, July 27.—Hercules Powder consolidated net income $1,096,492, quarter ended June 30, is equal after preferred dividends to $1.49 a share on 598,000 common shares against $930,046 or $1.24 on common in preceding quarter and $992,611 or $5.39 on 147,000 common shares in 1928 quarter.

Six months net, $2,035,538, is equal to $2.73 a share on common against $1,789,649 or $9.45 on common in 1928 period.

OIL INDUSTRY IMPROVING SLOWLY

Effects of Corrective Measures Probably Will Not Show Up This Year

NEW YORK, July 27.—Although there are signs of a correction of the crude oil overproduction situation, there are indications that this improvement will come about too late to exert its full effect during the remainder of this year.

From the angle of distribution of petroleum products, there has been definite weakness in gasoline prices both in the Midcontinent and Gulf areas, while on the east coast quotations are none too steady. This situation obtains despite the increasing use of gasoline, the demand for which has shown 20 per cent gain over a year ago.

The consumption of gasoline reaches its peak late in August, although to December 31 the volume is at higher rate than in the early months of the year. In view of this fact, unless there is a change for the better in the price situation within a comparatively short time scant hope can be held out for improvement over the remaining months this year. The trend of refinery operations and gasoline production is not so acutely affected by the seasonal conditions governing consumption.

GAS MARKET SAGS

In Oklahoma, the current quotation on U. S. motor gasoline, which can be taken as an index to the general marketing stiuation in that area, is 7½ to 8 cents a gallon, whereas early in June the ruling quotation was 9¼ cents. A year ago the price was over 8½ cents and in the last week of July advanced to 9 cents. A similar condition prevails on the Gulf Coast. The price of 10 cents a gallon for gasoline in bulk on the east coast, which is lower than at this time a year ago, is none too steady and there is keen competition for sales. The California price is 9 cents, about the same as in the third week of July, last year.

The present lack of strength in gasoline prices is due to the heavy output of the product as a result of crude oil production, chiefly in California, in excess of requirements. However, there have been some recent developments which, while not operating immediately to change present condition will exercise a favorable influence on the long-range outlook. One of these is the California gas law, which takes effect September 1.

ELIMINATING WASTE

This measure carries drastic provisions for the elimination of gas wastage, thus holding back the withdrawals of oil. Although steps have been taken for prompt application of the law, it will probably take weeks to determine the wastage of gas in the areas involved and effect restriction on the flow of oil after the law goes into effect. It is estimated as much as 300,000 barrels a day can be cut from present production.

There are still numerous wells to be completed in Santa Fe Springs area of California, which has accounted for the recent upward surge in output. Lately, however, completions have yielded a smaller initial production than those wells completed a few weeks ago, and it is expected the peak of the field will be reached at around 300,000 barrels daily early in August, with probably a fairly rapid decline thereafter. Settled production has been declining, offsetting to some extent the flow of new oil, so that production in California the past week gained only 5,750 barrels daily, to 885,750, according to the Oil and Gas Journal.

KETTLEMAN PLANS

Another favorable development affecting the California area, which at present has controlling influence on the general situation, is the agreement arrived at between operators and the government to hold back development in Kettleman Hills district. In the north dome, where the Mexican Seaboard well is producing about 3,400 barrels crude daily and 70,000,000 cubic feet of gas, the agreement runs to July 1, 1931. Drilling is limited to a few offset wells to the present producer in order to cut down gas pressure, other wells to be carried to a depth sufficient to establish the discovery and validate the federal permit.

TEXAS POOLS

In West Texas, the Hendricks pool in Winkler County is producing less than 150,000 barrels daily, the maximum allowed since July 1 under the proration plan, being reduced from 175,000 barrels a day. The present figure, in the opinion of oil men, represents about the maximum amount that can be produced without serious water intrusion. Yates pool in Pecos County is producing 130,000 barrels daily, the pro-rated limit which was effective from July 1, representing an increase of 30,000 barrels daily over the previously allotted amount, and which will be in effect for six months provided operators do not force a further increase.

HENDRICKS LOWER

An indication of the decline in Hendricks pool is provided in the figures of potential production, arrived at by allowing a representative number of wells to flow unrestricted for one hour. In the period from January 1 to January 15 this year the potential production of the pool was 2,655,787 barrels daily from 468 wells. In contrast with this figure, the potential flow for the period from July 16 to July 31 is 660,317 barrels daily from 582 wells.

Although a few new pools have through their flush output raised Oklahoma's production, there has been no startling increase in that area. The state is now producing about 720,000 barrels daily, with settled production showing a decline.

Wall Street Seems Assured B. & O. Will Establish $7 Dividend Basis.

WALL Street is still confident that Baltimore and Ohio will be among the railway companies which before the close of the year will be paying higher dividends. It is expected that the road will, if current profitable operations hold through the next few months, vote an increase from the present $6 basis to $7 a share annually for its common stock. Operating results for June and the first six months showing marked improvement over the corresponding periods a year ago naturally tend to strengthen such belief. The road reported increases in both gross and net for last month and for the six months showed net operating income of $22,490,840, constrasted with $17,712,360 in the first half of 1928.

As expected, the proposed splitup in Baldwin Locomotive, which will be put before a special meeting of stockholders in the near future, has had the effect of reviving to some extent speculative interest in this one-time market favorite at currently prevailing prices. The stock has been more or less out of reach of the average trader, but a four-for-one split as proposed by directors would bring it down again to a moderate price range. Baldwin is disposing of its valuavle Philadelphia real estate piece-meal and naturally stands to realize handsome profits on its investment in the long run. The company is now feeling the stimulating influence of renewed railway buying of its valuable Philadelphia it necessary to increase its working force, having secured an order for 12 locomotives this week.

BETHLEHEM Steel's advance to its highest post-war levels following the common dividend increase and publication of its six months' earnings statement demonstrated that these developments had not been discounted by the previous rise in the stock. As a matter of fact Bethlehem is now selling at less than 10 times its prospective 1929 earnings and its sponsors feel that it is still behind the market for seasoned industrials of similar earning power. Bethlehem earned in the June quarter $4.17 a share on the present 2,400,000 common shares and should earn close to $4 a share in the September period. Hence, it seems likely that a showing of $14 a share will be made for the full season. Inother words, the corporation will cover its increased dividend requirements twice.

Interests optimistic on Westinghouse Air Brake point to the official statement made some time ago that first quarter earnings of 61 cents a share will be exceeded in each succeeding quarter this year. Most estimates are that earnings of about $3 a share will be shown for this year, compared wth $2 in 1928. Foreign sales of the company are growing in importance. The stock has lacked market sponsorship which account for the fact that it has been lagging behind others at times.

SHORT covering has been in progress in Radio during the post week. There was considerable selling by the bears around 80 and the fact that the stock was meeting with good support below that figure during general reactions in the market has apparently discouraged some of the shorts and started the covering movement on a larger scale than previously. Quite a large short interest still exists in the stock so that the technical position is still considered favorable.

Caution is still the watchword in many conservative quarters and stop orders are advocated to protect long accounts in speculative specialties. Those who have been working for higher prices in many stocks are advising the purchase of the leading issues on all reactions. Bears among the traders are talking lower prices, but their attempts to depress the general market to any great extent by pressing stocks on the rallies have not been highly successful thus far.

Bank Prudence Needed

FAILURES SHOW CARE VITAL IN PICKING BANK

Oldest, Largest Depositories Held Safest; Higher Rate Peril Seen in Combines

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER.

NSW YORK, July 27.—The closing of three banks in New Jersey, which followed the failure of a new trust company and an old private banking outfit in New York City, focusses attention on the need of prudence in the selection of depositaries.

The grief that follows losses to bank depositors is greater than that which attaches to losses springing from speculation. The stock speculator knowingly accepts hazards in the hope of extraordinarily large returns. The bank depositor, however, is promised no return commensurate with the assumption of risks. He wants and expects safety.

Although America's leading banks were never stronger and safer than at the present time, 10 per cent of the banks in the country—chiefly small state banks in agricultural regions—have failed since the war. Iowa and the northwest and Florida, in which another string of banks recently closed, were particularly hard hit. The western banking situation has greatly improved.

ADVICE TO INEXPERIENCED

The failure of weak banks has tended somewhat to prepare public opinion for the development of branch and chain banking.

Checking accounts are fast becoming universal. The inexperienced person should recognize that, other things being equal, the largest and oldest banks offer the greatest assurance of safety. In commenting on recent bank failures, the country's largest bank, the National City Bank, of New York, offers words of counsel to the inexperienced, saying:

"The same prudence and good judgment that prompt one to protect himself and those about him against physical menace should guide him in matters where money and wealth are concerned.

"The grief that follows in the trail of bank failures and unintelligent careless speculation, often heartrending in itself, is the more terrible in the realization that in most cases a little sound thinking, a grain of prudence, might have avoided it. There are so many banks of deposit that are unquestionably safe, there are so many investment banking houses expertly equipped and with outstanding reputations for good judgment and honesty in their recommendations, there are so many trust institutions recognizedly operated by trust-minded conservative officers, that for one who will but think it is the height of folly to be trapped."

ERA OF MERGERS

This is an era of mergers. The Morgan-Bonbright interests are sponsoring three new public utility mergers—doubtless believing that they are in the public interest. The fears of the opposition to such the New Republic, which said:

"Holding company which buys operating companies may use various methods to keep rates above the level which might otherwise obtain. It may cause the subsidiary companies to pay charges for service, management, etc., which inflate costs, but are beyond the scope of present regulation.

"It may similarly cause the owned properties to buy current wholesaled across state lines, which is not subject to regulation. It is capable of financing a much stronger and more persistent struggle for higher rates, before commissioners and courts, than are the independent companies. That it often has a stronger incentive to do so may be inferred from the extremely high prices paid for the stock of the companies bought (as a result of competition among the holding company promoters.) A topheavy structure of securities may be erected on the base of the operating properties, which the owning companies will be explicitly considered by the regulating authorities in fixing value as a rate base.

If these prices are not explicitly considered, however, the great body of holding-company securities constitute an enormous vested property interest which is almost bound to influence the judgment of the courts, if not commissions. The present statutes and practices produce ineffective regulation even in dealing with independent operating companies, but the ineffectiveness is greatly enhanced by holding company control.

"Our objection is not to the existence of power mergers, but to some of their practices, and to the lack of adequate public control over them. Furthermore, if monoply is an engineering economic necessity, there is a good deal to be said for its being publicly owned."

Of course the decisive political victory in the last election of President Hoover, who stood for private ownership, has enormously stimulated the enterprise of public utility financiers, who are dreaming of bigger and better systems.

As part of the record, it must be conceded that several of the large holding companies, including Electric Bond & Share and the North American Company, gave their subsidiaries excellent managerial service and advice.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Western Maryland railway has asked the I. C. C. for authority to nominally issue $3,365,000 of 5½ per cent first and refunding mortgage gold bonds. The road merely wants to have them authenticated and delivered by the trustee and held in the road's treasury subject to the further order of the commission.

Spanish Electrical Combine Planned

LONDON, July 27.—The "Financial News" learns a group including Babcock and Wilcox, Banco de Vizcaya, General Electric Co., Ltd., and several Spanish electrical enterprises will establish a company at Bilbao with a capital of 10,000,000 pesetas to manufacture electrical machinery.

BOARD PASSIVE AS LOANS EXPAND

Federal Reserve Officials Unperturbed as Brokers' Borrowings Reach Peak

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Federal Reserve officials here remain apparently unperturbed by the mounting of brokers' loans to a new high record. The attitude of the board toward the loans in recent months has continued rather passive and the recent rise to a new high record of $5,813,000,000 appeared to evoke no excitement.

On behalf of the Board it was said that any definite views on the recent development would depend upon its continuance rather than upon the fact that in one or two weeks the total has risen to a point slightly higher than ever before. At present there is not a quorum of the Reserve Board in Washington, but some of the members are expected to return next week.

In all probability the loans will come under the Board's consideration next week. However, this will be more a matter of routine than a gatherig with any specific purpose.

"RIGHTS" INFLUENCE

The taking up of the large total of rights in June and July has not yet ceased to exert some influence on the loans, and it is believed probable that all these rights have not yet been taken up. Officials of the system also were very much interested in a recent article in the Wall Street Journal showing that a comparatively small number of stocks were sharing in the advance which from averages appears widespread.

The feeling here is that prospects for Fall seasonal expansion of Federal Reserve credit are being misinterpreted and misunderstood. No considerable easing is likely to take place in the credit structure from this seasonal development, it is said.

BROKERAGE DEMAND

The growing brokers' loan total is likely to have an influence in policy formation to care for this seasonal expansion of credit. The Reserve Board has not been in favor of any action which might stimulate the stock market and, with at least a part of the market making broad advances and carrying brokers' loans to a new high, more than the usual amount of caution is likely to be exercised in preparation for this movement.

The fall credit expansion will not, judging from previous years, get under way in any large volume until late August.

FALL EXPANSION

The low point of reserve credit outstanding may come any time between the latter part of July and the latter part of August. The credit expansion will total about $300,000,000 in the Fall, or carried through the Christmas season, about $500,000,000.

At present it seems probable that the Reserve system will merely take up the slack through purchase of such bills as is necessary and will care for member banks' needs through increased discounting. This is not, in view of the loans' increase, likely to cause any material easing development in credit.

POWER MERGER HEARING ENDS IN CLASH

Ex-Mayor Magee and Counsel For Firms Battle Over Refusal to Present Data

Former Mayor William A. Magee, appearing as counsel for a dozen industrial consumers, clashed yesterday with Attorney Berne Evans, of Harrisburg, at a hearing before Public Service Commissioner Samuel Walker on the proposed merger of the Pennsylvania Power Company, the Peoples Power Company and the Harmony Electric Company.

An indefinite adjournment was taken when Attorneys Magee and C. A. Fagan, Jr., also representing the consumers, declared they had been refused essential data by the witnesses and would seek to have the commission compel them to give it.

C. S. McCalla and H. R. Bowie, both of Youngstown, and president and secretary-auditor, respectively, of the Pennsylvania company, which seeks to absorb the other two companies, testified that economy of cost and simplification of financing would result from the proposed merger of the companies. Attorneys Magee and Evans clashed when Evans told the former Mayor that he had no right to bring a complaint for the purpose of getting information with which to go into a hearing.

Magee declared the accounts of the three companies were not kept in a uniform way and said the hearing could not be resumed for another month unless the information needed should be given voluntarily. When questioned by Magee, McCalla admitted that five consumers had been notified recently that their rates were to be raised. McCalla said this was necessary to equalize rates over a territory including Beaver and Butler counties. He admitted that it had not been determined by any judicial body that the rates were discriminatory.

Opponents to the merger contend that it would give the combined company a roving commission to sell millions of dollars worth of securities to the public, unsupported by real values. The opponents also maintain that the merger would render the task of the Harmony consumers in fighting rate cases more difficult.

Truscon Steel Net Income Increases

YOUNGSTOWN, O., July 27.—The Truscon Steel reports for the quarter ended June 30, net income of $1,003,494 after all charges and Federal taxes versus $266,411 in the preceding quarter and $785,143 in the 1928 quarter. Officers report sales are running one-third higher than year ago.

Hard Usage Cause For New Money Turn Back

WASHINGTON, July 27.—Although in circulation only about two weeks, some o the new paper currency already is being turned into the Treasury Department for redemption as unfit for further circulation. The total is comparatively small, however, and officials see no reason for concern. It is said that some proportion of the currency always receives especially hard usage and that early return of the currency does not indicate that the new money is defective.

Officials expect that the new money will last longer than the large size paper, since it is expected that only one fold will be made in the bills.

ALUMINUM CO. PLANS MILLION OUTLAY

New Kensington Expansion Includes Improvements at Old Distillery, Brewery

NEW KENSINGTON, Pa., July 27.—Erection of a new machine shop on the site of the old Ninth street distillery property, purchase and rehabilitation of New Kensington Brewing Company property, and a large addition to the Arnold Tube Mill, representing $1,000,000 expenditure, were announced by the Aluminum Company of America through R. R. Stevenson, local works superintendent.

The machine shop will be brick and steel construction, 130x482, serviced by 50 cranes on the open working floor. Light tool equipment will be located on a mezzanine floor. It will provide modern facilities for the repairing of company equipment. Repair shops will also continue at Logans Ferry, New Kensington and Arnold plants. Specialty shops for cooking utensil and seal mills remain as heretofore.

The brewing company brick buildings are being improved for storage of patterns and materials for the adjoining machine shop.

Addition to the tube mills means construction of a building 155 by 425, extending the present tube mill southward, its construction will match the present building, sidewalls largely of glass, a crane running the full length and house tube drawing and heat-treating equipment, with inspection and packing facilities.

POWER FIRM'S PLANT HUGE

NEW YORK, July 27.—Robert A. Fairbairn, a member of the executive and finance committees of the National Biscuit Company, will be elected president of the newly-formed Industrial Power Corporation, at the organization meeting of the board of directors of that company next week. Frederick H. Prince, the Boston banker and one of the organizers of Industrial Power announced.

Ground will be broken in Chicago in the very near future for the construction of the biggest low temperature distillation plant in the world, Mr. Prince said. The Industrial Power Corporation recently acquired property on both sides of the Chicago River, north of Thirty-fifth street, upon which the new plant will be built. The carbonizing plant will have an ultimate capacity of 45,000,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

The Industrial Power Corporation, through its subsidiary, the Produce Terminal Corporation, will take over the contracts of the latter company and will supply electric power to all of the plants of the central manufacturing district, as well as adjacent industrial districts. Gas and steam will also be supplied to the packing houses and cold storage plants.

National Transport Quarterly Net Up

NEW YORK, July 27.—National Air Transport net profit was $187,767 for second quarter, after all operating charges including depreciation, but before Federal taxes vs. $135,626 in first quarter this year.

During June company carried 173,393 pounds of mail which was largest mail poundage on record. Total during first half of 1929 was 942,439 pounds vs. 820,047 in second half 1928, and 382,050 pounds in first half 1928.

ERIE EARNINGS APPROACH RECORD

Current Profits Indicate Road May Exceed 1926 Net of $6.72 on Common

NEW YORK, July 27.—With share earnings of $2.36 on 1,511,167 shares of common reported for the first six months of this year, against $1.01 a share last year, Erie's earnings for 1929 should exceed $6 on the common. They may approach or exceed the previous record high earnings of $6.72 a share on 1,124,819 shares of common in 1926. Only a drastic let down in steel operations and general business would mar this prospect.

In the last half of 1928 Erie showed gross revenues of $65,894,708, which was an increase of $6,812,873 over the results for the first half of the year. If the last six months of this year show as good a gross as the corresponding period of 1928, and the operating ratio is 74 per cent, the surplus after charges for the year will be around $10,316,000, equivalent to $5.53 a share on common.

OPERATING RATIO DOWN

But this operating ratio assumed is the same as shown for the last half of 1928. In the first half of this year the operating ratio was 3.23 points under the same period of a year ago. If the current half shows a decrease of two points in the operating ratio this would add 87 cents a share to earnings, assuming the same volume of business as last year.

In the first six months this year the Erie Railroad showed the largest gross revenues and net operating income of any similar period in its history. There was a gain in gross over last year of 7.2 per cent and in net operating income of 31.3 per cent.

The high operations of steel plants in the road's territory were largely responsible for the marked improvement in gross earnings for the first half. Coal revenues showed a reversal of the trend in 1927 and 1928, and gained $958,318 over the first six months of 1928.

SIX MONTHS' RESULTS

The following table gives important operating results for the first half of this year in comparison with a year ago:

| Operating revenues: | 1929. | Increase. |
|---|---|---|
| Merchandise | $39,245,943 | $2,776,814 |
| Coal | 13,445,746 | 958,318 |
| Passenger | 5,166,289 | *173,685 |
| Total | $63,377,759 | $4,295,934 |
| % mnt. way to gr. | 11.14 | *1.01 |
| % eqp. mnt. to gr. | 21.96 | *.15 |
| % transp. to gross | 36.75 | *2.01 |
| Operating ratio | 75.55 | *3.23 |
| Net operating inc. | 10,480,797 | 2,503,261 |
| Dividend income | 1,090,102 | *499,991 |
| Oth. non-opr. inc. | 551,380 | *41,841 |
| Gross income | 12,125,279 | 1,961,429 |
| Fixed charges | 7,270,283 | *86,503 |
| Sur. after charges | 4,854,996 | 2,047,933 |

*Decrease.

Dividends from the Erie's coal properties are being accrued this year at the rate of $2,000,000 annually as against $3,000,000 last year. The steady decline in the coal dividends of the Erie since 1926 has affected the net income substantially. In 1926 coal dividends amounted to $5,600,000. They declined to about $4,000,000 in 1927 and last year they were $3,000,000. For the 25½ years ended with 1926 the average coal dividends were $3,222,080, with a record payment of $10,300,000 in 1922.

SLACK TAKEN UP

The slack resulting from these lower dividends has been largely taken up by a reduction in operating expenses and the Erie is steadily nearing the time when it will not be dependent on its coal properties to make a good income showing.

A look backward will show what strides have been made in reducing operating expenses. It was predicted in these columns in November, 1927, that reduction of from 4 per cent to 5 per cent in Erie's operating ratio in the next two years was not too much to expect, assuming gross revenues of approximately $125,000,000 and wages and material costs constant. J. J. Bernet assumed the presidency of the Erie January 1, 1927, and that year was essentially a "cleanup" one, with abnormal chargeoffs and retirements.

COSTS REDUCED

The following shows the gross revenues and operating ratios for the last three years:

| | 1928 | 1927 | 1926 |
|---|---|---|---|
| Gross revs | $124,976 | 122,478 | 125,473 |
| Oper ratio | 76.3 | 81.8 | 79.0 |

Last year's was the lowest operating ratio since the war. It was nearly 3 points under the 1926 ratio and the number of revenue tons of freight carried was 49,046,173 against 46,680,845 in the learier year. Equipment maintenance in the latter part of 1926 was deferred pending the change of management; otherwise the operating ratio for that year would have been somewhat higher.

WAGE INCREASES

This year the operating ratio will probably be between 74 and 75 per cent, which will be about 5 points under the 1926 ratio. But that does not tell the whole story. Substantial wage increases were granted in 1927 and 1928, amounting to about $1,500,000 annually and further advances given in May this year were at an annual rate of about $1,170,000. This makes a total wage advance since 1926, on an annual basis of about $2,670,000.

In other words, without these advances the operating ratio would now be running at about a 2 per cent lower rate than it is. Eliminating the wage advances it can be seen that Mr. Bernet, while he was president of the Erie, was able to make a reduction in operating expenses of between $6,000,000 and $7,000,000 annually.

New Gypsum Unit Starts Output Monday

HAMMOND, Ind., July 27.—(AP)—Manufacturing operations will begin Monday in the new plant of the U. S. Gypsum Company. The factory, comprising 21 buildings covering 32 acres, has been under construction for 11 months. Five hundred men are to be employed at the start. The plant, situated on the ship canal at Indiana Harbor, will serve the entire middle west. Other factories of the company are located at Detroit, Boston and Philadelphia.

P. R. R. INCOME AT RECORD

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—Pennsylvania Railroad set a new high record for net operating income in the first half of 1929 at $65,318,909. This compares with $50,760,063 in first half of 1928, increase $14,558,846 and with $51,125,413 in first half of 1927, increase $14,193,496. Net operating income for June was $12,020,998, comparing with $10,203,032 in June, 1928, increase $1,817,966, and with $9,398,420 in June 1927, increase $2,622,578.

Gross revenues for the half year were $330,749,406 comparing with $309,186,552 in first half of 1928, increase $21,592,854, and with $333,672,038 in first half of 1927, decrease $2,922,632. For June gross revenues were $58,020,096 comparing with $55,030,777 in June, 1928, increase $2,995,319, and with $56,374,381 in June, 1927, increase $1,651,715.

Gross and net revenues for the first half of 1929 compare with 1928 as follows:

GROSS REVENUES.

| | 1929. | 1928. |
|---|---|---|
| June | $58,026,096 | $55,030,777 |
| May | 59,953,652 | 55,168,338 |

| February | 49,682,633 | 47,309,947 |
| January | 51,664,804 | 48,088,784 |
| Total | $330,749,406 | $309,186,552 |

NET OPERATING INCOME.

| | 1929. | 1928. |

| June | $12,020,998 | $10,203,032 |
| May | 13,380,560 | 10,413,730 |
| April | 12,231,873 | 8,445,417 |
| March | 10,937,420 | 8,947,945 |

| January | 7,970,394 | 6,136,235 |
| Total | $65,318,909 | $50,760,063 |

A striking feature of the earnings is the way gross revenues have held up as shown in foregoing table, and even at the present time there is no indication of usual summer let-up. Although in every one of the first six months of the year gross revenues showed an increase over similar month of 1928, the first three months of the year showed a decrease as compared with 1927. In the second quarter, however, every month showed an increase over 1927 as well as 1928.

Gross for the first quarter was $156,740,033, comparing with $147,740,574 in first quarter of 1928, increase $8,999,459, and with $164,358,253 in first quarter of 1927, decrease $7,618,220. In the second quarter gross revenues were $174,009,373, comparing with $161,425,978 in second quarter of 1928, increase $12,583,395 and with $169,313,785 in first quarter of 1927, increase $4,695,588. The increase in gross in the second quarter was almost 50 per cent greater than the increase shown in first quarter as compared with 1928, while second quarter also showed an increase of $4,695,588 over second quarter of 1927, as against a decrease of $7,618,220 shown in first quarter as compared with 1927.

Atwater Kent Radio Denied Injunction

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—Judge Dickinson of U. S. District Court refused to grant the application of the Atwater Kent Manufacturing Company for restraining orders to prevent the Hazeltine Corporation and Independent Radio Manufacturing, Inc., from filing suit against any of the 21,000 Atwater Kent dealers, pending a final decision in the main case against the manufacturer for alleged infringement of a patent for a radio receiving set.

National Business Shows Gain For Week

WASHINGTON, July 27. — Check payments during the week ended July 20 were greater than in either the preceding week or the corresponding period of 1928, according to the weekly statement of the Department of Commerce. Activity in steel plants was greater also than in either the preceding week or the same period of last year. The output of bituminous coal during the latest reported week showed gains over both the preceding week and the corresponding period of a year ago. Crude-petroleum output showed further expansion as compared with both periods. Receipts of cotton into sight were greater than a year ago. Receipts of cattle at primary markets for the latest reported week showed a decline from last year, while hog receipts registered a gain. Distribution of goods through primary channels, as indicated by freight car loadings, covering the latest week, was greater than a year ago.

The general index of wholesale prices showed a gain over the preceding week but was still about one per cent below the level which prevailed a year ago. Prices for iron and steel showed no change from the preceding week but were higher than last year. Cotton prices averaged higher than the previous week but were lower than a year ago. Loans and discounts of Federal Reserve member banks showed practically no change from the preceding week but were higher than a year ago. Interest rates on both time and call funds averaged higher than in either the preceding week or the corresponding period of last year. The Federal Reserve ratio showed a gain over the preceding week and was higher also than at this time a year ago. Business failures were fewer in number than in either the preceding week or the corresponding period of 1928.

READING COAL IN POWER FIELD

Company Plans Operations In 33 Pennsylvania Townships; Papers Filed

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—That Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Corporation intends to push its plans to erect an electric plant is indicated by formal notice that applications will be made to the Governor of Pennsylvania on July 24 for charters for 33 electric companies to operate in 33 townships in the state. It is stated companies are to be formed for the purpose of supplying light, heat and power, or any of them, by means of electricity to the public in the townships enumerated.

Townships for which separate charters for electric companies are asked are, Barry, Eldred, Lykens, Hubley, Tremont, Fralley, Reilly, Foster, Cass, Butler, Mahanoy, Jackson, Jordan, Washington, Upper Mahanoy, West Mahanoy, Zerbe, Coal, Conyngham, Hegins, Porter, Mount Carmel, Little Mahanoy, East Cameron, West Cameron, Mifflin, Branch, New Castle, Norwegian North Manheim, Blythe Ryan and East Norwegian.

SUBSIDIARY TITLES

Twenty of companies for which charters will be sought will be located in Schuylkill County, 10 in Northumberland County, 2 in Dauphin County and 1 in Columbia County. Name of township as well as "Reading" are contained in each corporate title, as Barry Reading Electric Company. Solicitors are law firm of Morgan, Lewis & Bockius, members of which firm have acted as counsel for Reading Coal Company as well as for corporations which have been financed by banking firm of Drexel & Co., which underwrote recent bond issue by Reading Coal.

Incorporators named in papers filed at Harrisburg in connection with applications for charters for 33 Reading electric companies are Martin P. McDermott, secretary; Perley L. Whitaker, comptroller and Francis H. Maloney, secretary to president, Philadelphia & Reading Coal & Iron Corp.

FUTURE PLANS

Fact that the three incorporators of electric companies are all officials of Reading Coal ties in latter company with proposed electric development. At a later date it is expected that charter will be sought for a company which would own all of the stock of the 33 electric companies to operate in 33 separate townships, and, in turn, all of its stock would be owned by the Reading Coal Corporation. Proposed electric project will be financed by the new electric company, and it is reported that plans for a bond issue have been discussed with bankers. In absence of President A. J. Maloney, no official statement was obtainable on project.

MORE RESERVE CREDIT OUT

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(AP.)—The total reserve bank credit outstanding on July 17 showed an increase of about $120,000,000 over the amount reported a month previously.

The Federal Reserve Board also announced yesterday that on the same date loans and investments of member banks showed an increase of about $400,000,000 over the amount reported at the end of May. The increase was said to be reflected chiefly in the rapid growth in loans to brokers and to dealers in securities and also some further increase in commercial loans.

Demand for additional reserve bank credit, the board found, was due chiefly to the increase in the volume of money in circulation due to the issuance of the small sized currency.

The board reported that the output of automobiles and of iron and steel in June showed seasonable declines smaller than usual, while there was increased production of cement, leather and shoes. Production of copper at smelters declined sharply and the output of cotton and wool textiles also was reduced.

The volume of construction contracts awarded decreased further in June, the board said, and for the first half of the year showed a decline of 12 per cent from the 1928 figures.

ROUND TABLE OF BUSINESS

ARMSTRONG NET INCREASING STEADILY

Earnings in 1929 Will Probably Beat Previous Record; Stock Increased

Earnings of the Armstrong Cork Company continue to run at excellent levels and there is now no doubt that income in 1929 will surpass the previous record year by a considerable margin.

While no official figures are available for the year to date, the company confining itself to the publication of an annual report, it is understood that earnings in the quarter ended June 30, were equal to, if not better than, those of the first three months to March 31. In the first quarter it is understood from exceptionally well-informed sources that earnings were equal to $1.80 a share on 1,124,032 shares of stock then outstanding. Since the end of March 80,288 shares of additional stock have been issued.

BIG FIRST HALF

On the basis of these estimates, Armstrong in the first half of the current year showed greater net earnings than for the entire year, 1928. Income last year totaled $3,931,964, equal to $3.50 a share on 1,124,032 shares of stock, compared with $3.34 a share in 1927, based on the same capitalization.

An important development in the affairs of Armstrong is its entry to the cork trading field, a development whose possibilities probably have not been fully recognized. The company in the future will engage in the buying and selling of cork, and activities in this field are expected to prove highly profitable. In the past Armstrong has purchased its cork in the open market, and market prices of cork have been unstable and subject to a wide range. Only the highest grade cork can be used in the company's products.

CORK TRADING PROFITS

The entrance into the cork trading field will enable the company to obtain its high-grade cork at stabilized price levels and, in addition, permit it to dispose of second-grade product which it cannot use in its own business. Interests in the trade state that cork trading is a very remunerative business.

Armstrong Cork stock is selling close to a record high on the Pittsburgh Stock Exchange. Stockholders have from time to time received valuable rights to purchase additional stock, the latest offering having been in March, when new stock was offered at $40 a share in the ratio of one share for each 14 held.

Macy & Company Offers New Rights

NEW YORK, July 27.—(INS.)—R. R. Macy & Co. stockholders cut a $5,267,193 "melon" when they were offered rights to subscribe to additional common stock on the basis of one new share at $145 for every 15 shares now held.

Directors of the company, at their meeting, voted to offer the rights to holders of common stock of record August 7. The rights will expire on September 5.

REPORT STEEL DEAL ON

SAN FRANCISCO, July 27.—The U. S. Steel Corporation has made an offer to Columbia Steel Corporation to exchange stock of the former company for assets of Columbia on the basis of $200 for U. S. Steel stock and $17 for Columbia stock, according to advices to the New York News Bureau. It is understood the offer has been accepted by a committee representing controlling interest of Columbia.

U. S. Steel will not acquire the Columbia stock but will issue a quantity of its own stock to the latter company which can be sold and the proceeds distributed pro rata to Columbia Steel stockholders.

Details on date of expiration of the offer and disposition of preferred stock and bonds of Columbia Steel Corporation have not yet been worked out.

NEW YORK, N. Y., July 27.—(INS.)—Myron C. Taylor, chairman of the Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation, when asked concerning reports of the corporation's plans to take over the Columbia Steel Company of San Francisco, made the following statement to International News Service.

"We have had conversations with the steel people from the Pacific coast regarding their properties concerning which we are making inquiries. We have signed no papers."

W. U. Spends Million Educating Employes

More than $1,000,000 has been spent by the commercial department of the Western Union Telegraph Company in the past four years in training employes in telegraphic operation, maintenance and routine at that department's six schools, located at strategic points from coast to coast, according to an announcement. The major portion of this sum has been expended in teaching employes to operate and maintain the new Simplex automatic telegraph printer, by which telegrams are sent and received automatically.

GLASS TRADE OUTLOOK FIRM

Increases in Mirror and Bottle Demand Feature Present Stable Market

Production of and demand for plate glass are just about balancing one another, says the National Glass Budget. Both the jobbing business and the mirror industry are ordering plate glass in increased amounts, or to an extent that makes up for the falling off in business from the automobile trade.

During June, 1929, production of polished plate glass in all of the works in the United States totaled 12,278,002 square feet, according to figures compiled by P. A. Hughes, secretary of the Plate Glass Manufacturers of America. In June, 1928, production amounted to 11,354,299 square feet. There were 12,781,975 square feet manufactured in May of this year. Production during the first six months of the current year totaled 73,474,143 square feet. This compares with 64,261,633 square feet made in the first six months of 1928.

LAMINATED DEMAND

Increased interest in demand for laminated plate glass is apparent in industries manufacturing automobiles, airplanes and speed boats, as well as in instances where safety is desired, such as in banks, etc. Some very interesting cases have been reported where glass of this character prevented motorists from severe injury when serious accidents occurred. The resistance and the holding together qualities shown by laminated plate glass to forceful impacts and stresses are surprising. There is undoubtedly a promising future for this industry, the surface of which has just been scratched.

WINDOW GLASS LAGS

About the only thing that can be said concerning window glass is that the situation is no worse than heretofore. From the manufacturers' viewpoint the favorable features are that production is low and will likely be smaller before August draws to a close. This, along with the fact that stocks in the hands of the jobbers are gradually being reduced, furnish the foundation on which to build hopes for decided improvement in demand within the next few weeks.

The jobbing situation is not in as satisfactory a state in some sections of the country as is desirable. Lack of wise co-operation is said to be the cause. It is believed, however, that conditions will be righted and that a fair volume of business will be in evidence throughout the last third of the year.

MIRROR BUSINESS PICKING UP

There is a brighter outlook for the furniture business, which in turn will have a beneficial effect on the mirror business now showing improvement. A fad that is creating considerable demand for odd-shaped pieces of flat glass is that of completely covering the tops of dressers and other bedroom pieces with glass and placing underneath it doilies of fine quality. By this procedure the doilies are always held in perfect shape and do not soil.

Manufacturers of flint glass, including tableware and lighting glassware, are rather reticent about commenting on the situation prevailing in their respective branches. Factories are and will continue to operate, in most instances, up to the end of August at partial capacity. In some cases demand has been very good. While orders have not been large there have, however, been enough to make up a fair midsummer volume of business. Like in one or two other branches of the industry, the most unsatisfactory features are the prevailing low prices at which the glass is moved from the plants and the keen competition that is encountered.

GOOD SEASON FOR BOTTLES

The impression is gained from all reports that there is a well sustained demand for all kinds of glass bottles and containers. Fruit jars, ketchup bottles and other kinds used for packing and preserving are in the midst of their best season.

There is a better demand now for bottles used in the soft drink trade than during any of the past three or four seasons. With the late arrival of winter weather that is now customary, business should hold up for some time yet to come. Other branches of the industry are booking business in seasonable average.

Although prices are firmer than they were early in the year, they are not, however, at a place where a justifiable profit is derived by the manufacturers. So far as can be learned there has been but little change in production. It is believed that a capacity equal to a seasonable average is operating.

One bit of interesting news during the week was the official announcement of the Hazel-Atlas Glass Company, of Wheeling, W. Va., that a subsidiary firm had decided to build a factory in California.

Surplus Freight Cars at 211,165

NEW YORK, July 27.—The car service division of the American Railway Association reports that on July 15 Class 1 railroads had 211,165 surplus freight cars in good repair and available for immediate service. The total is an increase of 6,857 cars compared with the number on July 8.

Robertson Sees Growth In Power Use

By GEORGE H. SNYDER.

THE use of electrical appartus in manufacturing, in transportation, in agriculture, and in the home must inevitably increase as time goes on, in the opinion of Andrew W. Robertson, chairman of the board of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company. Looking into the future from the pinnacle of one of the most strategic positions in the realm of electrical manufacturing, he foresees an ever-increasing activity and expanding prosperity for the electrical industry in the years that lie ahead.

"Many industries are now almost completely electrified, and the others will follow their lead," Mr. Robertson declares. "The attention now being given to the development of systems in which complete production processes can be carried on under automatic electrical control foreshadows the day when almost all industrial operations will be carried on with little manual effort more strenuous than the depression of a push-button.

"The use of power on the average by each workman at present employed is nearly 50 per cent greater than it was in 1914. This means that each workman is able to produce more marketable goods, increase his own income, and add more to the general prosperity of the country.

Railroad Electrification

"THE need for added and more expeditious means of transportation is yearly giving increasing impetus to the trend toward railroad electrification, which, with its flexibility and economy of operation, provides a practical solution for the movement of traffic," continued Mr. Robertson.

"Electricity before long should be available to most agriculturists, bringing to the world's oldest industry the benefits of increased production and reduced costs that have attended its application to other industries. The farm, the last frontier of the electric industry, is rapidly being invaded. Distribution of power to rural areas will quite probably be linked to another form of progress—the illumination of highways. Well-lighted roads extending across the countryside not only will banish somewhat the hazards of night traveling, but will also bring within reach of the farmer the marvelous properties of electric power.

"While we may expect development and improvement in the generation, distribution and use of electricity to continue in all fields, the greatest development of the immediate future will probably take place in the home.

Domestic Power

"THE copper wire can bring into the home, easily and cheaply, something which can be transformed at will into sunlight, heat, cold, or action, through the medium of numerous household devices—for this something there is no substitute.

"The modern home of the future will be sold fully equipped with electrical appliances, just as it is now sold with heating plant, windows, floors, bathrooms and lighting fixtures, and the housewife will no more think of going into a home deficient electrically than she would today into a home without plumbing. The industry is alert to meet this increasing dependence of our homes on electric service, and see that, so far as it is humanly possible, home appliances are reliable and properly qualified to perform the services they are intended to perform.

Efficiency of Industry

"TECHNICALLY, the electric light and power companies have so enlarged and improved their facilities during the past decade that no relatively large improvement can be expected along this line immediately; but these improvements have greatly stimulated industrial progress and are probably largely responsible for the great industrial activity of the present day," Mr. Robertson pointed out.

"The magical development of the art of producing electric current is a story with which we are all familiar, as it happened within the lifetime of most of us. Sometimes, I think our very familiarity with this story destroys for us the glory and majesty with which it is surrounded. No other conquest of the forces of nature can compare with it. Here we have an energy which is beyond the reach of our senses—which we can neither see nor hear, nor touch—which is created in such a powerful form that it is death for us to ascertain its characteristics directly—and yet we cause it to fly along the wires with the speed of light—seven times around the world in the wink of an eye—and we deliver it to all points on the system—gentle, harmless, and ready to serve our customers as they may desire.

"The more we learn about the nature and habits of electricity, the higher loom the future prospects of the electrical industry."

KELVINATOR CO. EARNINGS

DETROIT, July 27.—Earnings of the Kelvinator Corporation, for nine months ended June 30, are expected to approximate $1,250,000 after all charges, equal to 98 cents per share on the 1,281,820 shares of common stock outstanding. The company has made a remarkable showing in the past six months, and has more than made up the operating loss of $999,821 reported for the fiscal year ended September 30, 1928.

A net loss of $413,396 was reported for the first quarter of the current year, ended December 31, and net profit of $273,250 was reported for the second quarter, leaving a deficit for the six months operations of approximately $140,000. During the June quarter the company has broken all sales and production records, and according to officials of the company, the final quarter, to end September 30, will exceed by far any corresponding quarter in the history of the company.

Earnings for the quarter just ended are understood to have been $1,400,000 net, which would absorb the loss of $140,000 for the first six months, and leave net profit for the nine months of approximately $1,250,000 equal to 98 cents per share.

Earnings for the final quarter, with present production schedules, will probably be close to $1,000,000, bringing the total for the year to $2,250,000 equal to $1.76 per share. This would compare with the net loss for 1928 fiscal year of $999,821.

BIG OUTPUT BY TRANS. OIL

Production of crude oil by Transcontinental Oil Company in the five months ended May 31 this year, totaled 3,501,516 barrels, and for the same period of 1928 was 1,906,457 barrels. The greater portion of this oil came from Yates pool in Pecos County, West Texas, where the company has conducted operations jointly with Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas Company, a subsidiary of Ohio Oil Company.

According to pro-ration test, with wells flowing open one hour, leases of the two companies combined in the pool had potential production of 2,499,927 barrels as of June 1. The actual amount of oil being produced daily by Mid-Kansas Oil and Gas Company, which is operating the leases, is approximately 47,500 barrels gross, from 108 producing wells. The bulk of the oil is being sold at 94 cents a barrel.

The corporation has withdrawn from oil and gas operations in California, the lands in which it held 50 per cent interest through stock ownership in Santa Barbara Oil Company having ceased to produce in commercial quantities.

In United States the corporation owns or has an interest in 240,036 acres, located in Louisiana, Texas, Oklahoma, West Virginia, Arkansas, Wyoming, Colorado, Alabama and New Mexico. In the last-named state it has 49,500 acres in Chaves and DeBaca counties.

In the distributing phase of its business, Transcontinental has 70 bulk stations and 81 service stations. It recently concluded contracts for purchase of two valuable corner properties in Ft. Worth, Tex.

HIGH PRICES AID STEEL PROFITS

Increase of 17 P. Ct. in Output Over Last First Half Due to Mechanization

By B. E. V. LUTY.

Earnings of the three largest independent steel companies have just been reported, while the Steel Corporation's report is due next Tuesday. The combined net earnings of the three independents increased 27 per cent from the first quarter to the second quarter, and 120 per cent from the first half of last year to the first half of this.

The three independents, with their proportion of the total steel ingot producing capacity of the country according to the last summary, are: Bethlehem Steel Company, 13.3 per cent; Youngstown Sheet and Tube Company, 5.6 per cent; Jones & Laughlin Steel Corporation, 5.1 per cent; total, 24.0 per cent. The Steel Corporation is rated at 39.6 per cent by actual figures, but it really should stand a little higher, as it has eliminated old equipment more than have the independents as a class.

COMPARATIVE INCREASES

The three companies varied materially in their percentage increases, Jones & Laughlin showing a larger increase from first to second quarter than the others, but a smaller increase comparing the half-years. As the purpose of this weekly review of the iron and steel industry is to consider the industry as a whole, the combined showing of approximately one-fourth of the steel-making trade is the important matter.

These earnings reports reflect the increased mechanization of the steel industry, by showing changes in net earnings much larger than the changes in tonnage output, and they also reflect changes in prices realized on shipments last year. As to this latter influence, in the first and second quarters of last year there was approximately the same tonnage of steel shipments, yet the earnings of these companies increased 41 per cent. This year there was an increase of 9 per cent in total steel ingot production from first to second quarter, but these companies had only 27 per cent increase in earnings. The chief explanation of that divergence is that in the first quarter of last year prices realized on shipments were poor, reflecting the low market level reached late in 1927, while for the second quarter realized prices improved. This year there may have been a slight increase in prices from first to second quarter, but there could not have been much.

Reflecting the increased overhead in steel making and the decreased "out of pocket" cost in making a ton of steel, due to mechanization, there was 17 per cent increase in steel production from the first half of last year to the first half of this year, but these steel companies had 120 per cent increase in net earnings. Part of that increase was of course due to higher realized prices and part was due to the mere increase in tonnage, but the major part of the increase was due to better distribution of general expense due to the larger tonnage. By the same token, when in future there are decreases in tonnage they will be reflected strongly in net earnings.

DECREASE UNLOOKED FOR

Prospects are plain that there will be no more than a few per cent decrease in steel tonnage this quarter as compared with second quarter, whereby earnings should run approximately the same for this quarter as for the second quarter.

Weekly estimates made in New York, of the precise rate at which the steel industry is operating were mentioned at the Bethlehem meeting this week and were criticized, it being stated that the only trustworthy criterion is the monthly report of steel ingot production issued by the American Iron and Steel Institute. It now appears that July production will show less decrease from the peak rate, reached in May, than was expected, perhaps less than 5 per cent. At the end of May the most sanguine in the steel trade merely expressed the view that production would hold up pretty well until the end of June.

SUMMER DIP MISSING

Certainly there is nothing approaching the usual summer dip in steel production. Any material decrease that may come is going to be more or less permanent. There is now no sign of any substantial decrease coming, but on the contrary there are various indications that steel tonnage will be high for several months. An analysis can be made covering several important lines of steel consumption. There are a couple of small decreases and indications of several small increases, comparing steel consumption in the two halves of this year.

The automobile industry has had no more than its usual seasonal decrease in production. The preliminary report of June production indicated a slightly larger dip than usual, but the official report since issued ran 6 per cent higher and put June production exactly in average relation, based on the experience of the last five years, with April and May. One may therefore conjecture that precedent will be followed for the second half of this year, which would mean 16½ per cent decrease. It may be estimated that the automobile industry took 23 per cent of the steel made in the first half of this year, hence the automobile decrease would represent 4 per cent of the steel. As to rail production, there is usually 6 to 8 per cent decrease, but on account of certain circumstances the decrease this year should not be taken at more than 5 per cent.

FABRICATED LETTINGS

Fabricated structural steel lettings the first half of this year totaled 1,936,500 net tons, making a new half-year record by 13 per cent, and shipments were 250,200 tons less than bookings, hence greater activity of the fabricating shops is to be expected. Freight cars on order July 1 by class 1 railroads were 39,638, against 12,671 on January 1, hence more freight car building is to be expected than the average in the first half of the year. Farm implement works are expected to run very well for at least three months.

British Motor Merger Pends

LONDON, July 25.—The Daily Chronicle learns that the biggest merger in British motor car industry is now in progress of formation. It involves five large and two smaller companies with a capital of several millions sterling. Companies are located in Midland and Lancashire. Valuation of properties is being carried out prior to an issue of capital, object being to fight foreign competition and possibly production.

Car will be exclusively for export, conforming closely with modern American practice. Specifications will be six-cylinder engine, 24 horsepower and weight 2,500 pounds. Possibly there may be also a straight eight, closely following American models.

Wool Production In U. S. Increases

WASHINGTON, July 27.—The amount of wool shorn in the United States in 1929 was 2,753,000 pounds greater than the amount shorn in 1928, according to preliminary estimate of the Department of Agriculture.

Total production for 1929 is estimated at 301,866,000 pounds, against 229,110,000 in 1928, and is the largest on record since 1894.

GENERAL TRADE QUIET

Retail trade in most lines is seasonably quiet, although department store sales are somewhat better than a year ago at this time. Jobbers are transacting a fair volume of business with the exception of wearing apparel lines in which there is little activity at present. There is a fairly good demand for light hardware and some types of farm implements, although builders' hardware is not as active as usual. Lumber dealers report trade quiet, and building operations are at a lower rate than for several years. Groceries and provisions are in rather slow movement.

Industrial operations are holding up at an unusually high rate for this period of the year, with steel plants operating at close to capacity. The demand for plate glass has been very good, and while the window glass situation is still far from satisfactory, demand is showing some increase. The demand for radio equipment is at a higher rate than is usual during July, and manufacturers of electrical equipment are operating at a considerably higher rate than a year ago. Demand for sanitary and heating equipment is slightly stronger, although not up to a year ago. Crude oil production continues at a very high rate, with prices being maintained at last week's quotations.

There has been no change in the bituminous coal situation, demand showing little improvement and prices for Western Pennsylvania grades of run-of-mine coal are practically unchanged. Quotations per net ton are as follows: Steam coal, $1.25 to $1.75; coking coal, $1.50 to $1.75; gas coal, $1.65 to $1.75; steam slack, 80c to 90c, and gas slack, $1.00 to $1.10.

Collections, while somewhat better than last year, still average rather slow with jobbers.

Corn Products Co. Net for Half Up

NEW YORK, July 27.—Corn Products Refining Company reports for five months ended June 30 net income of $6,866,255, after charges and federal taxes, against $6,026,054 in the first half 1928.

FRANK MORAN TO COLLECT PURSE

(James J. Long, who has been ill, expects to be able to resume conducting this column in Monday's issue.)

IT'S all over but the shouting so far as the retention of the Davis Cup by the French forces is concerned. With Bill Tilden succumbing to his old Nemesis, Henri Cochet, in straight sets and George M. Lott, Jr., bowing to Jean Borotra in the first two singles matches of the challenge round in Paris yesterday, the Gauls gained such a commanding lead that ultimate victory appears to be a mere matter of form.

Henri Cochet.

The French can lose the doubles contest to the young team of Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn today and still feel reasonably sure of bagging the one more triumph necessary to clinch matters on Sunday, when the order of play in the singles will be reversed. And the possibility of the Americans winning the doubles is very much of a gamble. Indeed, as these lines are written, it would seem that France's chances of making a clean sweep of the cup play are quite roseate, as a result of the fine start made yesterday.

The American team found all other opposition fairly easy, but beating the great French aggregation has proved something else again. Uncle Sam's forces blanked Canada in the first round, winning all five matches; downed Japan, four matches to one, and then shut out Cuba and moved into the challenge round by overwhelming Germany, the European Zone champion. These hollow triumphs merely serve to emphasize the world mastery of the French hosts.

JOE DUNDEE, the erstwhile Baltimore Bearcat, who was stripped of his world welterweight title by losing on a foul to Jackie Fields in two rounds at Detroit Thursday night, is through with the ring. A few hours after the bout was over, I met Max Waxman, his manager, in the latter's hotel quarters in Detroit and asked him what his plans were for the future of the man who had beaten Pete Latzo for the title and knocked out Mickey Walker, among his other conquests, and he replied in no uncertain fashion:

"Joe is through. He'll never fight again—at least not under my management. As soon as the shock of his defeat has worn off a bit I am going to advise him to hang up the gloves forever. I will not send him into the ring again and permit him to suffer serious injury. He came close to being killed tonight. His old affliction, a weak jaw, played him false and he was out on his feet from the first minute on against Fields. It is a miracle that he was not killed by the punishment meted out to him and his game stand against it.

"Joe fought on instinct alone, as anyone who knows anything about the sport could tell from the manner in which he crawled about the ring on his hands and knees each time he was knocked down and reeled about like a drunken sailor when he got back on his legs. He didn't know what he was doing and didn't realize what had happened until some time after he reached his dressing room. He was still 'out' when we got him back there and had to told what had occurred.

Sammy Mandell.

"Dundee is well fixed financially and doesn't have to worry about his future, and I would be the last man to send him back to be slaughtered by the ambitious youngsters. He thought he could beat Fields, and so did I, and we planned for one more fight for a big purse after this one But it is not to be. The Fields fight convinced me that Joe is through. He has had his fling with the title and will bid adieu to the sport. His brother, Vince, will carry on the family name as a boxer. He already has boxed Fields two 10-round bouts on the Coast, and I would like to send him against Jackie now. Stranger things have happened than he should beat the man who took the title from his big brother."

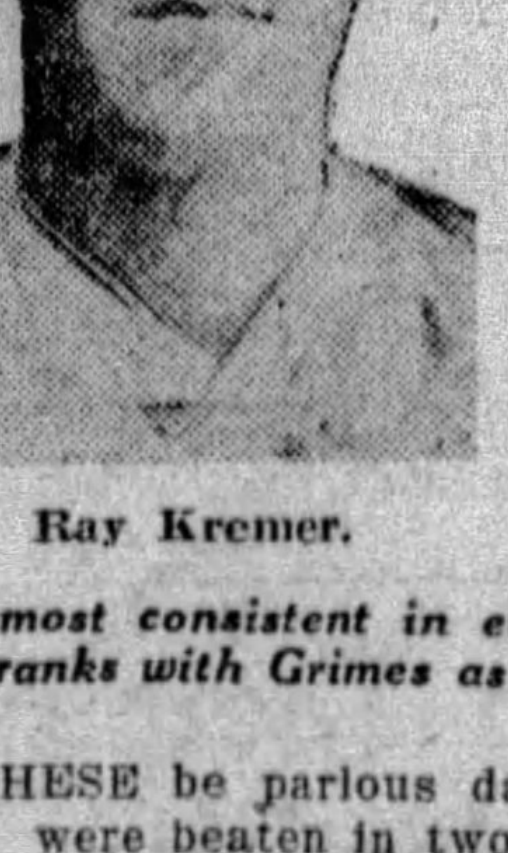
A NEW figure looms in the welterweight division in the person of Sammy Mandell, the lightweight champion. Sammy issued a challenge to the winner of the Detroit battle and it is not unlikely that when he meets Tony Canzoneri, the former featherweight champion, in their 10-round title bout at Chicago next Friday night he will be making his last stand in the 135-pound division. He has been finding it increasingly difficult to make the weight of the class, and, win or lose, will move on into the heavier brigade, where he should enliven the competition with Fields, the new champion, and Jimmy McLarnin, two other former lightweight stars, to play around with.



Ray Kremer.

ALTHOUGH the work of the Pirates has not been as good as might be desired since their return from the Eastern trip early this week, they do not give any real signs of cracking under the strain of the hot fight for the pennant with the Chicago Cubs, and they figure to bolster up their play with the return soon of Capt. Pie Traynor at third base and Burleigh Grimes on the mound. Meanwhile, a gratifying feature is the fine pitching of Ray Kremer, the veteran, who has been springing a real comeback to his best form just when it is most needed. It is no exaggeration that Kremer's pitching has been the most consistent in either league during the last month and he ranks with Grimes as an ace of the staff.

THESE be parlous days for the ring champions. Three of them were beaten in two successive nights this week, but only one of them, Dundee, lost his title. Andre Routis, the mideast featherweight champion, was stopped in two rounds by Al Singer and Mushy Callahan, the junior-welterweight ruler, dropped a 10-round decision to Jack (Kid) Berg, the English mauler, in non-title bouts on the same card in Brooklyn.

With the exception of Sammy Mandell, the lightweight king, and Tommy Loughran, the light-heavyweight boss, both clever, light-hitting boxers, there is not an outstanding champion on the list. Even Fields has yet to prove himself. He won decisively over Dundee, but more because Dundee was so bad than because he himself was so good.

FROM California comes the news that Frank Moran, former North Side heavyweight contender, is about to come into upwards of $40,000 which he long ago gave up hope of ever collecting. It represents his purse for his 20-round bout with Jack Johnson, then heavyweight champion, in Paris just before the World War. Johnson was paid off before the battle, but Moran's end was tied up by a moratorium declared by the French government. With interest it now

FRENCH HOPE TO END CUP DUEL TODAY

BULLETIN.

ROLAND GARROS STADIUM, PARIS, July 27.—Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn kept America in the running for the Davis Cup by defeating Henri Cochet and Jean Borotra, of France, in the challenge round doubles match here today. The Americans won in straight sets, 6-1, 8-6, 6-4.

PARIS, July 26.—(AP.)—America's bid to regain the Davis cup, symbol of world tennis supremacy, broke down yesterday before the perfect defenses of France.

Superb in his execution of every stroke, the French master, Henri Cochet, whipped Big Bill Tilden, fading American ace, in straight sets. Jean Borotra, veteran from the Basque, beat the young Chicagoan, George Lott, with the loss of but one set in the opening singles matches of the challenge round. With the doubles scheduled for today and another pair of singles tomorrow, France needs but one more victory to retain the famous cup for another year.

That one victory should be anything but hard to get on the basis of yesterday's play. Opening America's challenge this afternoon, the best the 22-year-old Lott could do was to keep Borotra from bounding and bouncing as much as he is wont to do. He could not keep him from winning with scores of 6-1, 2-6, 6-4, 7-5, in the Frenchman's favor.

TILDEN CRUSHED

In the second match, Cochet, the world champion, played with all the ease and accuracy of a true artist inspired to his best efforts and gave the once invincible Tilden the worst beating America's master of the racquet ever has suffered in international play. Cochet won with the loss of only half a dozen games. The scores were 6-3, 6-1, 6-2.

If Cochet can even approach tomorrow the unsurpassable form he had yesterday, then France need have no fears for her hold upon the Davis cup.

Cochet and Jean Borotra will represent France against Wilmer Allison and John Van Ryn in the doubles today. This was announced by French tennis authorities last night.

Selection of Cochet and Borotra to play the doubles indicated that France was determined to clinch the series today if possible. The French have Jacques Brugnon and Christian Boussus available for doubles

MONDAY—THE SUN IS NEAREST THE EARTH IN WINTER.

PROFIO AGAIN STOPPED BY RANDALL

Tiger Joe Randall, dynamic little negro boxer, of Elizabeth, has the Indian sign on Dominick Profio, Red Mason's hard-hitting welterweight from Cecil. This he demonstrated to a king's taste last night at Jimmy McGirr's first open-air show of the season at Cycler park, McKeesport when he opened a barrage of rights and lefts on Profio's chin in the third round which finally resulted in the stopping of the bout by Referee Al Grayber.

Profio was hanging helpless on the ropes, his face smeared with blood when Grayber waved Randall to his corner, the winner for the second time on a knockout over a fighter who not so long ago was looked upon as a ringman destined to get somewhere.

SECOND IN ROW

Last night's knockout triumph by Randall was his second successive victory by the kayo route over Profio, Randall having turned the trick at the Palisades in McKeesport last winter, and incidentally, that knockout also occurred in the third round.

Shortly after the bout opened, Randall, dancing around with his left extended, stopped long enough to send home a right to the chin which had Profio groggy. Another

Michigan Ring Board Suspends Dundee

DETROIT, July 27.—(AP.)—Joe Dundee, of Baltimore, who lost his welterweight championship to Jackie Fields here Thursday night on a foul, was suspended yesterday by the Michigan Athletic Board in control.

The suspension, which was made indefinite, is effective in 22 states. Dundee will lose nothing financially by the board's action, however. He collected $50,000, the full amount of his purse, before entering the ring last night.

The gate at last night's fight totaled $102,012, and was the largest ever collected for a welterweight championship match. Fields' share for the evening's work was not announced.

JACOBS PLAYS FOR TITLE

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., July 27. — (AP.) — Eddie Jacobs, left-handed tennis star of the University of Pittsburgh and Baltimore, and Bruce Barnes, University of Texas star, meet here today in the final game of the West Virginia open tennis championship.

Miss Josephine Dunham, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. DeLoyd Thompson, Washington, Pa., will play for the women's singles title.

JOHNNY EVERS HAS BRAVES HUSTLING

Those Braves are tough hombres for the Pirates and Cubs. They almost achieved their bold ambition in the opening game and there are strong indications that they will be out there to do battle in a big way this afternoon.

"All contenders look alike to us, and it is our intention to use our best pitchers against all of them," said Acting Manager Johnny Evers yesterday. "We intend to start with Brandt and then follow up in the doubleheaders with Smith and Seibold. We have a doubleheader with the Cubs next week and it is the idea to start with the same two good pitchers in that game. Our slogan is to hustle against everybody."

STILL HAS FIRE

Johnny has put on a few years since he played himself, but he seems to have more fire than ever. Moreover, he is still active physically and if you don't think so, just take a peek at the box score Monday after the Braves have finished up with the Dennison, O., club in an exhibition game. It is the intention of Evers and Hank Gowdy to take part in this contest, and that should be some treat for the fans of the Ohio city. Evers recently played in a 10-inning game at Port-

Stribling Jailed For Reckless Flying

TULSA, Okla., July 27.—(AP.)—The Tulsa jail house was hostelry for a time yesterday for W. L. (Young) Stribling, Georgia heavyweight boxer, here for a fight Monday night, and Johnny Husong, Wichita, Kan., boxing promotor.

Stribling was charged with reckless flying and disturbance of the peace with a siren on his airplane and Husong was booked for speeding with his automobile.

Newspapermen, peering around cautionsuly in jail shadows for possible publicity men, found bona fide informations against the two, sworn by Dan Patton, mayor of Tulsa.

The information charged Stribling "in reckless manner and abandon against the peace and dignity of the people of Tulsa," was flying over the aforesaid municipality, and was "blowing his siren and carrying on." Husong was charged with driving 45 miles and hour through the business district.

Petrolle Victor Over Goodrich

DULUTH, Minn., July 27.—(AP.)—Billy Petrolle, Duluth lightweight, scored an easy victory over Jimmy Goodrich, Buffalo, former champion, in a slow and uninteresting 10-round bout here last night.

Petrolle won eight of the 10 rounds, with two even, according to newspaper decision. He was the aggressor throughout. Petrolle was outweighed by seven pounds.

By CHARLES J. DOYLE

Boosting the Pirates for boosting Pittsburgh will be in order this afternoon at Forbes Field, when the Bushwhackers take on the dangerous Braves in a doubleheader. Perhaps the home boys will need all the boosting they can get, in view of their sizable hospital list, which was increased yesterday afternoon after Paul Waner and George Grantham met head-on in a big collision in short rightfield.

Optimistic reports emanated from the homes of the two injured stars this morning and last night. Grantham appeared to be hurt the worse of the two, as it seemed to require more time to revive him, but later at his home George said he was feeling quite well and might possibly swing into action today. His internal workings were badly shaken up.

PAUL BRUISES LEG

Brother Paul came out of the smashup with a very sore and bruised left leg. Hot and cold packs were applied to the injured parts last night, the rightfielder having a keen desire to remain in the lineup. However, it was doubtful whether he would be able to take his place in the battle-front.

Capt. Traynor and Burleigh Grimes have been on the shelf for some time, so that everybody holding Pirate sentiments is hopeful that the latest casualties are not of a serious nature.

Grantham and P. Waner were concentrated on grabbing Jimmy Welsh's short fly in the eighth inning when they collided. Two runners were on the sacks at the time, and the Braves were getting close to the Buccaneer run total, so that the two athletes were ready to risk injury to make a catch. The ball hit Grantham's glove as the big impact took place. The rocket fell away as the players reeled. Brother Paul, however, was able to return the sphere to the infield before he went down for a long count.

BRAME'S HIT WINS

The Freebooters won the hard-fought contest in the ninth inning after two were out. A whistling homer over the leftfield wall by Recruit Stuart Clarke with L. Waner on base tied up the fight, and Ervin Brame won it later when, pinch-hitting for Jess Petty, he singled to center with the bases

BRUINS MAINTAIN LEAD OVER PIRATES

Then There Was the Scotch Owl That Wouldn't Even Give a Hoot

WELLS PITCHES YANKEES TO 9-0 WIN

By Associated Press.

Donie Bush, fiery little leader of the Pittsburgh Pirates, is having a lot of luck these days but it's all bad.

A formidable hospital list has so crippled the Corsairs in recent weeks that it will take all Donie's skill to jockey his lineup around so that the Pirates remain within hailing distance of the Chicago Cubs, current pace-setters in the National League.

The Pirates sailed along in serene fashion until Pie Traynor was hurt in Philadelphia. Then Burleigh Grimes, ace of the pitching staff, suffered a dislocated thumb, George Grantham bobbed up with a lame shoulder and in yesterday's battle with the Boston Braves Grantham and Paul Waner collided as both chased a short fly and were so badly shaken up they had to retire from the game. The collision did Grantham's shoulder no good and Paul suffered a bruised leg and arm that may keep him out of the lineup for several days.

WIN WITH RALLY

Notwithstanding the loss of two of their most effective batters, the Pirates rallied in the ninth to nose out the Braves in a knockdown and drag-out battle, 9 to 8. The Braves had scored three runs in their half of the last frame, but the Corsairs tied up the game on Clarke's homer and scored the winning run on a single by pinch hitter Ervin Brame.

The Cubs maintained their one-game lead over Pittsburgh by trouncing the Phillies, 13 to 10 in a game in which 35 safe hits were scored, 17 for the Phils and 18 for the Cubs. The Phils scored seven runs in the first two innings, four of them coming over on Chuck Klein's thirty-first homer in the second inning with the bases loaded. But the Phils couldn't hold this lead, the league leaders clustering 11 hits for as many runs in the third and fourth innings. Cliff Heathcote, subbing for the injured Cuyler, got five hits in as many times at bat.

CARDS WIN FOURTH

Showing a further return to form, the St. Louis Cardinals downed the New York Giants for their fourth straight victory, 4 to 3, and advanced to within two and a half games of third place.

Jakie May let the Brooklyn Dodgers down with six hits, and Cincinnati trotted off with a 4-to-1 triumph. The Reds bunched hits off McWeeny in the third to score three runs, enough to win the game as it afterwards proved.

In the American League, the Philadelphia Athletics retained their 10½-game lead over the Yankees by downing Chicago 3 to 1. Howard Ehmke let the Sox down with four hits. Ted Lyons was touched for two runs in the first inning, but allowed only one hit—a home run by Jimmy Dykes—after the third inning.

WELLS BLANKS BROWNS

Behind Ed Wells' fine pitching, the Yankees pounded Sammy Gray and Stewart for 11 hits and a 9-0 shutout. Lou Gehrig hit his twenty-fourth homer, and Bill Dickey drove out two.

Walter Miller was too much for Senator batsmen, and Cleveland beat Washington 4 to 2. The Indians scored two runs in the first inning and drove Sad Sam Jones out of the box with another in the second inning.

Behind steady pitching by Owen Carroll, Detroit beat the Boston Red Sox 4 to 1. Harry Heilmann got a double and a home run to lead the Tigers' 11-hit offensive against Milt Gaston. Carroll allowed only seven hits and never was in danger.

MELLOW TO BOX EDDIE REED

Promoter Jim McGirr, of McKeesport, has signed Johnny Mellow, of Detroit, to box Eddie Reed, clever Negro boxer, of Philadelphia, in the main bout of his show in the Cycler Park open-air arena next Friday night. Reed has been going great around Erie and in other spots and is highly touted.

Emmett Rocco, Ellwood City heavyweight, and Johnny Risko meet in a return bout of 12 rounds at the Public Auditorium in Cleveland Monday night. In their first clash, recently, Rocco won the decision.

Tommy Crawley, South Side lightweight, winds up his training in the Pittsburgh Lyceum gymnasium today for his 10-round main bout with Tony Herrera, of Chicago, at the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, Monday night.

Floyd Hybert boxes Bal Silvers in a 10-rounder in New York tonight.

FRENCH SEEK FINAL WIN

duty, but apparently decided to make every effort to clinch the series today.

U. S. PAIR STRONG

Allison and Van Ryn captured the doubles championship at Wimbledon and promise to provide formidable opposition for the French masters. As a matter of fact, expert opinion gives the young Americans at least an even chance to win.

The veteran Tilden tried all the strokes in his repertoire, but there seemed nothing he could do to get the ball out of Cochet's reach. The sturdy little French tennis machine anticipated every move of his lanky rival and seemed capable of returning the ball from any position at any place he chose.

Cochet's back-court driving, both backhand and forearm, was faultless. From midcourt and net he hit the ball with a deadly accuracy. The Frenchman chased Tilden from one side of the back court to the other and kept him from coming to the net most of the time.

Tilden relied mostly on underhand strokes that bound but slightly, but Cochet, with uncanny anticipation, pounced upon the weakly-bounding ball every time.

LOTT FIGHTS HARD

Borotra's victory over Lott was not as easily gained as Cochet's triumph.

Lott's lobs at the start simply wouldn't rise out of Borotra's sky-rocketing racquet, or, if they did, they bounced entirely out of the court. But in the second set the Chicago youth began putting the ball where he wanted it, driving Borotra away from the forecourt and tantalizing him with slow balls that floated low into the back court and put an end to the bounding of the Bounding Basque.

When he had upset Borotra sufficiently with rangy lobs and drowsily-moving forehand shots, Lott changed his pace with crisp placements and drew Borotra into errors. He captured the second set and then went on level terms with the Frenchman to four games all in the third set.

GETS BAD BREAKS

Borotra won the ninth game on his own service, and then came the break that decided the winner. In the tenth game Lott dropped two lobs on the baseline, and both were called out, although many of the spectators thought they were in, and Lott himself seemed to feel sure that at least one of them had been. On the next play Borotra hit the American's baseline with a lob and the ball was judged in.

Thus three points on close decisions all went against Lott, and with them went his service and the set, giving Borotra a lead of two sets to one.

figures up to the above-mentioned sum. Frequent efforts to collect the purse have failed, but Moran has been informed he can pick it up now and is planning a trip to Paris for that purpose.

Frank can use the money. He is a boxing commission deputy in California, where he now makes his home, and is married and has two children.

THE Charlotte (N. C.) Chamber of Commerce has launched a campaign to round up 1,500 football fans to ride in a cavalcade of automobiles to the Duke University Stadium dedication game at Durham, N. C., October 5, when the University of Pittsburgh eleven will furnish the opposition. Duke is coached by Jimmy DeHart, former Pitt backfield star. The new bowl will seat 35,000 persons and will be one of the finest in the land.

B. C.—No, I do not think a return bout between Andy DiVodi and Dick Ramies would go over well here. In fact, I'm sold on the idea that DiVodi has worn out his welcome in these parts because of his penchant for taking the easy way out, as demonstrated in his two battles at the Meyers Bowl with Buck McTiernan and Ramies. I thought I made myself clear on this point in this column a few days ago.

DIEGEL LEADS IN CANADIAN OPEN

MONTREAL, July 27.—(AP)—Leo Diegel, rushing home in characteristic Diegel fashion, shortly after sundown, took the lead in the Canadian open golf championship by shooting a brilliant 67, three under par, in the second round yesterday. This sensational performance gave the three times champion a 36-hole total of 137, a stroke better than Tommy Armour had posted earlier in the afternoon.

Diegel's 67, following a par 70 Thursday, was the best performance of the second round by two strokes. Par was more elusive than Thursday and until the pro from Mexico did his bit, 69 was low for the day. One of the 69's fell to Tommy Armour, the 1927 champ, in the first round, giving him a total of 138.

WILD BILL THIRD

Bill Mellhorn, too, fired a 69 at the championship, a total of 140 giving him third place. Long Jim Barnes, the first round leader, fell away from 66 to 75 and had to be satisfied with fourth place.

The other 69 was scored by Robert Mitchell, young pro from Massena, N. Y. This good score did not place him among the leaders, however, for he had a bad 79 as an opener.

Ernie Eakelam, Brockville, Ont., pro who was around in 68 Thursday, required 76 yesterday and his total of 144 placed him in a tie for eighth place. A position shared by Harry Towlson, Ottawa pro.

Billy Burke, Westport, N. Y., was fifth and Horton Smith and Joe Kirkwood tied for sixth.

HAGEN TAKES 144

"Wiffy" Cox and Emmett French slipped in with the 144's and Walter Hagen, Jack Forrester and John Golden tied at 145. Ross Somerville, Canadian amateur, took the lead among the amateurs with a 36-hole card of 149. George Von Elm, Detroit, the first round amateur leader slumped to 79 today and had a half way count of 150, a position shared by a number of well known pros, including Gene Sarazen and Joe Turnesa.

The field was reduced to four score survivors, who will go out today to play a final and deciding 36 holes. Only those able to negotiate the first 36 holes in 157 strokes remain in the competition.

Diegel's great round was compiled after an inauspicious start. The champion was a stroke over par at the first hole, grabbed it back with a birdie at the second, and then missed the short third green with his tee shot and took four. He did not yield to par again. There are three par five holes, and he scored birdies at each. His only five of the round was at the par-four first. The leaders' scores follow:

Wright, Shields In Title Round

TORONTO, July 27.—(AP.)—Jack Wright, No. 1 ranking player of the Dominion, and Frank Shields, young New York star, advanced to the final round of the Canadian lawn tennis singles championship yesterday.

Wright sprang a thrilling upset, beating Doeg, of Santa Monica, Cal., in the semi-finals, 5-7, 6-4, 6-2, 6-4. Doeg was erratic and made many errors.

Shields just managed to outlast Willard Crocker, No. 2 player in the Canadian lists, winning a hectic five-set battle 4-6, 12-10, 7-5, 4-6, 9-7.

MAX, PILOTS LOSE LICENSES

NEW YORK, July 27.—(AP.)—The heavy hand of the New York State Athletic Commission has swept Max Schmeling, young German heavyweight, and his American managers, Joe Jacobs and Bill McCarney, from the boxing rolls until such time as they see fit to abide by the rulings of the fistic fathers.

On top of the indefinite suspensions meted out to all three almost two weeks ago because of Schmeling's refusal to honor a contract to box Phil Scott for Humbert J. Fugazy, the commission yesterday filed the revocation of their licenses—Schmeling as a boxer and Jacobs and McCarney as managers.

The action of the commission was the most drastic the board could take in the controversy that has developed between rival managers and promoters for the Teuton's ring services. The commission has ruled that Schmeling must honor the contract Fugazy holds before engaging in any other matches, and last Tuesday warned Bill Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden Corporation, that both he and his organization faced indefinite suspension if any effort was made to match the German and Jack Sharkey for a heavyweight title go either here or in any other part of the United States.

MANCHESTER, Mass., July 27.—(AP.)—Edith Cross, of San Francisco, America's third ranking woman tennis player, and Mary Greef, of Kansas City, gained the final bracket of the fifth annual Essex Country Club singles tourney by defeating two New York veterans of many Wightman Cup battles.

Miss Cross defeated Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, 6-3, 6-4, and the Kansas City girl, who was unseeded, eliminated Eleanor Goss, 6-4, 6-0.

BROWN LOSES

HARTFORD, Conn., July 27.—Bat Battalino defeated Al Brown, world bantamweight champ, in a 10-round non-title bout here last night.

STEELERS WIN FIRST HALF TITLE

By TOM BIRKS.

The bats of the Carnegie Steel nine sort of skimmed the Reick-McJunkin Milkman last evening in a play-off game for the first half championship in the Commercial and Industrial League. The Steelers defeated the Milkmen, 6 to 3, at Garfield Park, and now have the first half pennant stowed away in their possession.

In the City League, the Pleasant Valley Smilers landed a close, but never the less satisfying 6 to 5 victory over the North Side Civics. It took a four-run rally in the sixth inning to turn the trick.

REDDICK INJURED

Dude Reddick, Smiler center fielder, suffered a possible fracture of his left leg as he collided with a bench in center as he raced after a long fly.

Book Shoe defeated the Reineckers in a second City League encounter, 6 to 4.

The Braddock Owls defeated the Westinghouse Club, 5 to 3, in a fast Tri-Boro League fracas. Collier Juniors downed the Rooney Reds, 8 to 2, in a Junior League engagement. Verona beat Edgewood, 4 to 0, in the Greater Pittsburgh circuit and the Presbyterians nosed out St. Phillips, 2 to 1, in the Crafton Church League.

GUNNERS GET TIE

Homewood and Canonsburg played to a 3-3 tie in the Inter-County loop. The J. A. Lineys won over the Iroquois Club, 7 to 0, in the Central circuit.

In a feature independent tussle, the Homestead Aces stepped out and defeated North Bessemer, 5 to 2. Sheridan M. E. won over the J. J. Boyles, 3 to 2.

MRS. FRIEDMAN WINS TOURNEY

By VERN SWARTSFAGER.

Boasting a five-stroke lead over her nearest rival, Mrs. L. K. Friedman, of Westmoreland Country Club, won the one-day tournament of the Women's Golf Association at the Edgewood Country Club yesterday. Mrs. Friedman scored a low net of 54. Her gross score was 84.

In second place came Mrs. J. M. Irwin with 95-15—80. Mrs. R. M. Kirchner was third with 95-14—81. Mrs. C. H. Lehman was fourth with 94-12—82.

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN.

The wind-up of the regular schedule of Section I of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association Inter-Club League is carded for this afternoon with tussles of titular importance heading the bill. The pace-setting Edgewood host, aiming to clinch the loop championship for the first time in a number of campaigns, will entertain College Hill in an affair that will settle matters definitely if the home contingent can romp off with the verdict without loss of more than one match of the nine to be played.

Meanwhile, Dave O'Loughlin's P. A. A. racqueters, present champions, will meet Stanton Heights on the latter's lot in hope that they may blank the Stantonians and that College Hill may register good showing against Edgewood. As matters stand, the Winged Head crew must come through without dropping a singles or doubles engagement either to Stanton Heights or to South Hills—the latter to be encountered later in the play-off of a postponement—if they are to remain in the running, and even upon this condition, Edgewood must drop at least two tilts to College Hill today to allow the Red and Gray netmen to tie up the chase.

P. A. A. STARS BACK

Capt. O'Loughlin and Jack Lauler, fresh from military camp, where they cleaned up cantonment court honors in handy fashion, will be found in the P. A. A. lineup for the first time in six weeks. Their presence will strengthen their array considerably, but whether it will do so to the extent of effecting a Stanton shutout is a matter of doubt, for the Heightmen, entrenched in third place, cherish the thought of pushing the Winged Head aggregation from the runner-up position, and can be depended upon to exert every effort, despite an unfortunately depleted force, to turn in a win.

South Hills and Westinghouse will also contest for standing in the season finale, though only a decisive victory for the Hilltoppers can thrust the Electricians to the rear. University Club, its slate complete except for an affair with College Hill setback from early June, enjoys a day of idleness.

SEEK REVENGE

In Section II, Howard Moore's College Avenue combine, bolstered by the addition of Sam Keller, 1929 Duke racquet leader, will seek on its own rectangles vengeance for a trimming suffered at the hands of Wilkinsburg a little over a fortnight ago.

At Mount Lebanon, Russ Unger and his cohorts will seek to hold the second notch against the onslaught of the Westinghouse contingent, which now reposes in station three. Minnetonka and Philadelphia fill out the program with a fracas at the Pitt Stadium. Today's jousts mark the start of the latter half of the lower division race.

Famous Last Words: That Ain't No Snake, It's a Rope

SUN-TELEGRAPH SPORTS

GRANTHAM HERO AND THEN VICTIM

FOUR-RUN HOMER

George Grantham, slugging second baseman of the Pirates, put his team in the running with the Boston Braves at Forbes Field yesterday by socking a home run with the bases full in the seventh inning, as pictured and diagramed above.

HURT IN COLLISION

And here is the same Grantham being led off the field by Dr. William L. Marks and a Boston player in the very next inning after a collision with Paul Waner going after Welsh's fly to right. Both Grantham and Waner had to leave the game.

Big Six Stars Fail to Hoist Averages

Associated Press.

The Big Six batsmen barely held their own in the averages yesterday, and one even failed to do that. Heinie Manush went hitless in four times at bat and lost four points, dropping to .379. Babe Ruth and Mel Ott each gained a single point while the other members all finished the day where they started although each got one or more hits. Rogers Hornsby was the only one to hit safely twice. The standing:

land, Me., and he accepted all his chances.

While the Braves are meeting the Dennison club, the Buccos will be engaged in Youngstown where they are scheduled to meet the Oaklands of that city. The Youngstown folk plan to make a picnic of the affair with the big-leaguers.

Jess Petty is wearing a smile today as a result of the acquisition of one of the easiest victories that ever came to him. Jess pitched to only two hitters, but he received credit for the game as he still was officially the Pirate pitcher when the game ended.

BRAME VALUABLE

Ervin Brame is earning a side salary as a pinch-hitter. There was nothing sour about the safety he carved himself in the big pinch of the ninth, his hot shot stirring up the dust as he hit the dirt behind second base. Brame has won nine games as against only five defeats and has proved himself one of the most valuable men on the Pittsburgh squad.

112th Stars Win Camp Track Meet

CAMP THOMPSON, Pa., July 27.—(AP.)—Athletes of the One Hundred Twelfth Infantry regiment of Northwestern Pennsylvania, under the command of Col. C. Blaine Smathers, made a clean sweep of the company, battalion and regimental events in the track meet yesterday.

Company C, One Hundred Twelfth Infantry, Capt. Ralph V. Reisgen, Ford City, commanding, was the winning company with a total score of 48 points. In the battalion contest, first place went to the First Battalion, One Hundred Twelfth Infantry, under command of Maj. James F. Leetch, of Butler.

The One Hundred Twelfth won the inter-regimental contest by 302½ points, scoring a large margin over the One Hundred Third Engineers, under the command of Col. Jackson W. Study, Philadelphia, second with 252½ points. Third place was won by the One Hundred Eleventh Infantry, also of Philadelphia, commanded by Col. Charles B. Finley; fourth and last place went to the One Hundred Third Medical regiment, with companies recruited from all points of Pennsylvania, under command of Col. Edward M. Iland, of Coraopolis. The medical regiment scored 39 points.

CENTRAL NET TITLE WON BY O'LOUGHLIN

Billy O'Loughlin, slashing Duke Prep ace, is Pittsburgh Center junior net premier for the third consecutive year. The Bluff youngster copped final honors in the annual local tourney yesterday by downing Frank Broida, stocky Harvard freshman star and former Peabody southpaw, 6-4, 6-3, 5-7, 7-5, in a hard-driving, closely-contested tussle on the P. A. A. lot. Meanwhile on an adjoining court, Harry Tsorvais, Beaver Falls lad, annexed the title in the boys' division by fighting from the rear to account for Carl Link, East End performer, in a long drawn-out three-set affair, 8-10, 6-1, 6-4.

O'Loughlin and Tsorvais, by virtue of their triumphs, will be sent at the expense of the Pittsburgh Tennis Association, under the auspices of which the Center meeting was conducted, to represent the Steel City in the National Junior and Boys' championships at Culver Military Academy, Culver, Ind., the week of August 12.

STAGE HARD FIGHT

O'Loughlin and the vastly improved Broida battled through their four sessions in fast and interesting fashion. Both were hitting severely from the baseline, with the victor keeping the sphere under the better control.

Broida flashed a surprisingly strong backhand, but was unable to hit consistently enough from either side to keep his opponent on the defensive and turn to use the notable disparity in strength between the O'Loughlin forehand and backhand. Neither youth dared invade the fore-court ara, both being extremely uncertain at the net and inspired with healthy respect for each other's ground strokes.

Broida worked sturdily, but was unable to breeze into the running in the first two sets. In bracket three, O'Laughlin led at 5-3 and 40-love, only to drop three points in a row off his own service to deuce the game. Again he pushed to advantage and lost it, Broida ultimately annexing the game, knotting the count at 5-all, and grabbing off the set, 7-5. Broida then forged to the front in frame four, but O'Loughlin steadied and tightened to deadlock the issue and race out at 7-5.

FIFTH STRAIGHT TITLE

The triumph marked O'Loughlin's fifth consecutive win of a Pittsburgh Center crown. He bagged the boys' event in 1925 and 1926 and stepped on to add the junior bauble in 1927, 1928 and 1929, thereby establishing a mark without precedent and leaving in his last campaign below the senior division a record for coming generations to shoot at, perhaps fruitlessly, for many a season.

Tsorvais bumped Link by the simple expedient of outstaying him after dropping a protracted initial set. Link, impatient to finish the rallies, frequently erred inexcusably, while the Beaver Falls boy, endowed with less volatile temperament, strung along to turn hostile misplays into decisive tallies. Neither performer boasted powerful strokes.

Tsorvais remained on the backline and kept the pellet in motion, while Link followed similar tactics, except for occasional excursions to the barrier, where he showed a bit more effectiveness than did his rival. Lack of competitive experience told heavily against Link, who must learn poise under the exigencies of match play if he is to advance to the upper strata of the pastime.

String of Horses On Block Today

WAYNESBURG, Pa., July 26.—The entire string of harness and running race horses, as well as fox hunters and jumpers, owned by George L. Zimmerman, prominent Waynesburg, Pa., horseman, will be sold at a public auction to be held here today.

For the past several years Zimmerman's harness horses have been campaigned on all of the half-mile tracks in the Tri-State section, while his runners have appeared at various eastern tracks during that time. The stable owned by Zimmerman includes about 30 head.

PIRATES PLAY TWO TODAY

filled and two out, to score Ira Flagstead with the winning run. Flagstead had batted for Fred Brickell. The score was 9 to 8.

The Boosters will be out in big numbers this afternoon, provided the weather is favorable to the sport. The program calls for the start of play at 1:45. Brame is down to work the first game for the Buccos, with French or Fussell all set for the second clash. The Braves will use Harry Seibold and Bob Smith on the mound.

BOOSTERS TO DO STUFF

The Boosters' program begins with an informal reception in honor of Judge W. H. S. Thompson, speaker of the day, in the Amen Corner rooms at the William Penn Hotel. At 1:15 the big committee of business men, manufacturers and professional leaders, who have been conducting the Pirate homecoming welcome, will arrive at Forbes Field and at 1:25 will assemble on the playing field around home plate for the ceremonies which are to precede the doubleheader. These formalities are to begin at 1:30 with the rendition by Vera Kaighn Nirella of the National Anthem. Her splendid voice will be amplified to the stands, even to the remotest bleachers, and carried by KDKA on the air to the uttermost parts of broadcasting possibilities. General Chairman Thomas A. Dunn then briefly will present the speaker of the day, the Hon. W. H. S. Thompson, judge of the Federal Court.

Judge Thompson will deliver a 10-minute address and speak the gratitude of the Pittsburgh public for the fine showing thus far made by the Pirates, emphasizing the tremendous civic advertising value to Pittsburgh of a pennant contending team and voicing the hope of all sincere sons of Pitt that another world championship flag will float from the masthead at Forbes Field before the snow flies.

Danny Nirella's Band, which will be on hand at Forbes Field at 1 o'clock, will add to the festive occasion by rendering in their characteristic sprightly manner the popular tunes of the hour.

Before he went out with injuries, Boots Grantham delivered a clean-up homer to break a deadlock in the first clash with the Boston fighters. Grantham whacked the ball into the rightfield stands in the seventh with the bases loaded, after Eddie Brandt had purposely passed the dangerouh Comorosky to get at the lefthand-swinging Grantham.

George's fine stroke probably would have clinched the hot afternoon's argument had there been no smashup between the two stars. Two runs went over the plate on Welsh's fluke hit, and on top of a little horse play in the ninth the Braves made three more tallies and thus enjoyed a two-run advantage in the last frame.

KREMER CHASED

Remy Kremer didn't win a game that would have given him seven in a row, the Frenchman being unfortunate in the eighth and ninth. The collision occurred in the eighth, and Adams' fumble in the ninth paved the way to a run or two. Steve Swetonic worked on two batters after relieving Frenchy, and, as both hit safely, Jess Petty came in to pitch to Harper, who bats lefthanded. Dugan batted for Harper and drove in the third run of the inning, Richbourg's three-bagger, Maranville's single and a single by Sisler being the high spots of the round.

Bob Smith relieved Brandt in the heated ninth. Bob was smart in walking hitters, he eventually filling up the sacks with two out to bring Petty up. But Manager Bush sent Brame up in place of the Silver Fox, and Ervin singled to win the battle.

RANDALL STOPS PROFIO AGAIN

FIGHT AFTER BELL

He struck his dusky opponent while he was on the floor. Neither fighter heard the bell and Profio had to be backed away by Referee Grayber. Randall was groggy as he walked to his corner.

With the start of the second, he came out more cautiously, dancing around with his left shooting continuously in Profio's face. Dominick was unable to get set and landed few hard punches. Randall possibly foresaw a knockout as he came out for the third and went to work on Profio's chin. A hard right floored the Cecil slugger and he took the count of nine on one knee. Getting up, he ran into a barrage of rights and lefts, which left his face looking like it had gone through a meat-chopper.

Finally, Profio turned from the battle-front and holding on to the upper rope with one hand, tried to ward off Randall's blows with the other. He was helpless and was taking a merciless beating when the bout was stopped.

THIRD VICTORY

Randall's victory last night was his third over Profio. Last winter, at the Moose Temple, the little Negro cut Profio to ribbons for 10 rounds, but was unable to put over the sleep-producing wallop. Rematched, Profio was an overwhelming favorite to turn the tables on Randall, but Joe scored his most notable victory by hanging the kayo wallop on Dominic's chin.

To add insult to injury, Randall took Profio's weight forfeit of $25, as the Cecil fighter came in two and one-half pounds over the weight limit of 144 pounds. Randall scaled 142½.

The semi-final of eight rounds brought together two novices in the persons of Joe Colombo, of Charleroi and Clarksburg, and Mike Cima, of Turtle Creek. After eight rounds of indifferent fighting, Colombo grabbed off a three-way decision. Colombo weighed 150, while Cima came in at 145½.

SOLMEN BEATS POLLOCK

Mickey Solmen, of New Castle, hit Johnny Pollock, of Pittsburgh, with everything but the gate receipts, but was unable to kayo him in the second bout of six rounds. Pollock, who recently was discharged from the United States Marine Corps, started off fast and slowed down Solmen considerably, but the New Castle slugger came back and with some pretty rights to the head brought his opponent down to a walk and then proceeded to give him the neatest pasting a fighter has ever received in a Tube City ring. Solmen weighed 155, as compared with 153½ for Pollock.

Joey Angelo, of Braddock, a protege of Frank Klaus, and Sammy Paris, stocky little Jewish fighter, of Pittsburgh, furnished plenty of fireworks in the six-round opener, with honors even. Angelo tried hard for a knockout, but Paris took everything he had in the early rounds and evened up the score in the late sessions.

Jimmy McLaughlin, of Braddock, and Jock Simco, of McKeesport, were the judges. A crowd of more than 1,500 fans witnessed the bouts.

Two New Features Offered On Radio Tonight

By DARRELL V. MARTIN, Sun-Telegraph Radio Editor.

TWO new features come to us tonight in "The Haunting Melody" over KDKA at 7:30 and Jesse Crawford's Melody Hour from WJAS at 10:30 p. m.

Louis Kaufman, announcer at KDKA, makes his official debut as a radio continuity writer in "The Haunting Melody." Unknown to the radio audience this youth has written some of the cleverest continuities heard over the pioneer station. We predict his first official offering will be good.

Jesse Crawford, famous organist, has been scheduled to open his "Melody Hour" series over the Columbia network bringing to the Saturday night audience dreamy waltzes and songs. Quite appropriately he has included Strauss' "Beautiful Blue Danube."

One of the prettiest and most romantic scenes ever filmed is that of "In the Land of Let's Pretend," a part of "On With the Show," now appearing at the Grand. Helen Nugent and Ben Alley will sing the song over WJAS at 8:30 o'clock.

"On Miami Shore," which carries the imagination into Utopian bliss, will be a part of the WJAS Temple Hour at 9:30.

The businessman and student of economics will be sure to tune in on WJAS at 10 p. m. to hear Robert Lamont, Secretary of Commerce, discuss "Census of Merchandise Distribution."

Stars of Broadway will twinkle for Commander Richard Byrd and his Antarctic crew when WGY broadcasts a one-hour program at 11 o'clock.

Correct Baseball Scoring

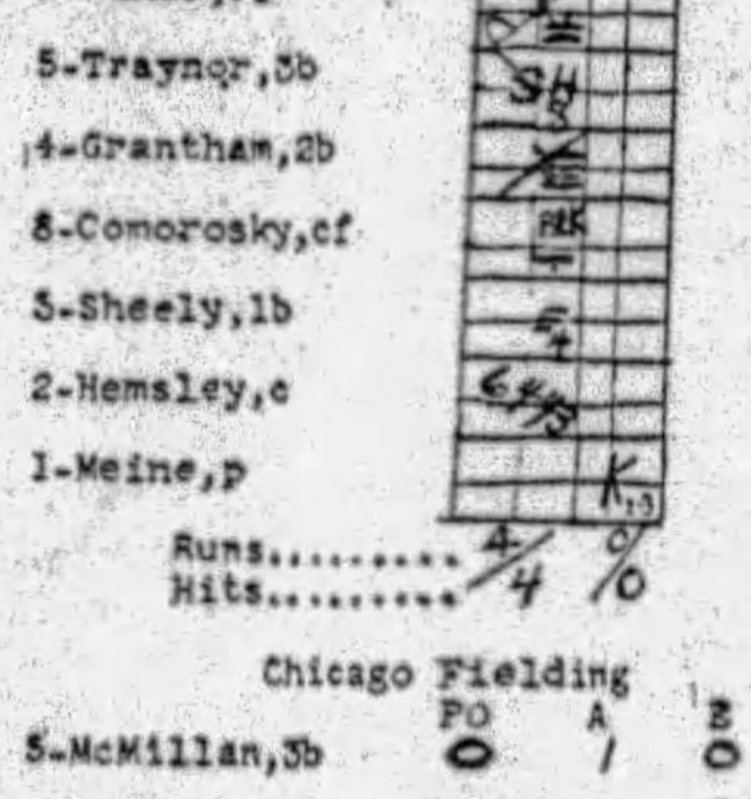
No. 22.

To illustrate a simplified method of keeping a box score in baseball, two innings of the Pittsburgh batting and the way the fielding is recorded and credited to the opposition (Chicago) is listed:



Chicago Fielding

| 2-Schulte,c | 0 | 2 | 0 |
| 1-Bush,p | 0 | 0 | 0 |
| Totals... | 6 | 5 | 1 |

First inning—Bartell walked and stole second. Brickell's single to right scores Bartell. Waner doubles to center to score Brickell. Waner takes third on a wild pitch and scores on Traynor's sacrifice to Wilson (No. 8). Grantham scores a home run on a hit to left. Comorosky beats out a bunt and then takes second on a balk. Sheely is safe on Hornby's error and Hemsley hits into a double play, English to Hornsby to Grimm (6-4-4-3).

Second inning—Meine strikes out and is thrown out, Schulte to Grimm (2-3) when the catcher drops the third strike. Bartell reaches first base when hit by a pitched ball. He is caught stealing, Schulte to Hornsby (2-4) and Brickell is thrown out McMillan to Grimm (6-3).

New Amusement Bills Announced Along With Gossip About Stars of Films

EMIL JANNINGS MAY APPEAR IN NEW PARAMOUNT FILM TO BE MADE ABROAD

By DOROTHY HERZOG

(Copyright, 1929, by Premier Syndicate.)

HOLLYWOOD, July 27.

ACCORDING to a story picked up on the Famous Players' lot, Joseph von Sternberg is slated to trek to Berlin to direct Emil Jannings in a picture for Paramount release. Efforts to learn details were unsuccessful. But the very fact that Von Sternberg is to megaphone a Jannings flick is interesting.

Emil Jannings

In all likelihood it may have to do with the foreign motion picture situation. Foreign countries are wary of the onslaught of American production. For economic and business reasons, it 'pears when Jannings and his wife departed the U. S. A., they took their belongings with them. Looks as though Herr Emil will conclude his Famous flick contract on home grounds. Von Sternberg, if you recollect, megaphoned him in one of his biggest reelers, "The Last Command."

Anyway, they're tellin' it. It concerns a director who had a coupla scenes in his flick whooped up by a panther. The set was encircled by heavy wiring. The director's mother-in-law was among those in the big escape scene with the panther. While the cameraman fixed the lights, the director traipsed to his office for a second. Suddenly, the door burst open and a pop-eyed propman gasped: "That panther's got out and is on the set alone with your mother-in-law!"

The director scowled: "Don't bother me. Let the darn panther take care of himself!"

Two News Reels Now Appear As One

M-G-M News and International Newsreel, the two leading reels in the silent field, both produced by the Hearst organization, will make their first appearance in combined form in thousands of theaters throughout the country under the new name, M-G-M-International Newsreel. Thus the vast resources of the most far-reaching and powerful news-gathering organization in existence will be combined to produce the greatest newsreel ever issued. The combination of M-G-M with International Newsreel was brought about because of the entrance of the Hearst organization into the sound newsreel field with the desire to have one silent and one sound reel. The new sound reel, to be known as Hearst Me.rotone News, will make its first appearance in September, also backed by the vast resources of the Hearst organization.

The combination of M-G-M and International Newsreel marks another epoch of far-reaching importance in the history of news reels to exhibitors and motion picture theater patrons. International Newsreel was the first actual news reel to be regularly issued and, in the years that have elapsed since its first appearance in 1912, it has built up a reputation unequaled until M-G-M came into the field two years ago. Since that time International Newsreel and M-G-M News have been the acknowledged leaders in the silent field. Now the unmatched resources of the two are to be united into a super news reel, M-G-M-International Newsreel.

Arliss Valet Keen Puncher

YEARS ago, O. Henry wrote a story about a man, on a tour of the Bowery, who knocked out a world's champion without knowing who he was, and fainted from fright when he learned whom he had hit.

The first part of the story was founded on an actual incident, and the man who figured in the event is none other than George Arliss' valet, George Jenner.

Back in 1905, Jenner had been in this country only a short time. He dropped into "Jim's," then a famous New York bar at Forty-seventh street and Seventh avenue, late one eve for a drink.

George Arliss

The lightweight champion, Young Corbett, was also at "Jim's." He was plenty foggy and no end insulting. He took exception to Jenners English accent and cussed him out. Jenner didn't believe he had heard aright, and requested his unknown reviler to repeat. Young Corbett obliged. Jenner, who is six feet tall, promptly leaned one on Young Corbett's jaw and sent him flying over a table. He crashed to the floor—still. He was out for half an hour.

"You'd better get out of here," Jim advised, polishing a glass. "If that guy comes to it'll be hard on you."

Jenner calmly drank his ale.

Young Corbett recovered consciousness after Jenner's departure and shouted wild threats he'd shoot that guy. Hearing of it, Jenner returned the next eve to investigate. The champ, in the meantime, had been put away and was hitting the hay a snore a second. Instead of a fight, Jenner found himself the guest of honor at a champagne party thrown by Jim in honor of his socking the champ for the triple count. Jenner never saw Young Corbett again.

But O. Henry in browsing around the odd corners of New York for story material, heard of the incident, twisted it, and penned a corking story.

One can readily understand now why Director Al Green stops work on "Disraeli" when Jenner marches into a scene to inform Mr. Arliss that it is 4 o'clock and time to quit!

Will Rogers Says

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., July 27.

All is quiet on the eastern front, Russia and China couldn't get the proper amount of signatures from other nations, so that war has officially been declared null and void.

From what I could learn from it while in Russia a couple of years ago, the day the Red army marches off to fight some outside foe, they are going to come back home under different management. That's where a lot of the so-called popular support of a war feeling in Russia comes from. That's when all governments change hands is when the army is away trying to take care of somebody else.

Congratulations to Senator Edge for his successful escape from the Senate. He and his missus are a very amiable and charming couple and will welcome our aviators with distinction.

Yours, WILL.

Langdon to Place Own Wedding On Screen

The first wedding ceremony ever to be photographed and recorded on sound film will be that of Harry Langdon, Hal Roach comedian, and Miss Helen Walton, his fiancee.

Mr. Roach has offered Langdon the studio sound equipment for the event, with the stipulation that Harry be responsible for any damage to the delicate valve when he says the famous "I do!" Too much voice volume has been known to completely destroy this sensitive apparatus and Mr. Roach is taking no chances in Harry's present state of ecstacy.

The wedding takes place tonight in Beverly Hills.

The sound picture of the wedding is for future reference, according to Langdon, so that it can be produced instantly by either party in the event one of them needs to be reminded of certain promises made on a certain occasion.

Revising Rudyard

IF YOU can keep your head when all about you
Are losing theirs—as Mr. Kipling says—
In case of fire, don't let panic rout you,
But help by-sitters to the exit ways—

If you can walk with Kings (of Broad or Wall Street),
Nor boast of your acquaintance overmuch,
If you can mix with actors when they're dead beat
And never grumble if they make a touch—

If you can fight when there's no hope of winning,
If you can praise when there's no cause for blame,
If you can smile when people say you're sinning,
And treat these false friends nicely just the same—

If you can walk with crowds and keep your virtue,
If you can do all Kipling wrote in "If"—
Be sure that nothing on God's earth can hurt you—
For you will be a perfect Great Big Stiff.

IN MELANCHOLYWOOD

AMONG little things that make big paragraphs like these is the feud now raging in the illustrious Barrymore family. Ethel, who one of Equity's guiding stars on and off the stage is furious with brother Lionel because of his indifference to the actor's organization, which is tiffing with the movie powers. That the quarrel is really serious was exemplified recently when Equity announced in Hollywood papers: "We are ashamed of you, Lionel Barrymore; it is the first time in the history of the theater that your brothers and sisters have been forced to blush because of the thoughtlessness of any member of their royal family!"

In fewer words, All Is Not Quiet On The Western Front.

BACK STAGE

Fred Allen would have you believe he overheard this conversation backstage:

First chorus girl: "You should always be prepared for emergencies. You never can tell when accidents will happen. Supposin' I was to swallow a large bottle of carbolic acid right now, what yould you tell them to give me?"

Second c. g.: "The last rites!"

NOT GODIVA?

SHE is one of Broadway's better known tough guys, the sort of whom they say: "She's a nice girl—but people are beginning to talk." At an apartment party the other three o'clock in the yawning the crowd discussed the type of costumes they were going to wear at a ball when the sassy sheba shrieked: "I've doped out a swell disguise for myself. Nobody will recognize me. I'm going as a lady!"

SCOOPING THE LOOP

Charles B. Dillingham is the only producer who shuns personal publicity. It is tougher to get an interview or photo of this dignitary of the theater than it is to keep Morris Gest from crying. Dillingham's credo regarding exploitation is: "Give it to the actors." Which recalls the time he was a Chicago reporter, but aspiring to be a press agent.

When Charles Frohman visited Chi, Dillingham's editor instructed him to get photos and an interview, but Frohman, who was also modest and never permitted the papers to "annoy" him, refused to help Dillingham click on the assignment. The desperate reporter proceeded to the old Haymarket and purchased some grotesque photos of bearded horrible personalities. He turned them in to his editor, who made a layout and captioned Frohman's name to them.

Dillingham also prepared a faked interview. The furious Frohman threatened a libel suit, but later appreciated the joke and hired Dillingham as chief exploiter. The association later elevated Dillingham to business associate and today he is one of the better play sponsors. He also is one of the profession's few gentlemen.

REPORTORIAL INACCURACY

WHEN Charles Forepaugh died in Philly the other day, the New York Times stated that the Forepaugh Circus ceased to exist when it was amalgamated with Ringling Brothers. The old Adam Forepaugh Circus ceased to exist when it was purchased by James A. Bailey, W. W. Cole and the Sells Brothers, and became thereafter the Sells Brothers and Forepaugh Circus.

The New York World in an editorial July 12 asserted that Charles Forepaugh, brother of Adam, was the first man to put his head in a lion's mouth. Poppycock!

What about old Van Ambergh?

NEWSPAPERMAN STUFF

Among other fascinating newspapermen feuds is the one concerning an efficiency expert and an editor. The men disliked each other for a decade, and not long ago when the editor was transferred to the same paper housing the efficiency man the burn-ups began. The aggravated editor was later elevated to greater power, and the first thing he did was to switch his antagonist to a far west sheet. Before his departure a dinner was hurled in the efficiency expert's honor, the editor being the only member of the paper not attending. The entire crew contributed towards a gift, however.

When the speeches ended and the chairman presented the guest with a handsome watch, he remarked: "The case of this watch comes from the staff—and Mr. Watson gives you the works!"

THE REASON

JAKE FALSTAFF, who is substituting as columnist for F. P. A. on the World, says he expected a cold disregard from New York. Instead, he says, he found it the most amazingly hospitable city in his acquaintance. He adds that the overwhelming cordiality cannot all be because of his perfect table manners, his Harvard accent and his roughish dimple.

No, Jake, they love you in New York because you proved a column could be written without separating the sentences with three dots!

MERCILESS FACT

And Jack Osterman says: The fellow who is convinced that men descended from monkeys is the guy who sweeps up the peanut shells after a ball game.

John Loder Again Under Stein's Direction

John Loder's selection for one of the important roles in "Her Private Affairs," now in production at the Pathe Studio, is not his first association with Paul Stein, who is directing the picture. The young English actor was a featured player with UFA for three years, while Stein was one of the foremost directors of the German organization, and Loder worked in one picture under the other's direction.

"Her Private Affairs," which was adapted for the screen by Francis Edwards Faragoh from Leo Urvantsov's Austrian play, "The Right to Kill," features Ann Harding, former Broadway star. In addition to Loder well-known stage and screen players appearing with Miss Harding include Harry Bannister, recently featured in "Strange Interlude," William Orlamond, Kay Hammond, Lawford Davidson, Frank Reicher, Arthur Hoyt and Elmer Ballard.

Steepest Street Open to Traffic

GREENSBURG, Pa., July 27.—The steepest paved street in Greensburg was opened to traffic yesterday when Foster street, between Sidney and Westminster avenues, was put in use.

The street has a 25 per cent grade. Only one other street, that in Altoona with a 27 per cent grade, is steeper than the local stretch.

Marion Davies Is Talk and Song Star Now

Now that the debut of Marion Davies in talking pictures—one of the most eagerly anticipated events of the cinema year—is soon to be accomplished with the showing of the cosmopolitan comedy drama, "Marianne," a deal of interest has been shown as to details of the production.

In the first place there are two versions of this story, which is of the world war, and laid in France. The first version, already completed, is silent. The second version, now being finished at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio, is talking, and gives the leading comedienne of the films full opportunity to show her delightful singing voice, as well as reveal her ability at French.

Miss Davies' supporting cast includes Lawrence Gray, George Baxter, Cliff Edwards, Benny Rubin, Duke Martin, Emil Chautard, Robert Edeson and Charles Crockett.

The photoplay has a theme song, also titled "Marianne." Another musical feature is the love ballad, "Just You—Just Me." Miss Davies and Gray sing together and separately.

Footlights

Alice White and Charles Delaney mix show life and romance in "Broadway Babies," music and talk picture, which opens today in the Enright.

ACTORS BATTLE EQUITY AGENTS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., July 27.—(AP.)—The first physical encounter between Hollywood motion picture actors and alleged agents of the Actors' Equity Association officials, who have made several moves in an attempt to establish the so-called closed shop in film studios, took place at United Artists' studio late yesterday.

The encounter was between three men claiming to be agents of Equity and a group of ex-service men employed in a picture at the studio. Charles Adams, official of a motion picture employment bureau, reported that as the group left the studio they were booed and hissed by the Equity trio, who were in an automobile in front of the studio. He said that the three also were operating a motion picture camera, taking pictures of the men.

Two of the alleged Equity demonstrators were dragged from the car by the ex-service men. The third, an elderly man, was not attacked. The camera was seized, the film torn from it and destroyed. Adams, who was in the studio paying off bit players as they finished their day's work, stated he obtained the names of the three men and that they admitted they were members of Equity.

A denial that the demonstration was made "by any member of our association" was made later by C. R. Miller, resident Equity agent.

SIDEWALKS OF PITTSBURGH

by HAVEY J. BOYLE

PARIS, France.

THE MONTMARTRE, famous district here, is the center of the night life of the town, and yet its glitter and dazzle, it appears to me, is of the same kidney with the dazzle and glitter of the night life of any city the world over. In short, it is a place for the butter and egg man with a large roll, who wants to make whoopee in a superficial fashion. The trimmings are a little different, the pitch is in a higher key, but at bottom it is the place where smart people deplete the bankrolls of the fish. The Montmartre, of course, is the Broadway of Paris, the bright light district, but the same tricks are on display as are employed any place where the "smart money" nightly get spruced up to take the country bumpkin for a sleigh ride. The boys and girls of the celebrated Montmartre may be more sophisticated than their cousins in other parts of the world, but analyzed, they're the old rackets in new and more daring dress and the wise traveler observes cautiously and walks along.

The Folies Bergere is something different and consequently diverting. The price compares fairly with the price of similar extravaganzas in our own home town. You get a good seat for four bucks of American money or 100 francs over here.

A man helped me out of a taxicab and pointed to a staircase, up which I was to walk for my seat. It seemed I must have forgotten something, for he followed me quite a few steps and said: "Teep, teep." Having been asked for a gratuity, a misnomer, by the way, under the circumstances, I asked him what he considered a fair price for showing me the staircase, explaining meanwhile in my best English which he did not understand, that I only wanted to walk up the staircase and had no notion of buying it.

NOW, MIND YOU—I ONLY WANT TO WALK UP!

Once up the stairway, a female usher showed me to my seat. As I went to take my seat she detained me ever so gently and said: "Teep, teep," and no gallant gentleman could turn down such a request.

DO not construe this as a complaint. After all, a franc paves the way usually and a franc is less than a nickel, which is acceptable and still not very important. I am recording it simply to show the custom here to those who have not read or heard about it.

* * *

When you buy your ticket for the Folies you go through a bit of a ceremony. French ticket sellers are more polite and considerate than the American kind. I was shown a map or a seating arrangement of the auditorium and shown what seats were sold, what seats were left, and what seats available were the most desirable. This was all done in spite of other customers who were waiting to be served.

THIS IS A VERY GOOD SEAT!
TEH ?

WHAT everyone likes about the place is the bizarre way of doing things. In one of the sketches at the Folies, for example, they produced a tank of water, over which were platforms, while the curtain indicated the place was a restaurant. A man and woman attired in evening clothes, ordered a dinner, were lowered then into the water, and a garcon, dressed in conventional waiter attire, marched on with the food, down the steps into the water, solemnly loaded with a tray of food.

Most of the sketches were spectacular affairs, showing battlefield scenes, and of course, always showing something about the glories of Napoleon, the military genius whose impress on the town is noted wherever you turn. For a man who conceived the idea of human cannon fodder in a big way, the humble Corsican certainly made a hit in this town. You can't walk a block without some reminder, beautiful or grim, of the great artillerist.

Four delightful days were spent on the rifle and pistol range and each troop fought for the loving cup prizes. Machine Gun Company, Capt. # ROOKIE BLAMED FOR SINKING

PORTSMOUTH, England, July 27.—(AP.)—Blame for the loss of the British submarine H-47 with 23 lives after a collision in the Irish Sea on July 9 was placed on the shoulders of Lieut. C. S. G. Keen, royal naval reserve. He was acting navigation officer of the submarine L-12 when that vessel rammed the H-47 squarely amidshps.

A general court martial sentenced him to be severely reprimanded and dismissed from his ship. Keen, who was found guilty of two charges involving negligently hazarding the L-12 and causing the collision with the H-47, had denied his responsibility.

When the court returned its guilty verdict, Keen pleaded in mitigation of punishment that he was "under training, carrying out duties strange to him, and that he was not born and bred to that type of work."

O'Loughlin, of Beaver County, led raiding posses into the district yesterday.

The posses arrested Jake Eckert in Ohio, across the Beaver County line, after they reported finding a barrel of liquor buried in the ground behind the hog pen, and 30 gallons of moonshine hidden in gunnysacks in the woods.

IS SUNBURN A DANGER or BENEFIT

In next Sunday's American Weekly you will find an intensely interesting article that explains why the violet rays of the sun give some people the "blues" and stimulate others—why some of us tan and others just blister—and why too much exposure can kill. Whether you are going to the seashore or mountains on your vacation, there is a wealth of advice for you in this authoritative discussion.

WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS, the County desires to construct a new bridge, with its approaches and appurtenances, from Island avenue, near the O'Donovan Bridge, in the Borough of McKees Rocks, and extending through the Township of Stowe and across the Ohio River to the City of Pittsburgh and over streets and private properties and rights of way, in the City of Pittsburgh, to California avenue at Termon avenue.

AN ORDINANCE — Authorizing the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works, for and on behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, to execute an agreement with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the reconstruction of a certain bridge on Bridge street, leading from East Ohio street to Herrs Island.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same. That the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works, for and on behalf of the City of Pittsburgh, are hereby authorized to execute and deliver an agreement with the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for the reconstruction and alteration of certain portions of a bridge over Bridge Street, leading from East Ohio street to Herrs Island, said agreement to be in the following language:

AGREEMENT

MADE the ........ day of ...... A. D. 1929, by and between the CITY OF PITTSBURGH, acting in this behalf by the Mayor and the Director of the Department of Public Works, hereinafter called "City," and THE PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD COMPANY, a corporation under the laws of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, hereinafter called "Railroad," WITNESSETH:

WHEREAS—On November 20, 1902, an ordinance was adopted by the Council of the City of Allegheny authorizing an agreement with the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company and The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, its lessee, granting the consent of the City and authorizing the Railroad Company to change the elevation of Bridge street crossing Herrs Island from the western terminus of the Thirtieth Street Bridge at the line of the Allegheny River to the eastern line of Ohio street in said City; and

WHEREAS—The City of Allegheny was annexed to and became a part of the City of Pittsburgh on the first Monday of January, 1907, and all rights that were vested in the City of Allegheny by virtue of the ordinance and agreement hereinbefore recited, became vested in the City of Pittsburgh; and

WHEREAS—The Thirtieth Street Bridge was abandoned as a bridge and has been replaced by a new bridge on the line of Thirty-first Street; and

WHEREAS—In order to continue to furnish access to Herrs Island and the industries located thereon, it is necessary to maintain the existing bridge on the line of Bridge Street; and

WHEREAS—Certain of the bridge spans heretofore constructed by the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company and its lessee. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company, have become dilapidated and unsafe and also obsolete in design and structure, and it is the desire of the parties to this agreement that the said spans shall be reconstructed; and

WHEREAS—The parties to this agreement have heretofore had a dispute as to the maintenance of a certain portion of said bridge and structure, to-wit, that portion known as the back channel span, which channel is hereby defined to be that portion of the river between Herrs Island and North Side of the City of Pittsburgh, formerly the City of Allegheny;

NOW, THEREFORE, THIS AGREEMENT WITNESSETH:

FIRST. That the Pennsylvania Railroad Company as successor to the Western Pennsylvania Railroad Company, shall at its own cost and expense alter and reconstruct certain portions or spans of said bridge so that the roadway of the reconstructed bridge shall conform to the following elevation, to-wit:

Beginning at the easterly or Herrs Island end of the bridge span over the Back Channel of the Allegheny River at the existing elevation of 55.7 feet precise datum of the City of Pittsburgh; thence proceeding westwardly on an ascending grade of 1.09 per cent across the Back Channel of the Allegheny River a distance of 292.1 feet, thence continuing westwardly ascending on a 4.89 per cent grade 22.5 feet; thence continuing westwardly ascending on a 4.75 per cent grade 61.25 feet to an existing curb elevation of 62.85 feet; thence continuing westwardly on an existing ascending grade of 0.1 per cent a distance of 60 feet more or less to the existing curb elevation of East Ohio Street which elevation is 62.91 feet precise datum of the City of Pittsburgh; and according to plans that have been prepared by the Chief Engineer of said Railroad and have been approved by the Director of the Department of Public Works and are known and identified as "O H Bridge No. 75.46—Thirtieth street—Herrs Island Stock Yards—P. R. R. No. 80714, Sheets 1 and 2," a copy of said plan being on file in the office of the Director of the Department of Public Works of the City.

SECOND. The alterations to the outlet from said bridge to River avenue shall be made by the Railroad to conform to the following grades:

Beginning at a point distant southwardly from Bridge street 350 feet; thence proceeding northwardly on an existing ascending grade of 7.5 per cent a distance of 319 feet to an existing elevation of 57.24 feet precise datum of the City of Pittsburgh; thence continuing northwardly ascending on a grade of 9 per cent to meet the grade of Bridge street as hereinbefore provided.

THIRD. As and when it shall be determined whether or not The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is liable for the maintenance of the back channel span, which liability is now under litigation in the Court of Common Pleas of Allegheny County, it is agreed that if the said Railroad Company is not liable for the maintenance of the existing span, then the City shall pay to the Railroad the sum of Nine Hundred ($900.00) Dollars as its contribution to the cost of elevating said span to the new grade of Bridge street as provided in the first paragraph of this agreement. If, on the contrary, it shall be determined in said litigation that the Railroad is liable for the maintenance of said span, then, and in that event, it shall have no claim against the City for the cost of elevation of the same as hereinbefore provided.

FOURTH. The Railroad agrees to maintain all of said bridge structure except the back channel span subject to the third paragraph hereof; the liability for maintenance of the back channel span shall be imposed on either the City or the Railroad as may be determined by said litigation.

FIFTH. # BUGS BAER Says

RUMBLE SEATERS, ATTENTION.

As recording secretary and financial advisor to the rumble-seaters of America and points haphazard, we wish to call attention to the weekly meeting next year.

There have been complaints about the actions of rumble-seaters while going through the high rent districts of Metropolitan detour.

"Bugs" Baer

Our finances are in very good shape. There is no money in the treasury at present. We are in that condition where even a dime would be a present.

Applicants for non-resident memberships in the rumble-seaters have been received from foreign lands. We were forced to turn down three Alsatian bicycle champions.

But that is not the question before the committee on annoying entertainment.

Rumble seaters, we do not accuse you of imbibing too freely in bath-tub gin because we know that they're making that stuff in toolchests now. The flavor of monkey wrench has taken the place of juniper berries.

But there is something about a rumble-seat that makes couples neck and neck.

Watch a couple in the front seat of a roadster, he is driving and is as dignified as a ghost in a castle. She is so lonely that she has to put both her own arms around her own waist.

They are about as sociable as the two lions in front of the Fifth Avenue Library, and look about the same.

But the birds in the rumble got diplomas from a different college. We don't know what there is about a rumble-seat, but you ain't in there a second before you put you arms around the girls waist.

We admit that the folks in the rumble ain't seeing much scenery, but when you have your arm around a pretty girl's waist, who wants to read furniture catalogues or admire Whistler paints?

And the girl never gets angry. Try the same thing on the parlor sofa and she will knock you for a parachute jump.

No sir, the girl never gets angry. She puts her arm around your neck and you go into a huddle without the other 10 men.

Whis is this? You can go to Europe on the Leviathan. Every day you can loll back alongside of a girl in a deck hair and she will not give you any more attention than the Statue of Liberty gives to Ohio.

You can take your best girl to a theater and when John Gilbert flashes on the screen you might as well be Lon Chaney.

But the minute you perch alongside your girl in a rumble-seat then conventions are thrown to the dog-catcher.

You might think the girl would say. "Oh, Oscar, wait until it gets dark." But she doesn't.

We cannot explain it. We remember an incident which illustrates the romantic influence of the rumble. We had been arrested for using profanity without a chauffeur's license. The cop sat in the rumble and we leaned over and kissed him. He reciprocated our affections with a blackjack.

Soviet Government of Russia Disturbs Quiet of The World by Threatening Peace of the Pacific

On the face of the facts that have thus far come out of the Far East concerning the dispute over the Chinese Eastern Railway, which taps the rich Province of Manchuria, the Soviet Government of Russia appears to be acting the part of a big bully in its dealings with the Nationalist Government of China.

And the worst of it is, that the big bully in this case seems bent upon disturbing the peace of the world by threatening the peace of the Pacific.

China's side of the Manchurian dispute has been laid before the world in a manifesto from the Nanking Government that rings with charges which Russia has yet to refute.

China charges that Russia broke the agreement of 1924, by the terms of which Russia relinquished political control of the Chinese Eastern Railway, engaged to operate that railroad as a purely commercial enterprise, and exchanged with China a solemn pledge that the two countries would not "engage in propaganda against the political and social systems of either."

In proof of this charge, China recites the discovery in Harbin of abundant proof of secret plotting by Russian agents to destroy the unification of China and to organize a corps of assassins to operate in Nanking, Manchuria, and other important centers.

China declares that this was the grave provocation that prompted the Manchurian authorities in their own defense to arrest the communists guilty of this conspiracy and return them to Russia.

Thereupon Russia sent an ultimatum to China that demanded compliance with its every condition within three days. Within the time limit China replied with a conciliatory note inviting a peaceful negotiation of the dispute.

Russia's rejoinder to this reply was to break off all diplomatic and consular relations with China and order all Chinese officials out of Russia.

History appears to have been repeating itself in China's recent experience with the Soviet Government of Russia. What China charges Russia's communist agents with doing in Manchuria, the United States, Great Britain, France, Germany and Japan well know other communist agents of Russia have attempted to do in their respective countries.

France was forced to demand the recall of the Soviet ambassador from Paris.

Great Britain was compelled to break off relation with the Soviet Government because of the discovery in London of the same sort of proof of the same sort of Soviet plottings that China unearthed in Harbin.

And Germany, Japan, and the United States have more than once been compelled to deport conspirators against their own peace and safety acting in the name, and apparently on behalf, of the organized tyranny that holds all Russia in its grip today.

In the light of the proof that is piling up not only in the Far East but in other corners of the world that the Soviet Government of Russia is waging unceasing warfare against democracy everywhere, it begins to look as if the democracy of the world will finally be forced to take up this challenge and combat the tyranny of Russia.

For the Soviet Government today is no less tyrannical in its treatment of the Russian people than was the Czar's Government.

And the tyranny in Russia today is no less a tyranny because it calls itself popular government.

Under the communist government of Russia freedom of speech, freedom of the press, freedom of worship, freedom of thought, freedom of conscience, freedom to work or not to work have one and all been taken away from the Russian people.

The truth is that the communists of Russia like the prohibitionists of America are enamored of a name, indifferent to facts, and utterly contemptuous of actual conditions.

There is less popular liberty in Russia at this moment than in any other country on the face of the globe. And if the Soviet Government is permitted by the rest of the world to continue its plottings against the peace of the world, the tyranny of Russia will follow the Soviet flag.

There is no graver menace to democracy today than the yoke of tyranny which the Soviet Government has pressed down upon the people of Russia. And democracy in its own defense cannot afford much longer to be blind or deaf or dumb in the face of the threats to the peace of the Pacific that are now coming out of Moscow.

Promptness Is Welcome In Carson Street Plans

Having reached an agreement with several railroads which will be affected by the proposed extensive improvement of West Carson street, from Smithfield street to McKees Rocks, Council has directed work to begin as soon as possible. Consequently the engineering force of the Department of Public Works announces that the first operations on the big project may begin by September 1. This will be the section between Steuben street, West End, and Corliss street. Part of the $200,000 allowed by the state to the city for aid in road work this year will be applied to the cost, estimated at $222,000.

The entire improvement, which will take several years to complete and will cost about $1,000,000, will provide a wide street from Pittsburgh to the borough limits of McKees Rocks.

The promptness with which preparations are made for the physical work after an agreement was reached between the city and railroads is commendable.

Never Used Tobacco or Coffee.

It is all very well for the Greers to thus quietly follow any concept they choose. Just so they do not try to make the rest of us conform to their particular straitjacket of sanity. Because an entirely sane and cautious world would be very monotonous.

THE USES OF RADIUM

By Archibald Henderson

IN the early days of radium discovery and study, so the story goes, a scientist carried a small quantity of radium with him on a journey. Fortunately, it was a weak preparation; but in a little while the scientist was suffering from blisters and severe flesh burns. This incident immediately started the study of the effect of radium upon the tissues. Today one of the most successful instrumentalities for the treatment of that mysterious malady, cancer, is radium. It is a priceless boon to the human race.

Living tissue, when exposed to the action of radium for a sufficient length of time, is destroyed. By a fortunate chance, cancerous tissue is destroyed before normal healthy tissue. The object of the radium treatment is, by proper dosage of the rays, to kill the malignant tissue but to leave the healthy tissue unharmed. The problem of this adjustment is a difficult one, for under certain conditions the cancer tissue is stimulated rather than destroyed. Malignant growth tends to spread very deeply; and the radium may destroy the superficial parts of the growth but leave the deeper parts untouched.

Various methods are employed for obviating this difficulty. Radium, it is now generally believed, should not be given to any operable case instead of an operation. Even in the most skillful operation, some cancer cells are set free into the surrounding healthy tissues; and these cancer cells usually bring about a recurrence. Drastic operation, followed by radiation, is the best means yet discovered for preventing recurrence.

It is extremely interesting to observe the methods employed in handling radium as a curative agent. A gas given off by radium, called radon, has a radiating power similar to that of radium. This power is weak as compared with that of radium. Moreover the emanation in the case of radon lasts for only a few days as contrasted with that from radium, which goes on for thousands of years. The doctors now use tiny glass tubes of radon, barely larger than a hair in diameter. Tubules of from an eighth to a quarter of an inch are used. They are inserted into a hypodermic needle and injected into the tumor or cancerous growth. There they are allowed to remain until the emanations are exhausted. These tiny tubes are comparatively inexpensive, a few dollars apiece; whereas radium is excessively costly. The curative power of these little tubes of radon, enclosed in glass, has been proved in the case of cancer, especially in the early stages. If radium, in this or other ways, is brought to bear upon small growths, it not infrequently brings about a complete cure.

If you observe radium under a microscope, you will see that it is continually giving off scintillations. This illuminating quality of radium is now widely employed in industry. An almost infinitesimal quantity of radium, mixed in proper proportions with zinc sulphide, varnish, and some adhesive substance, gives an illuminating paint. It is used in countless ways to reveal objects in the dark—the hands and numerals on watches and clocks, and the various dials on airplanes, accustomed to fly over enemy camps at night. Millions of watches with illuminated dials are annually manufactured in the United States. During the World War, one man out of every six in the United States Army had a radiolite watch.

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELIS.

For This

FOR this world was made,
That in an hour
When every hill and glade
Was all a-flower,
A lad and lass should meet
And, meeting, find
All Earth grown strangely sweet,
Life strangely kind.

The world was made for this,
And nothing more:
That lips should smile and kiss
And eyes adore;
That mating birds should sing
Through all the land,
That clasping hand should cling
To answering hand.

The world was made for this,
And stars swung high:
That lovers might know bliss,
As you and I.

Bible Passages

On the Road to Damascus

(The Acts 9; 1-9.)

AND Saul, yet breathing out threatenings and slaughter against the disciples of the Lord, went unto the high priest.

And desired of him letters to Damascus to the synagogues, that if he found any of this way, whether they were men or women he might bring them bound into Jerusalem.

And as he journeyed, he came near Damascus: and suddenly there shined round about him a light from heaven:

And he fell to the earth, and heard a voice saying unto him, Saul, Saul, why persecutest thou me?

And he said, Who are thou, Lord? And the Lord said, I am Jesus whom thou persecutest: it is hard for thee to kick against the pricks.

And he trembling and astonished said, Lord, what wilt thou have me to do? And the Lord said unto him, Arise, and go into the City, and it shall be told thee what thou must do.

And the men which journeyed with him stood speechles, hearing a voice but seeing no man.

And Saul rose from the earth; and when his eyes were opened, he saw no man: but they led him by the hand, and brought him into Damascus.

And he was three days without sight and neither did he eat nor drink.

ON TO BABEL!

By Herbert Kaufman

THE Tower of Babel, HEADQUARTERS of blood-feuds, insularity, international distrust and diplomatic duplicity is crumbling under the blows of a TINY electric spark. Radio is WRECKING it.

As the century ends, so will the CONFUSION of tongues.

Wireless cannot use its full bag of tricks in a POLYGLOT world.

Civilization must have ONE common speech before the Seven Races may hope to unite in peace, purpose and progress.

And wireless stands ready to underwrite that contract.

Lee DeForest hardly realized that he was designing a death trap for WAR and IGNORANCE when he produced the first talking lamp.

Enlightenment and violence cannot lastingly breathe the SAME air.

PEOPLES will not resort to arms and reckless destruction when they can hourly girdle the globe with news and views, compare knowledge and exchange information, without distorting translations and interpreters.

Sinister politics and treacherous demagogy are doomed to extinction by television and the loud speaker.

As soon as all ears are privileged to gather the TRUTHS at the primary sources—and when all men may synchronously witness important HAPPENINGS and estimate distant conditions with their OWN eyes, the opportunity to mislead and deceive them into catspaw plays will pass.

Had receiving sets been as numerous throughout France, Germany and Russia in 1914 as they are NOW in the United States—IF the air could THEN have been made a clearing house of misunderstandings—if a standardized language had enabled European folk to meet in daily conference—history's supreme holocaust might have been avoided.

DISCORD rules solely through DIVISION—by setting mass against class and keeping multitudes in the blindfolds of isolation and prejudice.

The magic of radio is fast loosening these bandages and revealing that one Adamson is pretty much like ANOTHER—a reasonable, easy-going, neighborly sort of person, mainly interested in minding his own business and providing a comfortable living for the family.

Some of us know more than others, and a like proportion of shrewdness, trickery and fair faith prevails at Cape Town and Cape Horn.

The savage is full of unsuspected merits—a sound but untrained thinker with many qualities the intellectual may well emulate.

AND the white man's "medicine," on closer acquaintance becomes perfectly explicable phenomena which even a jungle tribesman may learn to command.

Marconi opened the doors of a schoolroom from which Chinaman, Zulu and Nordic—peasant, nomad and bushman—will eventually graduate with identical comprehensions.

The system is ready, the foundations are laid—time and commerce will gradually complete the structure.

Meanwhile Geneva, instead of wasting precious energy on a premature reformation of human nature, had best concentrate its attention upon practicalities—reverse its wedge and summon experts to determine what particular diction coming generations shall exclusively adopt.

THEN watch broadcasting clean up the mess that Babel started! ... ... ... ... ...

DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

LOS ANGELES, July 27.—The perpetual civic cheering here has the lustiness of a Yale-Harvard football game. Any one will slam down his desk at any time to test his lungs for anything adding a new laurel to the municipal glory. They never tire of professional barking.

To me, the Breakfast Club is a shining example of the way the city lets go in pent up enthusiasm. All celebrities are invited to the expensive clubhouse, a good drive from town. And as a rule the most prominent citizens will stir themselves out of bed to attend.

The club is exploited by a gentleman named Maurice Diamond, who, I understand, hails from Brooklyn. He pilots them through all sorts of absurd rituals and the guest of honor is blindfolded and asked to hold his hand in a symbolic platter of ham and eggs and recite some foolish fanfarole.

They sing songs with arms around each other's neck while swaying to and fro in brotherly affection. It is an incredible display of Babbitry and I cannot believe most of them do not suffer the ridiculous rigamarole with tongues in their cheeks.

There are hundreds of luncheons daily where people gather with the sole purpose of shouting the supreme municipal virtues. It is an angle of this astounding city that no one seems able to explain. It needs no such chin-chin for it expands by leaps and bounds.

Yet it becomes as natural as breathing. The opening of a new subdivision takes on all the hoopla of a New York celebration to Lindbergh. Bands play, aeroplanes radio from overhead, delegations of visiting mayors indulge in forensic fancies and people take box lunches and stay all day.

The Los Angelan does not object to kidding about such things. He knows it looks a little silly to the outsider. You can have your joke and he will sneak off and you'll find him around the corner ringing the welkin with a fresh flock of cheers.

The Black Belt is called "White Broadway." It stretches for several miles along Central avenue and seems a rapid fire succession of pool halls, restaurants, fried catfish stands, lurid movies and other institutions purely for the gaieties of the denizens.

Those accustomed to the interesting pallor of ladies down East receive quite a start when they see the warpath Indian rouge that smears so many cheeks. It suggests a house afire. Still, as someone observed, women can't go wan forever.

The barbecue flourishes along the Los Angeles roadside. Every whip stitch or so they flaunt gaudy signs that whole meats are being roasted before an open fire. And after a day in the open, almost anyone can tear a half a pig to tatters.

Along the beaches and in innumerable little garden spots, parks and such are community cooking furnaces and dining tables. It is a weekly custom in thousands of homes for the family to motor out some place, cook their meal and eat in the open. Due to weather conditions—the Chamber of Commerce speaking—this is possible throughout the entire year.

There are bathing addicts who have never missed a swim daily for years. They are burned the black of a Hindu and sometimes their hair is bleached white, creating almost a dime museum effect. Many housewives wear bathing costumes all day long, even while doing the cooking. And some of the suits wouldn't make a good gulp for a moth.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

THERE are no BAD people—
There are no GOOD people—
There are only MIXED people—
MIXED and MUDDLED people.

People are "composite."

Composite is a form of soft rock in which many varieties of earth are mingled.

There is hard gravel in composite, there are streaks of clay, and sometimes there is gold.

You can't treat composite as granite—

And it's foolish to disdain it as clay—

And even more foolish to expect that it will always bear gold—

You must just take it as you find it and make the best of it—

The hard with the soft—

The useless dirt with the shining ore.

People are that way—a mixture of all the elements of humanity.

No one is granite all through—
No one is mud all through—
No one is gold all through—
People are—EVERYTHING.
Man and beast and common muck
—AND GOD.
Strength mixed with weakness—
Courage raided with cowardice—
Purity shot through with foulness—
Tenderness tangled with cruelty.
People are composite.
You'll never be fair to men—
Or get any fairness from men—
Until you realize that.

Make up your mind that you must deal with composite when you deal with human nature.

Don't expect too much or blame too much—

Don't love too much or hate too much—

Take them as you find them and make the best of them.

AND NEVER JUDGE!

For remember that the clay which runs through them—
RUNS THROUGH YOU, TOO—
And if they're short on pay dirt—
WELL, SO ARE YOU!

"WELL," says the doctor at the club, "I'm sorry about poor old Tombs. He died of overwork, nothing else, I reckon. I was his doctor, and I spent 10 years trying to get him to quit working so hard."

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

AS a wage earner you envy the man in business.

You compare your income with his.

You believe that you would be much happier if you could take in as much money as he does over his counters.

You wonder why he finds it necessary to look so serious-minded while you with your little bit can feel so light-hearted.

But if you could carry into business the same spirit you show now you would be a failure.

Business is a serious matter that becomes more pronounced as competition increases and profits are figured on a closer basis.

You demand that you have comparative freedom of thought and little demand upon your time outside working hours.

You want without thought what others have gained by vigilance and constant thought along their lines.

If you were not so care-free and lacking in responsibilities you might have a larger income.
